JACOBS DEFIES STATE BOARD; FIGHTS TAX CUT

Commission Hints More Reductions.

On the heels of a ruling yesterday in which the state tax commission upheld the order of the Cook county board of tax appeals for a 15 per cent cut in 1931 assessments on homes and small flat buildings, the same state commission issued a statement hinting that its members and also the appeals board may prove receptive to requests of other classes of property owners that their taxes be cut 15 per cent, too.

The ruling on the assessment cut for small home owners failed, however, to settle the controversy over that order, which threatens to tie in a knot further collections of 1931 real estate taxes. Assessor J. L. Jacobs, who refused to comply with the original order of the appeals board, announced that he will also disregard the ruling of the tax commission until he receives an opinion from Attorney General Kerner that the blanket reduction is legal.

Kerner Not Consulted.

Mr. Jacobs entered a discussion of the matter before the tax commission, he pointed out, only with the proviso that the questions of law involved should be submitted to the attorney general. This was not done, Mr. Kerner said yesterday that all he knew of the controversy he had read in the newspapers. He probably will be asked for an opinion today by State's Attorney Courtney, as ex-officio attorney for the assessor.

Mr. Courtney advised Assessor Jacobs that the appeals board had no power to enter the order originally and that the tax commission has no power to order the assessor to comply with it. He added that the law neither requires nor permits the assessor to make the changes in the assessment roll that were ordered.

Hint of Other Reductions.

Since the theory behind the reduction of home owners' assessments was that this class of property was appraised on a higher scale than other real estate in the county, the first hint that these other classes of property might be in a position to ask for reductions was contained in the tax commission statement.

The statement was given out by Tax Commissioner Barnet Hodes, who is a former member of the executive committee of the Association of Real Estate Taxpayers. Officials of this organization first coined the term "tax strike."

The association lost its fight to invalidate three Cook county tax levies—and thus free its members from paying taxes for those years—after a bitter legal contest over a period of more than two years which went to the United States Supreme court for final disposal.

Tax Strike Suits Recalled.

Commissioner Hodes was also until recently a member of the law firm of Keehn, Schaeffer, Hodes & Keeley. Roy D. Keehn and Morris Schaeffer senior partners of that firm, were counsel in the Cisar case, perhaps the best known of the so-called tax strike suits.

Recently Mr. Keehn, with Frank Knox, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, has appeared as proponent of a bill now pending in the state senate which would give his clients and other objectors to 1928, 1929, and 1930 assessments, already whipped in every legal move they have attempted to date, the right to new hearings in the County court. The hearings would be held under conditions which would give the County judge substantially the power to compromise with the property owners for payment of their delinquent tax bills.

Statement of the Commission.

The suggestion that large loop and manufacturing interests, or other classes of real estate owners, might apply to the appeals board and the tax commission for cuts similar to those proposed for home owners appeared to be embodied in the wording of the commission's statement, styled a "program . . . for reestablishing confidence in the taxing machinery of Cook county."

This section of the statement follows:

"The opinion of the tax commission in the controversy between the county assessor and the board of appeals is to the effect that the board of appeals has power to make horizontal reductions in real estate assessments for 1931; however, in view of the uncertainty of the law in connection therewith and until a clarification of the law can be made, the tax commission has been assured by the board of appeals that they will confer

Board May Close City Schools Today

TEACHERS CALL FOR ACTION IN RIOTOUS SCENE

Red Agitators Join Pay Parade.

School Trustee H. Wallace Caldwell announced last night that he would ask the other members of the board of education today to agree to immediate closing of the schools.

"I feel that school teachers have been discriminated against," said Mr Caldwell. "City employés have been paid and teachers are getting no salaries. Also I think it unjust that millions in cash have been expended for the idle of the city while the teachers, in just as much distress, get nothing.

"The only alternative is to close the schools now and let every one know just how serious the situation is. I shall introduce the closing resolution and urge that it be accepted."

There were reports last night that the resolution had an excellent chance of passage.

Superintendent of Schools William J. Bogan, who is in Washington seeking funds with which to pay the school employés, has mentioned the possibility of Mr. Caldwell's motion being accepted as a reason for the intervention of the government in the Chicago situation.

Teachers Storm Offices.

Earlier in the day about 2,000 school teachers stormed the offices of the board of education in the Builders building, 228 North La Salle street, and battered down the outer door of the office of Orville J. Taylor, the board president.

Mr. Taylor, who had been about to depart for the day, was hemmed in his office by the teachers. They demanded that he answer their pleas for cash payment of salaries. He was heckled at times when he was speaking.

"Do you want us to close the schools?" he finally asked the crowd.

There were shouts of "Yes!" The teachers said they were unanimous in demanding the closing of the schools unless they were paid soon.

"Closing the schools is one of the plans the board is considering," Mr. Taylor told them. "We are trying to do our best for you. There are no funds available for salaries, but we are working night and day in an endeavor to find some method of paying you."

Teachers Besiege City Hall.

In the early part of their demonstration yesterday the teachers massed in front of the city hall. Hundreds of them thronged the office of Acting Mayor Corr on the fifth floor but found none there to listen to their demands. The acting mayor is on his way home from Hot Springs, Ark., where he went to confer with the members of the council committee on committees regarding the early choice of a mayor to succeed Anton J. Cermak.

Leaving the mayor's office, the teachers marched several times about the city hall and county building. A number of known communists were among those in the parade, according to Lieut. Make Mills, head of the police radical squad. These Reds posed as teachers, wearing placards upon which was printed "Unpaid Teacher" and carrying banners clamoring for salaries.

The radicals hastily withdrew from the demonstration when they saw they had been recognized by the police, but continued their activities on the sidelines, handing out literature of an inflammatory nature.

Reds Like the Credit.

"They gather whenever a demonstration is planned and then try to get the credit for whatever happened," said Lieut. Mills. "They love advertising and like nothing better than to have their names printed in the newspapers."

From the city hall the teachers marched south in La Salle street, east in Jackson boulevard, then north in State street to Wacker drive where they finally congregated in front of the Builders' building. They swarmed into the building and up the stairs to the board of education offices. Finding President Taylor's office door locked, some one kicked the glass in and unlocked the door.

The teachers first wanted to know if reports were true that James A. Meade, one of the leaders among the teachers, had been reprimanded for making radio speeches. Assured by

GETTING TOO WILD FOR WILD BILL

30 Hour Week Bill Is Backed by Roosevelt

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—The weight of the Roosevelt administration has been placed behind the thirty hour week labor bill and it is expected the bill, already approved by the senate, will speedily pass the house and be signed by the President.

Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced at the White House today after the cabinet meeting that she would appear before the labor committee of the house tomorrow morning to voice approval of the bill with various modifications.

Miss Perkins, with Secretary of Commerce Roper, had been assigned by President Roosevelt to make a study of the proposal, after it had passed the senate. She declined to discuss what amendments to the bill she would urge, beyond saying that they were designed to make it more workable.

Five Days, Six Hours a Day.

The bill, regarded as one of the most radical labor measures to win the administration support, provides in its present form that for an emergency period of two years no articles may be received in interstate shipment which have been manufactured or produced by labor working more than six hours in any day, or more than five days in any week.

The bill covers output of any "mine, quarry, mill, cannery, workshop, factory, or manufacturing establishment," but it exempts the producers of milk and other perishable foods and newspapers.

Penalty of $200 Fine.

Violators of the law would be punishable by a fine of not less than $200, or imprisonment for not more than three months, or both. The bill would take effect thirty days after its enactment.

Senator Hugo Black [Dem., Ala.], sponsor of the bill, after discussing it with Secretaries Perkins and Roper at the White House, declared that "it will be a very workable measure."

Three Holdup Men Take $1,155 in Laundry Office

Three robbers yesterday entered the office of the Kleen Wet Wash laundry, 1711 Milwaukee avenue. While two of the bandits guarded three men and two women employés, the third one forced Charles Waxler, manager, to give him the $992 pay roll of the concern and $163 from the cash register.

BUSINESS AGENT KILLS A MAN IN CAFE GUN BATTLE

Nicholas Razes, 42 years old, of 5512 South Racine avenue, was shot five times and killed last night in a gun battle in the Green Hut restaurant, 1201 West Garfield boulevard. He was shot by Charles McKenna, 30 years old, believed by police to be a business agent for the Tuck Pointers' union. McKenna was wounded in the left arm.

The killing followed a momentary reign of terror by McKenna in which fifteen patrons and John Razes, owner of the cafe, were intimidated. The slain man was a brother of the owner.

McKenna, evidently intoxicated, cornered John Razes at the front of the restaurant. Nicholas ran into the kitchen and got a gun. He hid at the end of the counter. McKenna ordered him out.

"Stand up or I'll shoot your brother," he warned. Nicholas refused, and McKenna fired a shot at him. The bullet struck Nicholas in the chest. Nicholas then stood up firing, and hit McKenna in the left arm. Witnesses said McKenna continued firing after Nicholas fell to the floor.

John Razes seized McKenna as the latter, his revolver empty, turned to flee. He was held for police.

U. S. MISSIONARY HELD FOR RANSOM IN MANCHURIA

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, April 12 [Wednesday].—Dr. Niels Nielson, 58, an American missionary of Minneapolis, last night was kidnaped by bandits, according to word received here today from his wife, Anne Nielson, at Siuyen, about 100 miles southeast. A ransom of $500,000 is demanded.

Nielson was medical missionary to the Danish Lutheran church of China for four years. The Japanese coöperation was promised. The kidnaping follows a series of similar cases during recent months in Manchuria, although it is the first in which an American was involved.

Canary Silent 13 Years; Beer Brings Back Song

Wabash, Ind., April 11.—[Special.]—For thirteen years George Murphy had a canary, but in all that time it did not sing a note. On the day Roosevelt was inaugurated president the bird began to sing, Murphy says, and on the day beer became legal it sang all day and far into the night.

Italy Sends 48 Planes to Fair May 24

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 11.—Gen. Italo Balbo, minister of aviation, today tentatively fixed May 24 as the date for the takeoff of the Italian air armada on a mass flight across the Atlantic ocean from Italy to Chicago. The date is the 18th anniversary of Italy's entrance into the world war. Forty-eight planes will start on the flight.

The flight, which will coincide with the opening of A Century of Progress exposition in Chicago, will be a duplication of the Italian enterprise which two years ago carried out the mass flight over the south Atlantic to Brazil.

Flight in Five Stages.

A few days ago a group of aviation officials and noncommissioned officers and several of the members of the Brazilian flight left Rome to organize bases along the route which will be followed. It is expected to make the flight in five stages over the northern route across Germany, Denmark, Iceland, Greenland, and Labrador.

The departure will be made from Orbetello, the seaplane base north of Rome. Gen. Balbo will be in command. The flight will be directed by Col. Pellegrini. The duke of Aosta, a cousin of King Victor Emmanuel, will also participate.

Lancaster Speeds Over Africa.

ORAN, Algeria, April 11.—(AP)—Capt. William M. Lancaster, British air force reserve officer, who is trying to establish a new record for the England-Cape Town flight, arrived here at 8 p. m. tonight and continued towards Gao at midnight. He seeks to better the time of four days, six hours and 55 minutes set by Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison.

Is 3.2 Beer Intoxicating? Magistrate Decides It Is

Although congress has labeled 3.2 per cent beer nonintoxicating, Edward Graff, 6904 Crescent avenue, Elmwood Park, offered himself as proof to the contrary before Magistrate Frank Aring in Oak Park yesterday. Graff was arrested Sunday morning after he had driven his car into another automobile, slightly injuring the latter car's occupant. Police told Magistrate Aring that Graff was drunk. Graff, when questioned, testified he had drunk the new beer exclusively. He was fined $15 and costs. It is believed this is the first fine imposed for intoxication in which the 3.2 brew was involved.

2 Cent Postal Rate in Cities Expected Soon

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Possibility that the postoffice department will move for a 2 cent postal rate within cities, retaining the 3 cent rate for interdistrict postage, was seen tonight after Postmaster General James A. Farley revealed that he had submitted a recommendation on the matter to President Roosevelt.

Mr. Farley also disclosed that he hoped, by increased postal revenues and a program of economy, to balance the postoffice budget, which at the present rate is running into an annual deficit of 132 million dollars.

The current receipts were estimated by Mr. Farley at 581 million dollars, compared with appropriations of 713 million dollars.

Lower Rates, Bigger Revenue.

The postmaster general said he had received opinions that if the postal rate is cut the volume of business will be so restored as to yield greatly increased revenues, and he added that some advisers felt that a flat 2 cent letter postal rate over the country would bring in enough revenue to balance the postal budget.

A decision on the matter will be made within 48 hours, Mr. Farley indicated. The proposal is to establish a 2 cent rate on letters to be delivered within the same postoffice district in which they are posted, and 3 cents on all others. The two cent rate would include suburban and rural deliveries from a city or village postoffice, it was indicated.

Postal "Examinations."

The postmaster general also disclosed a study is being made on whether the department shall continue the heretofore somewhat farcical practice of giving examinations to first and second class postmasters. It is commonly recognized that the dictates of political patronage govern almost entirely examination results.

Mr. Farley has considered restoring the system to a frankly political basis. The southern Democratic leaders are in favor of retaining the examination method, because under it the choice is made from the three men highest on the examination list.

There are 1,122 postmasters in the first class and 3,424 in the second class. The 10,486 third class postmasters take a rigid and thorough examination. All these classes are appointed by the President with the consent of the senate. The fourth class, numbering 32,480 village postmasters, is appointed by the President without examination or senate confirmation.

WORKER THROWS OUT BOMB AND AVERTS BLAST

William Ohlenkamp, 6017 North Paulina street, prevented a bombing last night in the Edgewater Dairy company plant at 5348 Ravenswood avenue, where he is employed. His act probably prevented injuries to himself and five other workers.

Ohlenkamp was at work in the rear storage room with the other men when a bomb, made of two sticks of dynamite and a fuse, was tossed into the window, about ten feet from him. He ran over to the bomb, pulled out the sputtering fuse, and threw the dynamite sticks out of the window. There was no explosion.

Sergt. R. J. Callahan of the Summerdale station began an investigation. The Edgewater Dairy is said to be a nonunion organization.

COUNCIL MEETS TOMORROW TO ELECT LEADER

He Says He'll Accept "If Pushed."

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Patrick A. Nash, Democratic party leader, is likely to be elected mayor of Chicago tomorrow by the city council in a special session. He was offered the position by a group of aldermanic leaders, and last night was debating whether to become the Century of Progress mayor to fill out the unexpired term of the late Anton J. Cermak, which runs to April, 1935.

Mr. Nash said yesterday he does not want the office, but that in the interests of party harmony he may be forced into it. Leaders in the Democratic organization seemed firm in the belief last night that he will accept. That has been their opinion for the past fortnight. Mr. Nash is to give his decision today.

Wants an Assistant.

If he does become mayor, Mr. Nash says it will have to be with a stipulation that he be given an assistant mayor to take off his shoulders such routine matters as presiding at council meetings.

A call was issued late yesterday for a special meeting of the new city council to accept the resignation of Acting Mayor Frank J. Corr and to elect a mayor from inside or outside its own membership, as empowered by recent emergency legislation at Springfield.

Chicago's financial situation and overdue pay rolls for teachers, firemen, police and other municipal employés, it was held, call for no further delay in electing a mayor clothed with full powers to sign warrants, bonds and other documents.

6 Aldermen Sign Call.

The call was signed by Aldermen John Toman [23d], John J. Grealis [44th], Mathias J. Bauler [43d], Thomas J. Terrell [29th], John F. Healy [6th], and Dorsey R. Crowe [42d].

Mr. Nash, who succeeded the late Mayor Cermak as county Democratic leader and as national committeeman, was projected to the fore for succession to the mayoralty by a message yesterday from Hot Springs, Ark. It was signed by four Democratic aldermen on the committee on committees. The telegram asked permission to present Mr. Nash's name to the city council for mayor and urged that he let himself be "drafted."

Urge Nash to Accept.

Headquarters at once buzzed with conferences in which committeemen and the big patronage officeholders urged Mr. Nash to accept. Wires were sent to the Hot Springs group telling them to hasten home. The committee will return today. With a score or more possible candidates on the list sentiment in the organization for weeks has been that factional jealousy might arise and Mr. Nash has been advanced as the main harmonizer.

He is to give his answer to the committee today. If he chooses not to accept, William H. Sexton, corporation counsel, is regarded as a possible choice, or Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk. At headquarters the belief was Mr. Nash will accept. He indicated his reaction to the Hot Springs telegram in an informal comment.

Being "Pushed Into It."

"I don't want to be mayor," he said, "but it seems that I am being pushed and shoved towards the position. It means a great load of extra work and responsibilities. I am not courting the position. But the party seems to be pushing me."

"Can you be pushed?" somebody asked.

"It all depends on who is doing the pushing and the direction in which they are pushing and the manner of the push," replied Mr. Nash.

"If the council does elect me mayor, I would have to insist on an assistant mayor, some one who would serve as the lieutenant governor does to the governor. I would insist on an assistant who would take over the routine grind, such as presiding at council meetings. Years ago some mayors did not need to preside over the council, and the custom might without any injury at all be revived of letting some other official preside. It would probably require legislation at Springfield.

Wants to Pick His Assistant.

"It is a tremendous job to take over with Chicago in the situation it finds itself. If I should be mayor I would have all the responsibilities, of course, but the hard routine grind that saps the strength of the city's executive could be delegated to an assistant. And as I would have the responsibilities, I'd have to pick the man myself.

"I have made no decision. The committee will probably be back Wednesday. A special meeting will be called Thursday and by Easter Sunday a new mayor will be in office."

The telegram from the four Democratic aldermen at Hot Springs sent at 1:30 yesterday afternoon follows:

"P. A. Nash,

"Morrison hotel.

"As aldermen and members of the Democratic party of Chicago we are vitally interested in the selection by the council of a mayor, and we believe that such selection should be made as soon as possible. It is our judgment that you should be drafted for this service, thus assuring the people of Chicago an executive who can and will successfully carry out the policies inaugurated by your late friend and co-worker, Mayor Cermak. We pledge you as mayor our unqualified and wholehearted loyalty and coöperation. We urge you to permit us to present your name to the city council. Please answer.

[Signed] "J. M. ARVEY,
"THOMAS A. DOYLE,
"THOMAS P. KEANE,
"JAMES R. QUINN."

Cite Worries of Office.

The pay demonstrations by school teachers at the city hall, it was indicated, are making Mr. Nash doubtful on the proposal to have his name submitted as harmony choice of the Democrats for mayor.

At 70 the Democratic leader is hale and hearty, but his intimates say he has expressed a distaste for taking on the worries of the office. The committeemen regard him as the one possible candidate on the list of whom none of the other leaders is afraid.

For the last fortnight and more lightning rods have been hoisted daily. One large group has boomed Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk, on the theory that he would be a harmonizing factor. Other groups have boosted Clayton F. Smith, county recorder; Ross A. Woodhull, sanitary trustee; Judge John J. Sullivan, William H. Sexton, corporation counsel, and several others as sure-fire harmonizers. All this "harmonizing" has promoted disharmony, and for a week the organization has been divided into rival groups, each claiming to possess the original and only honey pots.

Talk of Reëlecting Corr.

A week ago there was talk among the Democrats of reëlecting Acting Mayor Corr temporarily, so that he would be clothed with full powers, and of letting him serve until A Century of Progress mayor could be picked by the council.

Mr. Corr, while extolled by the Democrats as performing as ably as he can under the law, is a close political friend of Coroner Frank Walsh. The politicians have complained that since Mr. Corr took office the coroner has frozen closer than an icicle to the mayor. Headquarters has echoed with murmurs that it is almost impossible to get a word into the mayoralty ear without finding the coroner posed behind the chair. So the talk died down of reëlecting Mr. Corr.

Cloud on Signature.

The troubles over overdue pay rolls and the cloud on the acting mayor's signature led Mr. Corr to go to Hot Springs last week to urge the council committee to wind up its work of slating a reorganization of committees and hurry back to Chicago and elect a new mayor.

The visit culminated yesterday in the telegram to Mr. Nash. Acting Mayor Corr had barely left to return to Chicago before the message was over the wire and in Mr. Nash's hands, and Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], on emerging from the steam room at Hot Springs, announced that the committee would return at once to Chicago for the special meeting.

NASH IS NATIVE CHICAGOAN AND 70 YEARS OLD

Enters Politics as Friend of Roger Sullivan.

Patrick A. Nash, to whom the mayoralty has been offered by the Democratic chieftains of Chicago, is a native Chicagoan. His father, Thomas Nash, emigrated to the United States in 1850 and arrived in Chicago in 1854. He went to work for the city at once and aided in the building of the first water tunnels driven under the streets.

Thomas Nash soon became a sewer contractor. The business he founded has been carried on by his sons, John T., Richard J. and Patrick A., under the name of Nash Brothers. The father lived to the ripe age of 101, dying in 1928.

Successful in Business.

Patrick A. Nash was born in 1863 and grew up in the vicinity of Grand and Ashland avenues. He and his brothers have been successful in their conduct of the contracting business and all have grown wealthy. It is said of their firm that it has done more sewer work around Chicago than any other organization. A few years ago they carried to a successful conclusion the installation of a $2,000,000 sewer system in Detroit.

No outside interests have taken the attention of the mayor designate from the contracting business. However, he is interested in the breeding of thoroughbred horses and conducts an extensive farm near Lexington, Ky. He also races a stable, with his brother Richard as partner.

Mr. Nash has two sons, John and Thomas, both engineers and graduates of Notre Dame university. He has a daughter, Mary. Other members of the Nash household—the home is at 3234 Washington boulevard—are Mrs. Nash and Miss Ann O'Malley, daughter of the late John F. O'Malley. The two sons are connected with the Nash Brothers firm.

Friend of Roger Sullivan.

Mr. Nash became acquainted with politics in Chicago through the friendship of the late Roger Sullivan, for years state leader of the Democratic party. They lived next door to each other for many years. The only elective office Mr. Nash has held was a membership on the board of review. He was elected in 1918, but was defeated in the Coolidge landslide of 1924, although he ran 125,000 votes ahead of the Democratic national ticket.

Previously he had been a member of the board of assessors, appointed to fill a vacancy caused by the death of a member. He held that post only nine months. Otherwise he has been behind the scenes, and his friends assert he really shuns and dislikes publicity.

His friendship with the old inner circle of Democratic leaders, including Sullivan, John P. Hopkins, John F. O'Malley and George E. Brennan, all now dead, enabled him to aid many protegees to office. Among those who owed much to his influence were Mayor Cermak and the late Patrick J. Carr, county treasurer; Bailiff Al Horan of the Municipal court, Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes and County Treasurer Joseph McDonough.

Mr. Nash took over the county Democratic leadership when Cermak was elected mayor. He has been regarded as a harmonizer in the party and has attained added prominence since the death of the mayor by an assassin's bullet.

None of his friends profess to know what Mr. Nash will do with the offer of office. He will decide for himself, they declare, and he can say no as easily as yes on any proposition. They believe that if he accepts it will be only from a sense of duty.

GREIN IS SPEAKER AS BREWERS CELEBRATE REAL BEER'S RETURN

With a German band and two barrels of beer to enliven proceedings, the Chicago chapter of the Master Brewers' Association of America held a jubilation meeting at the Germania club, 168 Germania place, last night to mark the restoration of real beer. Eight brewmasters and about seventy guests attended, with Brewmaster Frank P. Vande Westelaken of the Prima brewery as toastmaster.

City Sealer Joe Grein, a malt, hops and beer accessories dealer in his own right, was speaker of the evening. Sealer Grein exhorted the brewmasters to keep their product up to standard and to see that every barrel, keg and bottle carried a full measure.

"I have inspected a number of breweries in the past few days and am happy to say that I found only two short barrels in all my inspections," Mr. Grein beamed. "In all the breweries I found bottlers culling out short bottles and smashing them. I hope the bottle smashing will go on until there are nothing but good twelve ounce beer bottles in Chicago."

The city sealer said that some beer barrels, originally of full measure, begin to shrink with long usage. To guard against using shrunken barrels, he urged the brewmasters to check the cubic contents constantly and to send shrunken barrels to the coopers for repairs. The meeting proceeded with many "prosits" and "gesundheits," and concluded on the stirring notes of "Ach du Lieber Augustin."

COMMITTEE ON COMMITTEES TO ORGANIZE HERE

Hot Springs, Ark., April 11.—[Special.]—The Chicago city council committee on committees left for home tonight without having completed its work of organizing the new council and no report will be made at the special council meeting Thursday. The work will be continued in Chicago, according to Ald. J. M. Arvey, if the five members can escape political pressure in behalf of aldermen seeking committee chairmanships and memberships.

Because the committee has not written the rules that will govern the procedure of the new council, Roberts' rules of order will be used at the special meeting. Also the council has the right to adopt at the meeting any rules that it may find necessary in dispatching the business of the session, Ald. Arvey said.

DEMOCRATS DEAL HAND IN GAME OF COALITION TODAY

Two Judicial Conventions Recess Till Saturday.

Negotiations for judicial coalition for the June 6 bench elections are to be renewed today between the Democratic and Republican organizations.

The Democratic county judicial convention and the 7th Supreme court district convention, held in the Morrison hotel, recessed until Saturday morning. Slate making on the 20 Circuit and 2 Superior judgeships was placed in the hand of a sub-group to be appointed today by Patrick A. Nash, county chairman.

Ald. John Toman [23d] offered a resolution in the county convention calling on the Democratic party to put a full ticket for Circuit and Superior court in the field and to go on record against any coalition with the Republicans.

"It's out of order," ruled Chairman Nash. "we're going to see if we can make some arrangements on coalition."

Plan Supreme Court Ticket.

Selection of a candidate for the Supreme court in the 7th district was placed with a committee composed of the party chairman of the five counties in the district. They are: George Sehring, Will county; W. A. Guertin, Kankakee county; Eugene Schwartz, Du Page county; John O'Keefe, Lake county, and Mr. Nash, Cook county. Both slate committees will report back to the two conventions on Saturday.

When the delegates to the 7th supreme district assembled, the prevailing talk was for putting a party candidate in the field against Justice Frederic R. De Young, who is to be renominated by the Republicans, who hold their two conventions today. No names were presented yesterday, but the apparent favorites were Judges Martin M. Gridley and John M. O'Connor and Francis X. Busch, former corporation counsel. There was no open discussion in the convention, but the delegates appeared opposed to including the Supreme court justiceship in any coalition agreement with the Republicans.

"Delegates from the four counties outside Cook," said Chairman Nash, "er adjournment, "are for putting up the strongest available candidate. General sentiment among the delegates seems to be that to refrain from putting up a Democratic ticket would deprive the voters of a choice at an election ordained by the state constitution."

Hold Conference Today.

The Republican county committee met at the Hotel La Salle, and adjourned until today. A group of nine Republican slate makers expects to confer with Mr. Nash and other Democratic chiefs during the morning. Mr. Nash informally remarked that the Democrats would be willing to nominate the five sitting Republican judges indorsed by the bar primaries, and give the Republicans one other place on the circuit bench, making 6 of 20 circuit court places.

The Republicans stuck to their original 50-50 proposal, but indicated a willingness to compromise on an 8 to 12 arrangement, and the indications last night were that the coalition may stand on approximately that basis.

Talk among the Democrats for some time has been that Judge Harry M. Fisher and John R. Caverly, who were not indorsed in the bar primaries, will be on the Democratic slate, while the Republicans are talking of nominating Judge George Fred Rush and David M. Brothers, who failed to get the bar indorsement.

Of the 18 circuit judges who are running for reëlection, Judges Michael Feinberg and Stanley H. Klarkowski, Republicans, who failed to get the bar primary indorsement, are in the center of a storm. Among the Republicans strong opposition is voiced against them, especially for their voting with the Democratic judges in the election of south parks commissioner.

PERHAPS THE LADY FORGOT AND USED HER POWDER PUFF

To be a successful detective Mrs. Amelia Polk, 28 years old, of 4358 West 25th place, should, in the opinion of police, try a different disguise.

Yesterday afternoon two real detectives, Forrest Benz and William Smith of the Central station, saw what appeared to be a nattily attired man standing at Madison and Market streets. Something about the ensemble caused them to investigate and they found that, although the natty attire was masculine, the wearer was feminine—Mrs. Polk.

Taken to the station, Mrs. Polk explained that she was on the trail of a man who had stolen the wife of a friend. She was sent home with the admonition that while her motive was worthy her disguise was faulty.

Aged Building of Girls' Preparatory School Burns

Simsbury, Conn., April 11.—(AP)—The Beaverbrook building of the Ethel Walker school, girls' preparatory and finishing institution, was destroyed by fire this afternoon. The building housed the administration offices, the main dining room and a dormitory where 80 of the 170 girls lived.

SALE OF LEGAL BEER BEGINS IN DRY EVANSTON

Sandwich Shop First to Defy University Ban.

Beer went on sale in Evanston last night in open defiance of the 78 year old charter of Northwestern university, prohibiting any traffic in "spirituous, vinous or fermented" beverages within four miles of the university campus.

In the face of an opinion from Corporation Counsel William Lister placing the new 3.2 per cent beer under the fermented beverage ban, the proprietor of Mealard's sandwich shop at 612 Davis street hoisted a hastily daubed beer sign in his front window at 5:30 p. m. and dared the authorities to do their worst.

The response was immediate. Within fifteen minutes the counter was lined with thirsty patrons buying bottled goods to take home while amber bottles stood beside many plates at the crowded tables. The restaurant is a half block from Evanston's city hall and four blocks from the campus.

Among the first customers was Lieut. Carl Ekman, head of the Evanston detective bureau, who laid down a dollar and was promptly handed six bottles of beer, notwithstanding he was in uniform. The lieutenant hastened back to headquarters with his contraband and from there telephoned to Mayor Charles F. Bartlett.

Cites View of Congress.

"There's been no beer sold lawfully in Evanston since 1855," the mayor remarked. "We can't have any open lawbreaking. On the other hand, congress says this brew is legal. Better call City Attorney Erwin Stolle."

The suggestion of the city attorney was to hold everything at a status quo until morning. So Lieut. Ekman stowed away his six bottles while the beer rebellion spread from the sandwich shop to eight other restaurants, whose proprietors announced "free beer with meals."

The rebels were considerably heartened when Samuel Harrison, 80 year old police magistrate, informed the mayor and the public generally that he would refuse to fine any beer merchant brought before him. The university charter provides a $25 fine for beer selling.

Oak Park Retains Ban.

Mayor Willis McFeeley and Police Chief Benjamin Barsema of Oak Park proved sterner than the Evanston authorities in dealing with the beer ban. Receiving a delegation of ten Oak Park merchants, who demanded the right to compete with merchants of Chicago and adjoining suburbs in the new trade, Mayor McFeeley declared the law would be enforced and all beer sellers arrested.

During the day Chief Barsema's men pulled one Atlas and four Pabst beer salesmen off their trucks, but released them on their statement that they had sold no beer in Oak Park. The salesmen were informed, however, that Oak Park's beer ban would apply even against transporting the beverage until the state legislature took some action towards regulation.

Warns Lake Bluff Against Beer.

The fight for 3.2 beer in Lake Bluff centered at the village hall last night with merchants and many citizens demanding the right to sell the beverage while others, headed by the Rev. Thomas R. Quayle, objected. The Rev. Mr. Quayle, head of the Lake County Law and Order league, cited the village of Highwood in the days of 1906 when, he asserted, it had "seventeen saloons, seventeen gambling houses, sixteen baudy houses, and a murder inquest every six weeks," as a warning against beer.

The clergyman argued that the village charter precluded intoxicants, and said that as an added prohibition the war time law banning liquor within five miles of the Great Lakes naval station was still in effect. Commander F. C. Huntoon of Great Lakes, however, replied that "3.2 beer, being considered not intoxicating, is now being sold at the naval station with the approval of the commandant and the secretary of war."

Village President C. A. Densmore finally decided that Lake Bluff must wait for state legislative action before deciding whether beer may be sold in the village.

Highland Park C. of C. Urges Beer.

The Highland Park Chamber of Commerce voted unanimously last night to transmit to Mayor E. B. Metzel this noon a resolution demanding permission for the sale and regulation of 3.2 beer. This resolution will be presented by a committee headed by J. Howard Moran.

In Chicago the campaign of Police Commissioner Allman to compel all beer retailers to purchase the $150 beverage license good until July 1 brought further revenue to the city treasury. City Collector Edward Kaindl announced that 110 merchants had applied for the licenses in the last two days, including thirty-three Walgreen drug stores.

The drive against unlicensed dispensers opened in the town Hall district, where proprietors of twenty-six restaurants and soft drink establishments were hailed before Municipal Judge Donald S. McKinlay. The defendants said brewers had told them a license would be unnecessary until after April 17, when the new city council is expected to draw up beer regulations. They were dismissed on their promise to procure licenses immediately.

Prince and Morganatic Wife Part

Prince Nicholas of Rumania and his morganatic wife, Jana Lucia Deletj, who have separated. It is said the prince will return to Bucharest to resume his royal rights. [Associated Press Photo.]

To Please King

BUCHAREST, Rumania, April 11.—(AP)—Prince Nicholas and his morganatic wife, Jana Lucia Deletj, have separated, it has been learned from well informed sources. The prince shortly will return to Rumania to resume all his royal rights and prerogatives.

Coincidentally the newspaper Adeverul said that Dowager Queen Marie was instrumental in bringing about a reconciliation between Prince Nicholas and his brother, King Carol.

The marriage in November, 1931, of Prince Nicholas of Rumania, second son of Queen Marie, and Mlle. Jana Lucia Deletj, a commoner, displeased his brother, King Carol. Nicholas was 28 years old at the time. The king ordered all records of the ceremony destroyed and called in the prince and his bride for a conference, but they refused to answer the summons. Later when Nicholas visited Carol the king tore up the marriage certificate in his brother's presence, only to be informed by the prince that he had photostatic copies.

LIVELY BATTLE OVER ILLINOIS BEER LICENSE

House Members Clash on Pending Bill.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Attempts to establish state control over the retail dispensaries handling the new beer throughout Illinois tonight started one of the most riotous disturbances seen in the house of representatives in recent years.

Shouting, yelling, and approaches to violence prevailed for ten minutes as the fight circled around an amendment which would have stricken out of the pending regulatory bill all reference to "a valid license" by the state department of finance as a prerequisite to the obtaining of a local license anywhere in this state.

Glad to Take Recess.

A roll call had begun, but not more than a tenth of the 152 members' names were called when both sides showed a willingness to quit and a recess was taken until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It had been agreed that the state retailers' license fee would be cut from $100 a year to $50 and as an offset the state tax per gallon would be raised from 2 to 3 cents. And the agreement said further that there would be no amendment providing for local option.

That left undisposed of the protests of the advocates of complete home rule without state interference, the complaints of those who insisted that state licenses meant possible political interference in local affairs and at least an invasion of the rights of cities, villages and townships to run their purely community affairs.

Protest Starts Quickly.

The bill was sent back to second reading without objection but the moment A. B. Lager [Dem., Carlyle] presented his amendment for the reduction of the state fees from $100 to $50 there was a protest from Frank A. McCarthy [Rep., Elgin], the most outspoken of the proponents of home rule. He insisted that the Lager motion was out of order and that the home rule amendment be considered instead.

Speaker Roe asked for an oral vote and, on the heels of two tremendous shouts, ruled that the Lager amendment was adopted. At once there were shouts of "gavel rule," "be fair," and "give us a chance," and for the first time it became obvious that to a large extent the division was on party lines.

Threatens to Eject Member.

"I move we adjourn! adjourn! adjourn!" yelled Elmer C. Wilson [Rep., Kankakee].

"Keep still," shouted Roe in reply, "or I'll have the sergeant-at-arms put you out."

"This shouldn't be gaveled through," objected McCarthy with a little more calm than had existed up to that time.

"Nothing will be gaveled through," said Roe, also with more calm.

With more exchanges of this sort, Roe granted a roll call on McCarthy's home rule amendment. But only fourteen members had voted when it became obvious that the Republicans were standing almost solidly behind McCarthy and that some of the Democrats were failing to vote.

Moves for Recess.

Under these circumstances Majority Leader Thomas P. Sinnett [Dem., Rock Island], obtained recognition and moved the recess. After a huddle or two on the Republican side, the overnight adjournment was accepted on that side of the aisle.

The clash is believed to have had a serious effect on the chances of the regulatory bill at any time in the near future. Several factors—the advocacy of the bill by Gov. Horner, the battle with Speaker Roe today, and the belief of some of the Democrats that the state should keep its hands out of what they consider strictly city affairs is considered by some observers to have destroyed any chance the bill may have had to pile up the 102 votes required for immediate effectiveness.

COMMERCE GROUP NAMED TO DRESS UP CITY FOR FAIR

The Chicago Association of Commerce yesterday appointed a committee, headed by Karl Eitel, vice president of the Bismarck hotel, to make Chicago a brighter and cleaner city for A Century of Progress exposition.

Cleaner streets, sidewalks, and alleys, improved lighting, better street signs, tidier vacant lots and the improvements or razing of obsolete loop buildings, are among the objects of the committee. The members will also seek to have policemen who are interpreters of foreign languages stationed at railroad stations during the fair.

SHAW PRAISES ROOSEVELT FOR USE OF POWER

Makes First U. S. Speech to New York Crowd.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—George Bernard Shaw, Irish author, humorist and playwright, told an audience which filled the Metropolitan Opera house tonight that it is up to the United States to provide leadership to save civilization from the ruin which previous civilizations have met. This was his first speech since coming to the United States.

He proposed that this country scrap its constitution, which he termed "archaic," and build a new constitution based on purely American needs; that it nationalize the banks and destroy the power of the financiers; and that it wipe the slate clean of the war debt.

What People Wanted.

Of the United States constitution he said:

"It was not really a constitution at all. It was not an instrument of government. It was a guarantee to a whole nation that they never could be governed at all. And that is exactly what they wanted."

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, he said, represented the necessary new type in American political life. He said President Roosevelt is "violently against the constitution."

Shaw warned that President Roosevelt at the end of his term would be as "great a disappointment as Mr. Hoover," unless he is able to govern without being handicapped by congress and the constitution."

Opera House Is Filled.

Every one of the 3,500 seats in the opera house was occupied by members and guests of the Academy of Political Science, under whose auspices Mr. Shaw spoke on the subject "The Future of Political Science in America." He received no fee for his speech, the proceeds being retained by the academy.

On the platform were Thomas W. Lamont, partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., and Jackson E. Reynolds, president of the First National bank of New York.

There was a peculiar division of sentiment on the part of the audience when Mr. Shaw declared that numbers without work meant that the capitalistic system had broken down. Continued applause came from the one dollar seats in the top gallery; silence reigned among those in the $3 and $5 seats in the orchestra and the horseshoe circle. The speaker suggested that some of his hearers belonged among the unemployed.

Mr. Shaw referred to the work of Prof. Flinders Petrie, showing that six civilizations have progressed in the past in the same manner as the present civilization and have all been swallowed up in the same climaxes "because they had no stability within themselves." The present civilization, he believed, had also reached the same climax as the previous six.

America May Save World.

At another point he said:

"Possibly America may save the human race yet and solve the great political problem which I have just stated.

"Well, now, has America the endurance to do the job.

"You don't seem very sanguine about it so far. But I am giving you a chance. I want you at any rate to know that the universal situation, as it were, is offering you a chance.

"Of course, your existing situation is not a very promising one. Your proletariat is unemployed. That means the breakdown of the capitalist system.

Calls Farmers Enslaved.

"Your farmers are enslaved, they are bankrupt and they are in armed revolt. Look at the newspaper—even the newspapers tell you that—if you read them carefully, although in all civilized countries at present newspapers exist for the purpose of concealing the truth from the public.

"But today the capital that is wanted for big enterprise is counted in billions, and the employer is utterly unable to find billions. He has, therefore, fallen helplessly into the hands of a class of men whose business it is to find billions, the financiers—they are the present masters of the situation. Your country is run by financiers. At present it is run into the ditch by the financiers, but it is run by them.

For Nationalized Banks.

"The smallest smattering of political science will tell you the first thing that you have got to do to get out of your present mess is to nationalize your banks. All the advice that they have given you for years past, ever since the war, as you know, has been wrong advice. There has been only one great man in the banking world, Montagu Norman of the Bank of England, who came forward and said a great thing about the money problem. He said, 'I don't understand it.'

"The financiers live in a world of absolute illusion. They have created something which they call the capital of the country which has no existence whatever. Every $5 they count as $100, and that means that every financier, every banker, every stock broker is 95 per cent a lunatic. And yet it is in the hands of these lunatics that you leave the whole fate of your country and you also give them amazing power which exists in all large and rich societies.

"You have tried before, ladies and gentlemen. You have tried again and again. You have tried Mr. Hoover. You found that he was no use as a President. He ceased to be a practical man. Congress would not let him be a practical man. The system wouldn't work. Everything ended in talk, talk, talk. I won't say that you kicked him out, but you certainly sent him away with extraordinary violence. And then you turned to Mr. Roosevelt."

Gentlemen of Screen.

Mr. Shaw took some cracks at Hollywood, saying:

"The real thing with which you are corrupting the world is the anarchism of Hollywood. There you put a string of heroes in front of people and all of them are anarchists, and the one answer to anything annoying or to any breach of the law or to any expression which he considers unmanly, is to give the other person a sock in the jaw. When will we see a Hollywood film in which the hero, instead of socking the gentleman on the jaw, calls a policeman?"

CONGRESS TO BE TOLD TO ABOLISH AIR MAIL, CUT OCEAN CONTRACTS

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Abolition of air mail subsidies and a drastic reduction in the annual subventions for carrying ocean mail will be recommended to congress within a few weeks by the house committee on postoffices and post roads, it was learned today.

The plan, according to Representative James M. Mead [Dem., N. Y.], committee chairman, is the result of an exhaustive investigation of postal contractual obligations now being conducted by the committee. Power to continue the inquiry during the present session was granted today.

Chairman Mead stated that a new system of air mail payments has been devised which eliminates within five years the subsidies amounting to nearly 20 millions which the government now pays to air mail contractors annually.

In addition, he said, the program to be brought out will make possible a reduction of ocean mails subsidies to $14,000,000 a year through voluntary surrender of existing contracts and the substitution of new agreements based on greatly reduced rate bases.

LONG SEES HAND OF MORGAN IN ADMINISTRATION

Bellows His Opposition to Roosevelt Program.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Huey P. Long, the Louisiana radical, bellowing on the senate floor, today furnished the voice for a congressional group that is becoming increasingly clamorous for inflation and decentralization of wealth and increasingly impatient with a "new deal" that is not handing them radical cards enough.

In vain Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas exercised his Democratic leadership to quell this rebellion within the party ranks. His charge that it was "grossly unfair" to criticize the President and his plea that "For God's sake, let's uphold the President's hand" only aroused a new outburst in which the Louisiana senator shouted anew against "the Morgan influence" in the new administration.

Smith Supplies Spark.

Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], chairman of the senate agricultural committee and at heart an enemy of the Roosevelt farm relief bill, supplied the spark which touched off the eruption of Long oratory.

With a criticism of the administration's reforestation bill and a reiteration of his dislike of certain features of the farm bill, Senator Smith declared that "those who are clothed in purple and fine linen and fare sumptuously every day cannot write an agricultural bill for me."

"This measure was written by those who fare sumptuously while preparing a farm bill," asserted Senator Long leaping to the fray with his mop of curly hair dangling into his eyes.

Refers to Bible Incident.

Referring to Mordecai Ezekiel, the agricultural department economist who figured largely in writing the farm bill, Long read from the Biblical book of Esther and in the hanging of Haman found cause to predict that "it is not Mordecai, but the people who are going to hang on this thing."

With others he said, Ezekiel was being kept on in the new administration after having contributed to the failure of the old.

"We came along here," he shouted, "with a banking bill to correct the distress that has been caused by the Federal Reserve bank board and the treasury department during the last twelve years. We came along here with the currency deflated, with the banks breaking, the purchasing power in the hands of the masses practically gone and in order to get legislation to correct this tragedy of events we have allowed the same clique to fortify themselves. We have allowed even the partners of Morgan & Co. to come in here.

"Parker Gilbert from Morgan & Co., Leffingwell, Ballatine, Eugene Meyer, every one of them are here in whatever you try to concoct. We here in Washington know that they have got this thing in hand. What is the use of hemming and hawing? We know who is running this thing.

"I want to stay on good terms with the administration, but I do not have to. I made a living cutting cord wood before I ever came here, and I can make it again if there is anybody left to burn the wood. I do not have to stand in with the administration; neither does anybody else. There are more people out of work today than the day he went into office. There are more people hungry now and more banks closed.

"Every time we hope to get something through here to correct unemployment and feed these people and inflate the currency and monetize silver and depreciate the value of the gold dollar to bring up commodity prices, all we have to do is just inquire long enough and hope long enough and we find that that bunch of disciples, the same old federal reserve outfit, the same old treasury outfit, the same old controller's outfit, the same old set with their grandparents and ancestors, have moved in here and if they advise to the contrary then nothing comes here in the form of relief for the people of the country. I am tired of it."

Calls It Sapsucker Bill.

The reforestation bill Long termed "a sapling bill" that would prove a "sapsucker bill." He demanded inflation again and redistribution of wealth and as a final shot charged that nefarious banking interests already had brought to a halt the administration banking reform measure.

Laughter from the galleries brought an admonition from Senator J. Hamilton Lewis [Dem., Ill.], party whip. The senate, he declared, was not a "moving picture assembly," but the Louisiana senator ranted on. Senator Arthur Robinson [Rep., Ind.] chimed in to denounce the economy bill for taking pensions away from the veterans and salaries from federal employés.

RICHMAN BROTHERS CLOTHES

Fine Clothes at a Price Everyone Can Afford!

For 54 years, Richman Brothers Clothes have been the world's finest modestly priced garments. This is proved by the fact that more men wear Richman Brothers suits and topcoats than any other brand in the United States.

There are reasons . . . and good reasons . . . for all this. To begin with, we don't buy Richman Brothers Clothes from other manufacturers. We make them ourselves, in our own tailoring shops. Then, instead of selling them to retailers, we sell them direct to you, thereby saving you enormous wholesale overhead expense as well as the middleman's profits.

We are also America's largest buyers of woolens, and get the cream of the crop at much lower prices than smaller makers. You, of course, get the benefit of these savings. We also save vast sums of money by buying and selling for cash . . . savings that we share with you.

From the day our raw materials enter our factory until the day the finished garment goes on your back, nobody but Richman Brothers has anything to do with them. This simple, economical way of doing business enables us to give you finer materials, better workmanship, fresher style, larger selection and guaranteed perfect fit.

Our store is filled almost to overflowing with new Spring suits and topcoats . . . all the new styles, every new color, all the most desired weaves . . . in all sizes.

Come in and take your choice of any suit or topcoat in the store . . . they're all $18.50

M'DONALD PICKS 'BRAIN TRUST' FOR U. S. PARLEY

Names 4 Leading Experts to See Roosevelt.

The President's Bid

LONDON, April 11.—(AP)—The British News Agency learned today that President Roosevelt in inviting Prime Minister MacDonald to visit Washington sent this message:

"Do come and spend a week-end with me. I am sure that in a week-end we can do more for God than has been done for a long time."

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—Announcement today of the personnel of Prime Minister MacDonald's party on his forthcoming visit to the United States indicates the immense importance attached to the mission by the British government.

No more important group of officials has ever gone abroad, and it is evident that much is expected from the meeting between the prime minister and President Roosevelt. The chief delegate after MacDonald himself is Sir Robert Vansittart, permanent undersecretary of the foreign office.

Treasury Expert in Party.

Sir Robert is the permanent chief of the foreign office, no matter what foreign secretaries come and go, and all the threads of British diplomacy throughout the world are in his hands. His job is to maintain continuity of British policy or to advise when a change seems in order for the benefit of British interests.

He knows America well, his first wife having been an American. He accompanied MacDonald to Washington in 1929 for the conference with former President Hoover preceding the London naval conference.

The next member of the party is Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, treasury expert, who has represented Britain at all financial meetings for some years. He now holds the post of chief economic adviser to the government. His specialty in the last few years has been international debts, reparations, and allied questions.

Premier's Daughter Coming.

The third member is A. E. Overton, assistant secretary of the board of trade, whose specialty is tariffs and international trade relations. The official party is completed by J. A. N. Barlow, principal private secretary of the prime minister.

MacDonald will also be accompanied by his daughter, Ishbel, who travels with him everywhere, but in a private capacity.

There will be the usual staff of clerks and typists. One other important member of the party will be Michael Wright of the publicity department of the foreign office, who will act as press liaison officer. Wright also knows America, having served at the Washington embassy.

Sir Walter Layton, editor of the Economist, leading financial weekly, and chairman of the News-Chronicle, leading London daily, who is one of Britain's best economists, will also travel to America on the Berengaria, but not as one of the prime minister's party. He is to address the New York Academy of Political Science and receive an honorary degree from Columbia university.

Japan Appoints Ishii.

TOKIO, April 12.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Viscount Kikujiro Ishii, former ambassador to Washington and one time Japanese foreign minister, today accepted the mission to talk over economic problems with the new administration in Washington.

Herriot Advances Sailing Date.

PARIS, April 11.—(AP)—The insistence of the cabinet that former Premier Herriot's mission to America must be purely informatory makes it extremely doubtful, it was said on good authority today, that any progress toward payment of the war debt can be made at present.

The former premier will sail for New York Monday on the Ile de France, two days earlier than he had planned. The sailing was advanced at the request of the government. Herriot set forward the date of his departure in order that he might have an opportunity in Washington to see Prime Minister MacDonald, whose stay in the American capital will be brief.

Herriot will take with him Jacques Bizot, technical expert, Robert Coulondre and Eric Labonne.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.] today introduced in the senate a bill for government operation of the huge war time power and nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals which to date has cost the American taxpayers some 150 million dollars. This time, instead of a Republican President in the White House ready to veto his measure, the Nebraska senator has President Roosevelt whose wishes he is carrying out. In the house a bill similar to the Norris measure was introduced by Representative John J. McSwain [Dem., S. C.].

In brief detail the Norris bill sets up a "Tennessee valley authority" with a board of directors composed of three members whose appointment shall be nonpolitical, but who must be "persons who profess a belief in the feasibility and wisdom of this act."

The board will have authority to produce fertilizers largely for experimental purposes, and to distribute and sell electric power, giving preference to states, counties, municipalities and citizens' coöperatives not operated for profit. It will have authority to build transmission lines with money either supplied by congress or secured from profits or the sale of bonds.

HULL CRITICIZES HIGH TARIFFS AS TRADE BARRIERS

Tells Economic Parley Objectives.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—The theory of the protectionists that lowering of the tariffs walls will bring in a flood of cheap products to destroy the American standard of living was branded by Secretary of State Hull today as antiquated, obsolete, and bewhiskered.

Informed at today's press conference that such fears in behalf of American labor were being expressed, Mr. Hull replied that the theory had been outworn sixty years ago.

It would be well, the secretary added, for high tariff proponents to advance their arguments upon the 13 million wage earners thrown out of their jobs as he put it, during the operation of the highest tariff in human history.

Will Use Tariff to Trade.

The administration's program for a world wide trade recovery, to be developed first in a series of conferences with representatives of leading powers and then at the world economic conference in London next June will be for a lowering of tariffs, Mr. Hull said but this does not mean, he added, that the administration contemplates injury to American industry or labor.

This country will send its surplus commodities abroad, he said, and will take in other commodities or manufactured articles which the United States does not produce.

Secretary Hull asserted that under the high tariff system it has been proved that for every dollar of trade retained in the country from three to five dollars is sent out, and the result of this has been, he declared, a shutting down of production and a final collapse of business.

Asked concerning the reports from Japan that the Japanese representative sent to discuss economic subjects with President Roosevelt will seek to take up at the same time the American attitude toward Japan's aggression in China, Secretary Hull replied that the plan of the administration was to limit the conversations to the matters coming before he world economic conference.

There would be only one exception, he asserted, and that would allow a discussion of the fundamentals of disarmaments.

SENATOR KING'S SON FALLS OR LEAPS TO DEATH

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Paul King, 38 years old, son of Senator William D. King of Utah, fell or leaped to his death tonight from a seventh floor window of the Blackstone hotel here. His body was found in an alley in the rear of the building, directly under the window of his own room.

Mr. King had been living at the hotel for about a week, having registered there after returning to Washington from a sanitarium.

Hinsdale Girl Is Burned to Death in Michigan Fire

Benton Harbor, April 11.—[Special.]—Viola Berg, 15, of Hinsdale, Ill., was suffocated to death and her two sisters, Vivian, 7, and Vera, 13, were in Mercy hospital with critical burns, as the result of a fire which nearly destroyed the farm home of Frank Arnfield near Watervliet at midnight. The girls and their mother were visiting at the Arnfield home. Supervisor John Warman, who resides nearby, rescued the girls, but the oldest died while being taken from the house.

"Ovalized Sixteenths"

LONG OVAL · OVAL · WIDE OVAL

Take a good look at those three heads . . . Science classifies them as Long Oval, Oval and Wide Oval (one of these ovals is yours) . . . but the custom in the hat industry is to make one composite oval hat-shape that embodies all three head-shapes . . . and that is the condition which "OVALIZED SIXTEENTHS" definitely overcomes.

Now, for the first time, KNOX enables you to get a hat that's made the way your head is made . . . so moulded that it doesn't have to be broken in and mauled out of shape and style.

But KNOX doesn't do things by halves . . . the next step was to size these Ovalized Hats in SIXTEENTHS . . . this means that we have tripled the range of head types and doubled the range of hat sizes! . . . so that every man can be fitted today with a KNOX HAT which, through all the processes of manufacture, from the raw material to the finished product, has been modeled, moulded, made and literally dedicated to you!!!

Plan for Economy Given to Roosevelt.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—The long awaited program for deflation of the commerce department, prime example of the extravagant bureaucracy of Washington, was laid upon President Roosevelt's desk today by Secretary Roper.

Mr. Roper proposes to slash the expenditures of the commerce department from $45,000,000 in the current year to $26,000,000 in the next fiscal year, a reduction of $19,000,000, or 42 per cent.

If the report is approved, and Secretary Roper is successful in operating his department at such a saving, it is believed he will proportionately far outdistance in economy promotion any of the other departments.

Plenty Room for Economy.

However, it has been generally recognized that there was more room for economy in the department, blown up to such magnitude by and under former President Hoover, than elsewhere in the federal government.

Mr. Roper's intention, discussed in the report, is to consolidate many activities of the department and to abandon others. The figure of $26,000,000, which he proposes spending in the 1934 fiscal year, beginning next July 1, is not only 42 per cent under the 1933 figure, but it is nearly $11,000,000 under the actual appropriations made for 1934 by the last congress. The appropriation bills carry an expenditure of $36,605,465 for the commerce department in 1934.

Will Carry Out Pledges.

Secretary Roper said today this is the first time in history of the government that an administration has suggested it is not wise or safe to use money which congress itself has appropriated, but he declared that the administration intended to carry out faithfully its campaign pledges for economy.

Although Mr. Roper declined to discuss the detailed reorganization of his department as contained in the report to the President, it was reported he proposes to establish six bureaus to take over the work heretofore done by ten, and he proposes also to take on new activities which have been scattered in other departments.

The six bureaus of the new department, it is reported, will be the bureaus of transportation, patents, census, standards, fisheries, and foreign and domestic commerce.

Takes in Commerce Commission.

The bureau of transportation will embody a supervision of the government over all forms of transportation, land, air, and water. The Roper plan contemplates merging under one subordinate to become the new assistant secretary of commerce for transportation, supervision over the interstate commerce commission, and the activities of the United States shipping board; the agriculture department's bureau of weather and public roads; the federal radio commission, the commerce department's bureaus of aeronautics, geodetic survey, lighthouses and navigation, steamboat inspection; the war department's inland waterways corporation; the naval observatory, and the national advisory committee for aeronautics.

It is planned to create three divisional chiefs to conduct the activities of this bureau, one each for land, sea, and air transportation.

Congressional Authority Needed.

In connection with the interstate commerce commission it is pointed out that the functions of that body cannot be delegated except by authority of congress. All of the other proposed consolidations can be effected by an executive order to be issued by President Roosevelt.

In the absence of detailed information concerning Secretary Roper's plans for supervision of the interstate commerce commission, it was reported that congress would be asked not to disturb the semi-judicial authority of the commission over interstate carriers but to bring it more closely in harmony with the transportation policies of the administration.

The bureau of foreign and domestic commerce which former President Hoover extended and built up to the most expensive bureau in the department is doomed to be relegated to unimportance, it was reported. Mr. Roper and Budget Director Lewis Douglas recommended the withdrawal of all the department's commercial agents in foreign countries, now costing the government $1,546,000 annually, and turn the work over to the regular consular service of the state department.

District offices scattered over the United States at a cost of $510,000 yearly are to be abandoned, if the terms of the report are carried out, and 350 of the bureau's 890 employés in Washington will be dispensed with through the elimination of the bureau's 20 commodity divisions.

GULL'S BROKEN WING ON MEND; IT MAY LIVE TO SOAR AGAIN

The aged gull injured in the Monday afternoon rain and picked up near the Illinois Central station was reported on the mend yesterday. Supt. H. J. Streibert of the Anti-Cruelty society, 155 West Grand avenue, bound the bird's wing and said that if no complications arise the gull may live to sail along the lake shore once more. The gull was rescued by Sergt. Jerry Lynch and his squad after it had been found disabled.

CHARGES RELIEF FUND GRAFTING IN COUNTY TOWN

Whealan Demands Action by State's Attorney.

Charging dishonesty in the distribution of idle relief in Wheeling township, of which Arlington Heights is the principal town, President Emmett Whealan of the county board yesterday demanded the summary discharge and prosecution of those responsible for the alleged wastage of relief money.

He sent letters containing the charges to Joseph L. Moss, director of the county bureau of public welfare, and to Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission.

Results of Investigation.

The letters declared that an investigation had shown the following facts:

1. Families have been receiving emergency relief who are not entitled to it.

2. No investigation is being made of the financial standing of families applying for relief. Many persons with jobs and driving cars are receiving relief money and provisions.

3. Only half the amount of milk paid for by the commission is being delivered to families designated.

4. Coal is being delivered to families who are not entitled to it and where no investigation has been made.

5. More than eighty families in Wheeling township have been receiving relief where persons in the families are working.

Some With Autos Get Relief.

Some of the individual cases cited by the county board's investigator showed families owning and driving two automobiles and receiving income from one or more working members, which are on the relief rolls for the maximum amount of relief provided for the most destitute of persons.

"There has clearly been collusion between the supervisor and those receiving relief, the evidence shows," said President Whealan. "It is a matter for State's Attorney Courtney to delve into immediately."

The township supervisor in charge of relief distribution until last March 2 was Charles F. Grandt, it was explained. Director Moss said that an investigation of all the relief cases has been under way since March 22 when Grandt was relieved of the dispensation of relief and the emergency relief commission took over the work directly.

Investigation Is Begun.

Mr. Moss said that no discharges would be made of relief workers, as demanded by President Whealan, until an investigation had been made by Mrs. Ima T. Hart, herself a case worker. He said that he had been hampered by a small staff in the investigation of applicants for relief in the country towns.

One case uncovered by the county board's investigator showed a man receiving full relief for a family of five. The family was living with the man's mother in what was described as "a palatial residence" in Arlington Heights and the mother was described as well to do. The man in this case owned and drove an automobile.

The investigator's report showed a long list of persons supposed to receive two quarts of milk or more daily, according to the relief records. These persons actually receive only one quart daily, the report said.

PRESBYTERIANS MAY EXPEL PEARL BUCK FOR MISSION ARTICLE

Trenton, N. J., April 11.—[Special.]—The question whether Pearl S. Buck, novelist, whose treatment of Chinese life has attracted wide attention, shall be removed as a missionary of the Presbyterian church, has been brought before the Presbyterian board of foreign missions, it was learned today.

The ground for consideration of her case is an article on foreign missions, written by Mrs. Buck for the January issue of Harper's Magazine, in which she referred to the doctrine that the "heathen" races are damned unless they hear the gospel as part of "a magic religion," and continued:

"I agree with the Chinese who feel that their people should be protected from such superstition."

CARTER HARRISON MADE CHEVALIER OF FRENCH LEGION

Carter H. Harrison, former mayor of Chicago, was made a chevalier of the French Legion of Honor at a banquet at the Parkway hotel last night, and awarded the cross of the legion.

The honors were conferred for Mr. Harrison's services as captain of the Red Cross at Toul, France, during 1917 and 1918. Rene Weiller, French consul general, decorated Mr. Harrison with the medal and presented the certificate making him a chevalier of the legion.

Present were the former mayor's wife, who has also won French merit awards; members of the Societe des Uns and the Franco-American society, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker and a number of others. The Alliance Francais also was represented.

quicker than BEER
Posed by professional models
Thousands gain 5 to 15 lbs. quick with new double tonic. Richest importea beer yeast concentratea 7 times and combined with iron

FOR years doctors prescribed beer to put flesh on skinny, rundown men and women. But now, thanks to a new scientific discovery, you can get even better results—put on firmer, healthier flesh than with beer—and in a far shorter time.

Not only are thousands quickly gaining beauty-bringing pounds—but other benefits, too. Blemished skin becomes radiantly clear. Constipation, poor appetite, lack of pep, vanish.

2 greatest body-builders in 1

This amazing new product, Ironized Yeast, is made from specially cultured, imported beer yeast—the richest yeast known—which by a new process is concentrated 7 times—made 7 times more powerful.

But that is not all! This marvelous, health-building yeast is then ironized with 3 special kinds of iron which strengthen the blood, add pep.

Day after day, as you take Ironized Yeast, watch flat chest develop, skinny limbs round out attractively, complexion clear—you're an entirely new person.

Skinniness dangerous!

Authorities warn that skinny, anemic, nervous people are far more liable to serious infections and fatal wasting diseases than the strong, well-built person. So begin at once to get the rich blood and healthy flesh you need. Do it before it is too late!

Results guaranteed

No matter how skinny and weak you may be, or how long you have been that way, this marvelous new Ironized Yeast should build you up in a few short weeks as it has thousands. If you are not delighted with results of very first package, your money instantly refunded.

Only be sure you get genuine Ironized Yeast, and not some imitation that cannot give the same results. Insist on the genuine Ironized Yeast, with "IY" stamped on each little tablet.

ENROLL 150 MEN IN FOREST ARMY HERE ON 1ST DAY

Send First Contingent to Fort Sheridan Today.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Machinery for enlisting Chicago's contingent of the reforestation army was put in motion yesterday and 150 young men went through the first steps of accepting six months' government employment under direction of the forestry department.

By 5 o'clock the 150 men, half of the number designated by officials for enrollment daily here until Chicago's first quota of 4,000 is enlisted, had gone through the hastily set up reforestation army employment office at 1926 West Madison street.

There the applicants submitted forms which had been filled out earlier in the day at their district relief stations where they had been summoned by cards arriving in the morning mail. Other forms certified in the name of the department of labor were filled out, and the young men were told to report today at a certain hour at the United States Army Recruiting office, 537 South Dearborn street. About 38 men an hour will be handled at the latter office.

Men To Take Oath.

There they will take an oath in which among other things they agree "to remain in the civilian conservation corps for six months unless sooner released by proper authority," and "to obey those in authority and observe all the rules and regulations thereof." They will submit to preliminary physical examinations at the recruiting office.

The first recruits are scheduled to leave today for Fort Sheridan, where they will be trained by regular army officers under Maj. Paul C. McDonnell for a period of two weeks to harden them before they are turned over to the forestry department.

Although Charles B. Goodspeed, in the absence of Edward L. Ryerson, chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, said Sunday that 4,000 names of idle young men had already been selected from the relief rolls of the county, it was learned yesterday that the roll of idle youths is only now being compiled by social workers attached to the relief stations.

Only Unmarried Men Eligible.

By order of Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, only unmarried young men whose families already are on the relief rolls of the various communities are eligible for the reforestation army, Joseph L. Moss, head of the Cook county bureau of public welfare, explained. Thousands of young men have tried to enroll through the Illinois Free Employment offices only to be refused because they are not members of families receiving relief.

Mr. Moss and Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, returned from Washington on Monday after receiving final instructions about enrolling the forestry workers. At 4:30 o'clock that afternoon supervisors of relief stations were summoned and asked to compile lists of available young men and to notify them that they were eligible to enlist.

Fewer than 1,000 names were selected and cards mailed that night. Yesterday more names were selected and the full quota of 800 a day will be cleared by the relief authorities from now on, Mr. Moss said.

The applicant for enlistment in the reforestation army should apply to the caseworker who has been giving his family relief, Mr. Moss said yesterday.

Cheered by Their Jobs.

The young men who made their applications yesterday at the Madison street address appeared cheerful, although vague in their notions of just what they were going to do. Most of them interviewed looked on the project as a sort of lark, and viewed the fact that they will receive only $5 a month of their $30 salary themselves, the remaining $25 being paid to their family by the government, in a matter of fact way.

Pay starts with enlistment, Mr. Moss said, adding that when the recruit gets his first pay the relief allowance received by his family will be reduced proportionately.

Martin H. Bickham, director of work relief for the Cook county division of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, predicted yesterday that before the end of the month a large number of the Chicago recruits in the reforestation army would be at work in the Skokie valley on dam construction and flood control projects. Mr. Bickham was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Chicago Regional Planning association in Hotel La Salle. The association unanimously reëlected D. H. Burnham as president, Joseph K. Brittain as treasurer, and Robert Kingery as secretary.

ROOSEVELT SELECTS FIRST FIFTY CAMPS FOR WORK ARMY

Washington, D. C., April 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Robert Fechner, director of his emergency conservation program, today approved sites for 50 camps—all in national forests—where the first 10,000 men of the conservation corps will be put to work.

One camp will be set up in Alabama; seven in Arkansas; four in Georgia; one in Maine; three in New Hampshire; six in North Carolina; one in Oklahoma; five in Pennsylvania; one in South Carolina; five in Tennessee; one in Vermont; ten in Virginia, and five in West Virginia.

Sites for other camps, in each of which approximately 200 men will be housed, are to be chosen as rapidly as needed. Nearly 10,000 recruits today were reported to have been sent to army conditioning camps. Approximately 15,000 more are to be turned over to the army before the end of this week. The work camp sites will be used first about April 23.

REP. BANKHEAD OF ALABAMA STRICKEN ON FLOOR OF HOUSE

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.] — Representative William B. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.] was stricken with a heart attack today just as he completed a speech for the administration's farm mortgage refinancing bill.

After receiving treatment at the capitol's first aid room, Mr. Bankhead was removed to his residence here.

MURDER IS LEFT A MYSTERY BY CORONER'S JURY

An inquest into the death of Frank Interlande, 37 years old, owner of two loop beauty shops, who was found shot to death in a ditch at 155th street and Stony Island avenue on March 26, was closed yesterday with a verdict of murder by persons unknown. Lieut. Robert Seiter of the county highway police, who conducted the investigation, said after the inquest that he was convinced that the motive for the murder lay in Interlande's affair with some woman.

"I questioned 100 beauty operators who have been employed by Interlande in the last ten years," Lieut. Seiter said. "They all said that Interlande was always involved with a woman."

Gunmen Hold Up Hotel and Make Prisoner of 8

The new Boeing high speed transport plane made its debut by flying over Chicago's loop yesterday afternoon at a speed of 190 miles an hour. Sixty of these air liners, which are trim as racing planes, are being placed in service on the transcontinental, southwest, and Pacific coast routes of United Air lines, which has its headquarters here.

The new Boeing flew into Chicago from Omaha and was delivered yesterday. It will be placed in service this morning, making its first flight to New York City with a cargo of air mail. It will be piloted by Walter Addems After several such cargo flights, the transport will be used to carry its capacity of ten passengers, it was announced by P. G. Johnson, president of the air lines.

Plane Has Large Cabin.

On its first flight over the city, the new plane carried a group of reporters. From the passenger's viewpoint the plane's outstanding characteristics are the comfort of the large cabin, with the chairs spaced widely, the lack of noise and vibration from the two motors mounted on the wing and the plane's smooth flying qualities.

The Boeing is a low wing, all metal monoplane, powered by two supercharged Wasp motors of 550 horsepower each. It has retractable landing gear and in addition to ten passengers and a cargo of mail, carries two pilots, a stewardess, and air express. The plane cruises at 165 miles an hour and lands at 58 miles an hour.

Cut Flying Time 2½ Hours.

Flying time from Chicago to New York will be reduced from seven to four and one-half hours; by the new air liner time from the west coast to Chicago will be 13 hours and from Chicago to Dallas, Tex., seven hours. The plane carries sufficient gasoline for a cruising radius of 660 miles without refueling.

Another innovation was shown at the airport yesterday by Wiley Post, co-pilot on the record around the world flight. Post had installed in his Lockhead monoplane [Wasp motor] a new Sperry automatic pilot which he plans to use on another around the world flight this year. This instrument is a new version of the robot pilot developed by the Sperry Gyroscope company two years ago. It is operated by a pneumatic and hydraulic system, while the original robot pilot was electric and mechanical, according to the designer, B. G. Carlson.

Trains Bring Stars

Hundreds of the stars of the sawdust world, as well as performing elephants, horses, camels, zebras, and other animals, are carried on the long steel circus trains, which are arriving early today in the New York Central railroad yards. The cars and wagons, highly decorated in aluminum paint, bore the inscription, "Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus, world's greatest trained wild animal show."

The circus trains pulled away from Peru, Ind., at 8 o'clock last night. Unloading will take place at daylight this morning in the yards at 18th and Clark streets. About 4 hours will be required to move the animals and equipment to the Coliseum, where rehearsals get under way today.

Three Gunmen Hold Up 14 in Office Raid; Take $913

Three gunmen entered the offices of the Rotman Brothers, confectioners, at 333 South Western avenue, yesterday afternoon, and after threatening fourteen men and women, escaped with $913. Samuel Rotman, president of the company, surrendered $760 and the rest was taken from Laurence Harney, 1023 North Grove avenue, Oak Park, a candy jobber.

"I GOTTA DRAG" RACKET NIPPED BY COURTNEY

Finds 'Constabulary' Selling Courtesy Stars.

An effort to revive the "I gotta drag" racket was nipped yesterday by State's Attorney Courtney before the organization, known as the Cook County constabulary, had made much progress in the sale of stars and courtesy cards. Leroy Davidson, former chief of the county highway police, is listed as chief of staff of the new organization.

John Morgan, 35 years old, 4145 Broadway, a salesman for Davidson, was arrested by the police and turned over to Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan for questioning. The prosecutor immediately sent detectives in search of Davidson, but he was not found last evening. Morgan said he doubled in the role of chauffeur and salesman for Davidson.

Engineer Calls Police.

Morgan was arrested when he attempted to sell a star and courtesy card to George Hassett, 4278 Hazel avenue, chief engineer of the Hazelcrest hotel. Hassett had been fooled before by a similar scheme and called the police.

Morgan admitted to Coghlan that he had been sent out by Davidson to sell advertising in what the latter termed the "Annual Souvenir Business Directory" of the constabulary. The proposed book indicated that the first few pages were to be devoted to photographs of members of the county board and other political leaders. The price of the advertising, Morgan said, was $100 a page. A star and courtesy card were $10 extra.

The courtesy card was addressed to "all deputy sheriffs, constables and police officers of all departments." The card said the bearer was entitled to all courtesies as a "member in good standing." The card was decorated on the reverse side with a gold seal. Morgan also had a business card of Davidson's, which described the latter as chairman of the country townships of the Cook county Republican party and central committeeman of Cicero.

Seeks Release on Writ.

"Who are in the constabulary?" Morgan was asked.

"Davidson," he replied.

Efforts to obtain Morgan's release on a habeas corpus writ before Chief Justice John Prystalski failed when Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor informed the judge that Mr. Courtney had instructed him to resist the writ so that such rackets can be promptly broken up.

"I do not propose during my administration to allow any rackets to exist," said Prosecutor Courtney. "If the citizens and business men will cooperate with me I will drive the racketeers out of this city. These 'I gotta drag' rackets are fakes and should be stamped out as soon as they appear."

GUNMEN HOLD UP RESTAURANT.

An eight month old chati, a South American wildcat, has been added to the animals at the Lincoln Park zoo. The animal has become so tame that Floyd Young, zoo director, allows it to stay in his office during the day time. The chati, which was purchased from an Indian boy in Columbia, is the only one of its kind in the United States.

Strike of 4,000 Irish Railway Men Settled

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 12 [Wednesday]. — (AP) — The unofficial strike of about 4,000 railroad workers for higher wages was settled early today. The strike had seriously curtailed Dublin's milk supply and had a grave effect on general trade. No trains ran yesterday in any of the 26 Free State counties, although bus service was maintained.

2 MORE TRIBUNE SHIPS START ON CHICAGO VOYAGE

The motorship Chicago Tribune and the steamer Thorold, loaded with paper for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, left Port Colborne, Ont., on Lake Erie, for Chicago yesterday morning. The vessels were last sighted clear of the ice fields that have been opposite Port Colborne for the last two days. They are expected to pass Detroit this morning.

The steamer New York News, the third ship of THE TRIBUNE fleet, which left Port Colborne last Saturday with 1,319 tons of paper, was reported off Harbor Beach, Mich., yesterday afternoon. Navigators expected difficulty in passing through the Straits of Mackinac today. A strong northwest wind has piled ice from the Lake Michigan end of the straits into the car ferry lane between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace. The voyage of the pathfinding New York News is inaugurating the lake shipping season of THE TRIBUNE'S fleet.

AKRON'S STERN HARD TO LIFT, COURT IS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lakehurst, N. J., April 11.—[Special.]—Testimony was brought out at the naval court of inquiry today indicating that the airship Akron may have been in difficulty at least an hour before it crashed into the sea off Barnegat with a loss of seventy-three lives.

Disagreement as to the cause of the lurch which immediately preceded the crash developed among the three survivors, further complicating the efforts to unravel the mystery of the greatest disaster in aviation history.

Reports Earlier Trouble.

Moody Erwin, metalsmith, testified that he was at the ship's elevator controls from 11 p. m. until midnight, April 8, being relieved only a few minutes before the crash came. During his watch, he declared, the air was "very stable," but, he added, "it seemed difficult to hold the Akron's tail up."

Lieut. C. G. Calnan, officer of the day, he continued, sent for Chief Boatswain's Mate Henry Boswell, an experienced operator of the elevator controls, and ordered the latter "to see if he could find out what the difficulty was and to check up on the control wires."

Erwin, under questioning by the court, explained that the ship was "heavy to hold because its tail was heavier than its bow," adding, "I was holding the tail up with the down elevator." There appeared to be too much tension on the elevator control cables, he added, and that was why the chief boatsmain's mate was called on to investigate.

Wiley Changes His Theory.

This was regarded as significant in view of the testimony of Lieutenant Commander Herbert V. Wiley, the only surviving officer. He announced today that he no longer believed a "tremendous gust of wind" caused the lurch which preceded the breaking up of the ship. He said he had come to the conclusion that the lurch was caused by the tail of the Akron striking the water.

On this point there was disagreement between Erwin and the third survivor, Richard Deal, boatswain. Deal is a survivor of the Shenandoah disaster as well as that of the Akron. Deal and Erwin followed Commander Wiley on the stand. Both testified they did not think the lurch was caused by contact of the tail with the water. They stuck to the theory that a gust of wind hit the ship and caused two of its girders "to open up."

Sees Girders Separate.

Erwin's story was vivid. After he had been relieved from the elevator controls at midnight, he said, he went to his bunk and lay down.

"The ship rolled terribly," he declared. "Then I heard a sharp crack and saw two girders separate."

All hands were ordered forward, he continued, and as he started to make his way to the bow "a fuel tank carried away in front of me. I passed around it, and heard it hit the keel behind me. I climbed up to frame 175 and heard Paul Jendick, aviation chief machinist's mate, yell, 'Watch out for that fuel tank!'

Tail Crashes Into Sea.

"Then the tail crashed into the water. The lights went out, and that indicated to me that the ship had broken in half. I dived head first into the water, and the ship came down on top of me. I could feel the ship on my back. I turned over and pushed my feet against it, going deeper into the water, and coming up farther away."

Rear Admiral Henry V. Butler, president of the court, interrupted:

"You said the tail hit the water. How did you know?"

"I heard it," replied Erwin. "I heard the water swishing and the forward part of the ship continued falling. When that crashed it sounded just like stepping on a box of matches. I thought the afterpart was breaking up. When the tail hit the water the ship checked. When the ship checked you could feel the sensation." He struck his elbow on the arm of the chair and let his forearm drop slowly to illustrate.

Lieutenant Commander Wiley announced his change of theory about the cause of the lurch, in concluding his testimony earlier in today's session. He said:

"I base this conclusion on the following points:

"I did not feel any wind blow through the control car. The feel of the shock was different from any I had ever experienced before and, of course, having experienced a number of gusts of wind, I was puzzled.

Can't Reconcile Impressions.

"Also when I spoke of an altitude of 800 feet at about that time I said I could not place the report accurately chronologically. What I meant was I did not know when the stern hit the water and could not reconcile my impressions.

"After the rudder control broke it meant to me that the ship had broken in two.

"I waited for the shock when the stern would hit the water. It never came."

Another basis for his latest conclusion, Lieutenant Commander Wiley said, was that Deal and Erwin both had reported to him they saw the girders amidship had buckled.

EXPERIENCED FLYER WILL BE SELECTED FOR MOFFETT POST

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—Whatever successor to Rear Admiral William A. Moffett is ultimately selected, he will be an officer who has had "experience in flying personally and also has shown executive ability in administering a great and expensive aviation department," Secretary Swanson told newspapermen today. Reports published here that certain eligible officers, with actual flying experience, had been passed over in favor of recommending to President Roosevelt a list of three non-flying admirals drew a positive denial from Mr. Swanson.

The fatal trip on the Akron was Admiral Moffett's 45th trip in navy airships, records showed today. His total time in air aboard the Shenandoah, the Los Angeles and the Akron was 575 hours, his personal air log recorded.

The bodies of three of the officers aboard the Akron which have been recovered so far, those of Admiral Moffett, Commander Frank C. McCord, and Commander Fred T. Berry, will be buried with full military honors at Arlington National cemetery on Thursday, it was announced today.

MRS. ROOSEVELT HELPS INJURED MOTOR ESCORT

Yonkers, N. Y., April 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt was an hour late for a speaking engagement today because a motorcycle policeman escorting her automobile was injured in an accident and she insisted on accompanying him to a hospital.

Police Chief George Dobbs of Croton, her escort, caught the front wheel of his motorcycle in a street car track and was thrown. The President's wife remained with him in the emergency ward of St. Joseph's hospital until it was ascertained he had suffered only cuts and bruises.

TWO MEN ADRIFT ON CAKE OF ICE IN LAKE SAVED

Plane Directs Rescuers to Fishermen.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—In a drama of the north in which airplanes figured, two fishermen were rescued tonight from an ice floe on which they had been adrift for more than 24 hours in the storm and cold of Whitefish bay. Dragged from the floating ice island, almost exhausted, the two say that they could not have survived another night.

The men saved are Albert and Charles Baker, brothers, of Cedarville, Mich. Tonight they were bunked in a hut in Dollar settlement.

One Swims to Safety.

The Bakers and another fisherman, Hal Beach, were cast adrift on floes late Monday afternoon while fishing through holes in the ice three miles off shore from Iroquois point. Beach, closer to shore than the brothers, leaped into the widening gap resulting from the ice break, and swam to solid ice, 30 feet away.

Albert and Charles stood helplessly on the floe, which drifted farther and farther into the bay and out toward Lake Superior.

At dawn today Capt. Roy Maxwell, director of the Ontario forestry service of Canada, started out in a plane, piloted by G. H. R. Phillips, to search for the marooned fishermen. At 3 o'clock this afternoon he sighted the men standing on the bleak ice cake about 8 miles northwest of Gros Cap, on the Canadian side.

Plane Directs Rescue Boat.

Because his plane was equipped with pontoons, Capt. Maxwell did not dare descend on the ice. Instead he returned to Sault Ste. Marie and notified Bernard [Bud] Hammond of St. Ignace, Mich., owner of a land plane.

Hammond flew out over the lake and soon discovered the men. He dropped food and a cheering note, but feared to land because the ice appeared too soft to sustain the wheels of his ship. He started back for help, and a few miles away sighted a Sault Ste. Marie coast guard boat, containing Boatswain Earl De Lorme, and Jesse Ely, and Ross Lawrence. He pointed out the course for them to follow to reach the brothers, and an hour later the rescue resulted.

THREATEN FARM STRIKE MAY 10 IN WISCONSIN

Milk Pool Chiefs Order Products Withheld.

Appleton, Wis., April 11.—[Special.]—Convinced that neither local nor national legislation can be expected to boost the prices of dairy products this month, directors of the Wisconsin Co-operative Milk pool voted here today to serve notice on all members to withhold all farm products from market beginning May 10.

The ultimatum is to be issued on state and national officials May 1 Walter M. Singler, president of the pool, announced. He declared that the only remaining weapon for the farmers was to resume the strike which was halted last February upon pleas of Gov. A. G. Schmedeman. No vote to strike was taken, but the decision to withhold all products was unanimous.

According to Singler, the pool has been offered a loan by "an eastern banker" with which to advance the striking farmers money on products stored in bonded warehouses. He said the pool hesitated to accept the offer, however, since in case of a food shortage the government might seize the stored products.

Other Representatives Attend.

Representatives of the Upper Peninsula Milk Producers' association, the Farmers' Holiday association and the Farmers' union, claiming to control membership in 20 other states, also attended.

The Farmers' Holiday association will hold a meeting in Des Moines, Ia., May 3, and it was believed the action might be held up until May 13 to await developments.

Fred Schultheiss who was present to represent Arnold Gilbert, Wisconsin state president of the Holiday association and who also is a director of the Farmers' union, declared that "if there is any red blood left in our veins, we will make every effort to force legislation by using the economic power of our farms and withholding our products from the people. I don't favor revolution but we have the right to revolt when the government fails to function in the interests of the people."

The Holiday association also was represented by Alvin Hendricks, Manawa, state secretary. Theodore Wallenslager of Wallace, Mich., and John M. Kronsnoble, Stephenson, Mich., president, represented the upper Peninsula Producers' association.

Makes Distribution Plans.

The demands of the May action will be for cost of production plus a fair profit for farm products. The strike in February set the figure of $1.40 per hundred pounds of milk at the farm.

Singler said he had plans developed for the distribution of milk through farm and labor union sources that would insure a milk supply for the cities. He said he had two distributing plants in Appleton, two in Milwaukee and two more pledged in Milwaukee.

"We have lost all hope of farm legislation from the national government," he declared, "and the state can't handle this." He will urge the public not to bother with the state authorities during the strike he said, but will ask them to make their appeals to the national government.

Singler has just returned from Washington where the report is that he failed to get an audience with President Roosevelt to the injury of his personal feelings. "President Roosevelt is trying to aid the farmer," he said today, "but the interests which elected him won't let him."

Members of Committee.

A special committee of five was appointed to manage the strike, with a secret committee of five alternates, whose names it was announced "for obvious reasons must remain secret." Those comprising the strike committee are Paul W. Weiss, Crawford county; A. H. Christman, Waukesha county; Alvin Voight, Dodge county; C. J. Mohrbach, Price county, and B. E. Brandt, Oconto. The two representatives from the upper Peninsula pool were named auxiliary committeemen with jurisdiction in Michigan.

THREATEN FOOD STRIKE.

Recalcitrant farmers all through the northwest are preparing to join in a food strike early in May if legislation now pending in congress is unsuccessful in boosting farm prices by that time. For weeks leaders of the Farmers' union and other farm organizations, which have developed in recent months through community action to stay mortgage foreclosures or force tax reductions, have been issued challenges and circulars inciting farmers to "withhold all farm products until we obtain a price to cover the cost of production."

Dr. Arthur E. Holt, professor of rural sociology at the University of Chicago and for years a close student of agrarian movements, yesterday outlined the conditions in the northwest at the noon forum of the City club. With a group of university students, he has just completed a 2,000 mile tour in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, talking with ring leaders in the older farm organizations as well as the sporadic developments of recent months.

Best Farming Area in U. S.

"This is the area of America's best farming," Dr. Holt declared. "In it cooperative marketing has been most highly developed and the people have the least illiteracy of any area in the nation. In 1931 the income per farm had fallen to the lowest, from a position of highest in the nation in 1928 Little evidence of reckless speculation in land is seen.

"Yet everywhere we found farmer taking definite steps toward a united action in protest against existing conditions. There is developing a class consciousness among the farmers, and unless the Roosevelt farm relief measures become immediately effective, a general farm strike is certain to result."

Granted Divorce

ELEANOR BOARDMAN.

Hollywood, Cal., April 11.—[Special.]—After Eleanor Boardman, motion picture actress, had told Superior Judge Dudley Valentine details of a midnight raid she said she made on an apartment occupied by her husband, King Vidor, movie director, and the latter's script girl, Betty Hill, the judge awarded her a divorce, custody of the couple's two children, $500 a month for their support, and a division of Vidor's $1,000,000 worth of property.

The night of the raid on the apartment, Miss Boardman said her husband appeared at the door in pajamas and dressing gown. "The girl was there, too," she said.

She testified that Vidor never receives less than $60,000 for directing a motion picture, and that he directs two or three a year.

Vidor formerly was married to Florence Vidor, now Mrs. Jascha Heifetz. She won a divorce from Vidor in 1926.

"I've used these pure flakes," says

Mrs. Andrew McNally

"as long as I can remember. I'll never use any other"

MRS. McNALLY'S natural charm and utter simplicity of manner make her one of Evanston's best-loved women. From long experience as manager of a beautiful home, she has learned that mild, pure soap flakes contribute much toward making housekeeping a simpler and more pleasant task.

"It is really astonishing," declares Mrs. McNally, "the difference that pure soap can make in the beauty and appearance, even wear, of clothes! Since we've been using American Family Flakes—and that's almost as long as I can remember—we have never had an experience where colors faded or fabrics wore thin from laundering. And I think we've washed just everything in these gentle suds—from misty chiffons to heavy blankets, from delicate hand-painted china to bathroom tiles and porcelains.

"The maid tells me, incidentally, that there isn't a better soap for household cleaning. She vows she'd never get her work done if it weren't for the fact that these pure flakes make fully twice the suds—and so do the work just twice as fast.

"I know I'll never use any other flakes—as long as I still can buy good old American Family."

And neither will you—once you try these purest of flakes. Your things will take on fresh beauty, because you won't need to rub them. You'll use less soap, because Kirk's American Family Flakes makes rich double-suds. (It was created especially for the hard water of this Great Lakes region.) Even your hands will be smoother, whiter—thanks to these pure, mild flakes.

American Family—the quality unchanged—is selling at the lowest price in history. Buy it. Try it. And save as you never saved before!

WHEREVER Conoco Bronze users meet, they swell the chorus of enthusiastic praise . . . all seem as proud of Conoco's achievement as if it were their own!

Mileage claims so unbelievable as to rank with fish stories. Instant starting and lightning pick-up incidents as though these extraordinary features were enjoyed for the first time . . . so marked is the improvement.

Claims of anti-knock qualities that no one but an enthusiastic motorist could make. Power? Why, their cars could climb brick walls . . . if you believed their owners!

Back of this enthusiasm are real values, real performance in quick starting, rapid acceleration, improved anti-knock, greater mileage and power. The difference between Conoco Bronze and other "regular" gasolines is astounding . . . accomplished without increasing the price.

Conoco's new formula is based on the improved quality of the three types of gasolines used and in the careful proportioning of these in a marvelous new blend.

Conoco Bronze turns into light dry vapor at once . . . explodes powerfully at the first spark regardless of motor or weather temperature. Higher octane rating gives greater anti-knock protection.

The enthusiasm is well founded . . . you, too, should experience the thrill the first tank full gives. Try it today.

HITLER IS MADE HEAD OF PRUSSIA; RULE EXTENDED

Goering Is Chosen as State Premier.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, April 11.—Chancellor Hitler became the governor of Prussia today. His appointment by President von Hindenburg was approved by the reich's cabinet. Hitler immediately announced the appointment of his right hand man and militant Nazi, Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, as Prussian premier.

Capt. Goering, who is now in Rome, is expected to submit a list of appointees for the Prussian cabinet for the chancellor's approval upon his return.

The cabinet also approved the appointment of Gen. Franz von Epp, another Nazi, as governor of Bavaria. Gen. von Epp is now head of the Bavarian police forces. Capt. Manfred von Killinger is slated for the governorship of Saxony.

States Under Hitler's Thumb.

Thus the government began to carry out Hitler's program to "unify the nation" by placing all seventeen German states under the chancellor's thumb. All governors will be responsible only to Hitler.

These developments showed the steadily increasing power of the Nazis at the expense of their allies, the Nationalists, whose representative, Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen, tried but failed to get the Prussian premiership. The Nazis now control posts formerly held by the kings of Prussia, Bavaria and Saxony.

The government continued to sweep away old regulations today. It ruled that Germans shall be granted only reich passports. Heretofore they had been granted passports by their states.

Simplification of political life also was resumed. The majority of the German Peoples' party, founded in 1918 by the late Gustav Stresemann, dissolved as such and joined Hitler's National Socialists.

Rapprochement of Hitler with the Nationalist leader, Dr. Alfred Hugenberg, minister of economics and agriculture, was indicated today in a speech by Dr. Hugenberg stressing more clearly than ever before the necessity of a spirit of coöperation.

The Steel Helmeters, the Nationalist war veterans' organization, have been chafing at the importance the Nazi storm troops have acquired. Despite this objection, their leader, Franz Seldte, is negotiating with Hitler in an effort to amalgamate his brown shirt army with the field gray of the Steel Helmeters. This would make Hitler's victory complete.

Berlin's veteran Jewish lawyers, who, on the strength of yesterday's law modifying the restrictions against certain of their number believed they could resume practice today, were refused permission to enter the courts. The lawyers first must sign a declaration of loyalty to the government before they will be admitted.

Jewish Lawyer Slain.

CHEMNITZ, Germany, April 11.—(AP)—A prominent Jewish attorney, Dr. Weiner, who had been kidnaped from his home by men in Nazi uniforms, was found slain near a country road tonight. He had been shot through the head. Police said they suspected disguised anti-Nazis had killed him.

Poles Raid German News Stands.

GRUDZIADZ, Poland, April 11.—(AP)—A group of Polish Nationalists today invaded German street dealers' stands, seized German newspapers and burned them. The signs of some firms were demolished.

Einstein Angers Scientists.

BERLIN, April 11.—(AP)—German scientists were angry today about a letter written by Prof. Albert Einstein from Belgium to the Prussian Academy of Sciences. In this letter, dated April 5, Einstein described present day Germany as being "in a state of mass psychosis."

The physicist admitted he had asked the International League Against Anti-Semitism to fight for the ideals of a threatened civilization and against "mass psychosis" in Germany.

He denied that he had participated in any atrocity campaign against Germany in America or France, and declared he had renounced his Prussian citizenship because in Germany "there are no longer equal rights and no liberty of speech or teaching."

The academy's comment was that Einstein "never raised a finger against suspicions and defamations, as he was obliged to do as a member of the academy."

Push Law to Curb Nazis.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, April 11.—A bill designed to prevent the entry of uniformed German Nazis into Danish Slesvig was introduced in parliament tonight. Its proponents expected to rush it through all stages of passage. The bill forbids all political uniforms and increased the number of state police.

GERMAN CONSUL IN NEW YORK IS FORCED TO RESIGN BY HITLER

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Dr. Paul Schwarz, German consul in New York, announced tonight he has sent his resignation to Berlin, as requested in a cable he received today from the Hitler government.

Dr. Schwarz, who is not a Jew, issued a statement, in which he said: "Since the Hitler régime came into power, it was just a matter of time before the broad principles and ideals for which I stood and fought all my life would clash with the bigoted policies of the new régime.

"I feel honored, for I am the only German consul to be dismissed by Hitler so far as I know," Dr. Schwarz remarked as he distributed his statement. He added, however, that he was not "posing as a martyr."

The consul, a doctor of political economy and philosophy from the University of Leipzig, said he would try to find a professional position in New York, intimating he would enter journalism.

ORDERS POLICE TO CURB WINDOW BREAKING GANGS

A new outbreak of window breaking caused Police Commissioner Allman to issue special orders last night to end the vandalism. It was said that more than 100 large plate glass windows in store fronts had been broken in the loop and outlying business districts during the last four weeks.

Commissioner Allman suggested several theories, among them the possibility that the window destruction is for "labor's stimulation of business." Whenever a window is broken, the commissioner said, the police should inquire whether business rivalry, ordinary malicious mischief, "labor stimulation of business," or some other motive is to blame. He pointed out that most of the attacks occurred between midnight and 8 a. m. Special watch should be maintained during those hours, he added.

Most of the recent window breakings obviously have not been for burglary, it is said. In only a few was thievery attempted. The vandals ride around in automobiles and shoot a missile through a window from a slingshot.

BURGLARS ROB FUR SHOP.

Burglars threw a brick through the display window of the Jack Stender Fur shop, 384 East 71st street, early yesterday and escaped with two red fox furs valued at $85.

WORKS WONDERS WITH HER BORDER PRINTS

One wonders how so simple a frock could be so distinctive—it is the clever use of the border along the high surplice line and in the sleeves of the jacket. The silk print is a fine flower design and the border a "close-up." Brown, copen blue, navy predominate. Sizes 33½ to 41½.

Cost 85 Cents to Put Rheumatic Cripple Back to Work Again

Now Joyously Happy

While all his family looked on in astonishment and all his friends were amazed, one man took the pain, swelling and agony from his tortured joints in 48 hours and did it with that famous rheumatic prescription known to pharmacists as Allenru.

This powerful yet safe remedy is wonderful—its action is almost magical where uric acid and other circulating poisons cause agony and pain—the excess uric acid poison starts to leave your body in 24 hours.

3 NATIONS STUDY FRENCH PLAN TO MODIFY TREATY

Mussolini Is Guest at the German Embassy.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 11. — The diplomatic web being spun around Premier Mussolini's proposed four-power peace pact for direction of European affairs was spread out for inspection tonight. Conversations followed a dinner given at the German embassy tonight with Mussolini as the guest of honor. Other guests were Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen of Germany and Capt. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, new premier of Prussia and minister without portfolio in Chancellor Hitler's cabinet.

At a reception which followed the dinner, Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, dictator of Austria, who arrived at 5 o'clock this afternoon by air on a sudden decision to spend Easter week in Rome, also was expected to be present.

France Submits Proposals.

For tonight's diplomatic after-dinner conversations, the protagonists of Italy, Germany, and Austria had the text of the French counter proposals to the Mussolini pact as their topic. This memorandum was formally handed to Mussolini by the French ambassador, Henri de Jouvenal, this morning.

Although no comment appears in the press tonight and officials are generally silent, a distinct note of optimism prevails here that a four powered agreement with its teeth pulled and and its claws pared will be reached among the British, French, Germans, and Italians.

From the trend the diplomatic hopping about is taking, it appears certain that Mussolini has agreed to a compromise on the French and British modifications of the original pact plan. The Italian premier is said to have erased those clauses which made revision of the peace treaties the chief aim of the pact. He is also said to have given assurances that the four big powers would not seek to impose their will on the rest of Europe.

Mussolini Woos Germans.

It is now believed to be Mussolini's aim to bring the German viewpoint around to these modifications It is suggested that Dollfuss came to Rome in order to be on hand with positive assurances in case any questions regarding an anschluss [union with Germany] should arise. The Italian opposition to this is, if anything, more decided than the French.

Capt. Goering conferred with Mussolini alone for more than an hour this afternoon after lunching with Gen. Italo Balbo, minister of air.

Tomorrow both Von Papen and Capt. Goering will have separate audiences with Pope Pius. According to Vatican reports, Vo Papen has won the approval of Cardinal Eugenio Pacelli, papal secretary of state, for his proposed organization of a new Catholic party in Germany which would adhere to Hitler's Socialists, but is having more difficulty winning the pope's approval.

1 KILLED IN FIRE ABOVE THEATER; 2,200 ESCAPE

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Fire took one life and did $30,000 damage today in the old Strand Roof Garden, until recently a dance hall above the Strand theater, 1577 Broadway. Twenty-two hundred persons filed out of the theater without disorder when the manager informed them there was a fire on the floors above.

The man who died was Joseph Krause, who had been working on the roof with two companions, taking down a big advertising sign.

The fire is believed to have been caused by sparks from an acetylene torch the men were using in burning away steel studs which attached the supports of the sign to the roof.

Seized as Robber, Girl Victim Identifies Him

Philip Moreno, 30 years old, 155 West Oak street, was arrested early this morning by the Chicago avenue police as the bandit who took $460 in a robbery of the offices of the Ciba company, dealers in dye powders, at 325 West Huron street last night. He was identified by Miss Muriel Braunling, 1623 North Kildare avenue, secretary of the company, whom the robber had bound with wire.

CHINA SIGNS CONTRACT TO SPEND $2,000,000 FOR ITALIAN PLANES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 11.—The recent announcement from Rome that the Italian air ace, Mario Bernardi, had accepted an appointment as chief of the Chinese air force was followed today by the disclosure that the Chinese and Italian governments have made a deal whereby the balance of the Italian Boxer indemnity, amounting to more than $2,000,000 in gold, would be devoted to the purchase of Italian airplanes for military use in China.

The initial order of more than 20 planes is en route to China. American airplane companies heretofore have enjoyed a practical monopoly in the sale of planes to China.

Reports regarding the Chinese-Japanese fighting in north China near the Great Wall, where the Japanese are attempting to extend their occupation south from Manchuria, conflicted today. Japanese reports claimed they had captured Lengkow and other towns. This was denied by the Chinese.

WOMAN BREATHES AGAIN WITHOUT AID OF 'IRON LUNG'

Mrs. Caroline La Plante, 37 years old, of 1826 South Cuyler avenue, Berwyn, who has been kept alive in a Drinker respirator at the Frances Willard hospital since March 31, was taken out of the respirator yesterday forenoon, and last night was still out, breathing without artificial assistance.

Dr. G. D. Allen, of Berwyn, said that Mrs. La Plante had made noticeable improvement warranting temporary discontinuance of artificial respiration. She will be returned to the respirator as her condition demands, said Dr. Allen.

Mrs. La Plante is suffering from paralysis of the respiratory muscles and inflammation of the brain. The latter complication has hampered her "involuntary breathing." At times, when out of the respirator she does not breathe unless prompted to do so.

INSULTS TRADED ACROSS FLOOR OF HOUSE OF LORDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 11.—The usually serene atmosphere of the house of lords was electrified tonight when angry words were exchanged between Lord Hailsham, secretary of war, and Lord Halsbury during a discussion over the appointment of a joint committee to examine the government's proposals for home rule for India. Lord Halsbury, moving an amendment to reduce the size of the committee, assailed the government for trying "to take shelter behind the petticoats of a partial committee." He said the government's plan was "a trick."

Lord Hailsham, as government leader in the house, jumped up and said:

"These observations are offensive. I am not in the habit of trying to trick the house or any other assembly. I do not believe that this view is held by anybody except the noble lord, who seems to have brought the tradition of a low class attorney into the atmosphere of the house of lords."

Lord Halsbury's amendment was defeated and the bill was carried through all stages and passed.

HOUSE OF LORDS PASSES BILL FOR SOVIET EMBARGO

LONDON, April 11.—(AP)—On the eve of the trial in Moscow of six British electrical engineers, the house of lords today adopted a bill enabling the government to invoke an embargo against soviet imports.

The engineers, employés of the Metropolitan-Vickers company, are charged with sabotage, bribery, and espionage—acousations which on conviction carry a maximum penalty of death.

Gang Holds Up 20 in Auto Parts Concern, Takes $270

Twenty employés of the Harrison Wholesale company, auto parts concern at 851 Washington boulevard, were terrorized yesterday by three armed men who forced them to give up $270, all but $20 of which was company funds. The holdup took place on the third floor. Among those menaced by the robbers were twelve girl workers.

TWO MEN RESCUE GIRL WHEN SHE LEAPS INTO LAKE

A young woman who jumped into the lake at the foot of Jackson boulevard was rescued yesterday by two men who leaned over the bank and held out an overcoat which she grabbed. At St. Luke's hospital she identified herself as Miss Josephine Albruscato, 25 years old of 3024 Clifton avenue, but refused to talk further.

Miss Albruscato was seen at the lake bank by Stephen McNamara, 5934 South La Salle street, and another man. As they looked on, she threw down her purse, and leaped into the water. McNamara and the other man held out the latter's overcoat, which Miss Albruscato quickly seized. She was then hauled to safety.

FARMERS RETURN HERD OF COWS FORECLOSED ON

Kankakee, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Four hundred farmers today went to the farm of George Lauffer, near Grant Park, and took forcible possession of a herd of cows, which Lauffer and a constable had seized from Charles Lawson of the Mankeno neighborhood on a mortgage foreclosure proceeding.

The herd was returned to Lawson's place and nearly 100 of the farmers remained there to guard the animals, warning the sheriff and state's attorney they would not allow them to be moved. Their leaders asserted that Lauffer, who is a trader and elevator operator at Grant Park, had no legal right to the cattle.

LIVINGSTON'S RYE BREAD
WITH THE OLD-TIME FLAVOR

ASK ANY OLD-TIMER
"Which Rye Bread?"

What is beer anyway?

Why, it's the thing people have been missing when they ate rye bread.

If you really know beer, you know your rye bread, too—and the name "Livingston's" will come back to you like the tune of an old song.

Livingston's Celebrated Rye Bread is the kind they used to buy in the breweries. The cheese-makers and the pickle-makers and the wurst-makers, along with the beer-makers, created their products with Livingston's Rye Bread in mind.

Livingston's Rye Bread has not come back. It hasn't been away—but it has been terribly lonesome. Your grocer has it. The same old-world flavor. The same dark richness. It's still made from the original German sauer that has been kept going for 66 years.

Bring them together now—beer and Livingston's Celebrated Rye Bread. You will never want them separated. They are naturals.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE NEW ECONOMIC PLAN.

The federal government is moving so rapidly no one can see any given point clearly in passing because of the speed, and certainly not many people are quite sure in their minds where they are going. They know that most extraordinary things are being done in extraordinary ways. They still have confidence because they believe in President Roosevelt and they are inclined to despair of getting out of their troubles by any except unusual procedures. Admittedly there is a danger in such a state of mind, but the people seem to be disposed to flee from what they have rather than hold back in fright from something they might get.

A general outline of the plan to which the country is being submitted may be discernible. Its theory seems to be about as follows: A spendthrift government shall be brought to book. Its ordinary expenses shall be cut down within its ordinary revenue plus such additional income as can be derived from new, and it is to be hoped endurable, taxes, such as the tax on beer. By such a course the normal functioning of government is to be kept within expectable and procurable income. That is wholly sound. It is not only sound but it is mandatory if the government is to continue to exist. Mr. Roosevelt has taken advantage of the moral factors in his favor to do things which even six months ago seemed hopeless of accomplishment.

If his plan works federal government will be back on a paying basis. It will be down to rock bottom and its treasury in time should cease reporting deficits in normal transactions. That is one side of the new operations, wholly desirable and deserving of the country's gratitude.

Then, with the ordinary activities of government put in their place, the plan is to mobilize the idle capital of the country by a staggering increase in the government debt and put this money to work, in part taking debt off the prostrate debtors and in part making employment for idle men. If the theory can be regarded as sound at all it assumes that the country will be put back in its stride and in consequence will be able to carry the extraordinary charges for the service of this debt spread over a number of years. It seems to be true that the only trusted borrower in the country is the government itself. It is also true that the way to restore the collapsed purchasing power is by getting money back into the hands of people who now have nothing or who are on such reduced budgets that they cannot buy the things they want.

This dead center is plainly enough seen. The money of the country is in a jam. It has lost nearly all the velocity which makes the tokens work. Men and money are both idle and the custodians of the money are in despair with the country's energy locked up in their vaults.

A staggering increase in the country's debt, one unparalleled in peace times and comparable to gigantic war activities, may be a wholly unsound method of breaking down the money jam and of sending the tokens into circulation. Conservative economists believe it to be unsound, but there is no unanimity of opinion. There are thoughtful men who hold that this is precisely the way to get out; that when private enterprise is paralyzed public works and public money are the stimulant needed.

Thus far the government has been able to get the money. There can be no doubt it would be certain ruin if the debt policy were not coupled with the retrenchments designed to put the treasury in a position to pay its bills. The men who are advising Mr. Roosevelt evidently believe that if the government can be made a solvent concern it can safely undertake the debts required by its expanding activities. They believe that it will be in sound financial condition and that as debt is taken off the individual and as his purchasing power returns private industry will then pick up its stride and the country will get off the dead center where it has seemed so hopelessly fixed.

The doubts have not served to check the progress of the plan. There are as many fears as there can be hopes. Debt is being transferred from private to government responsibility. It is axiomatic that government dealing with great masses of debtor citizenship cannot collect. The debtor will use his political power for the ultimate cancellation of a large part, or at least a considerable part, of his obligations to a creditor whom he controls. A large part of these debts must be calculated in the terms of future taxes. Taxation is already the dominant factor in the paralysis of business and individual purchasing power. The proponents of the present day schemes are relying upon the theory that if the government can get the individual back on his feet his renewed purchases will put business in a position where it can carry the increased load of costs which the process of recovery entails. If that theory falls down the consequences will be too unpleasant to contemplate and, it may be feared, intolerable to bear.

THE PUNISHMENT OF THE TAXPAYER.

Any one who has followed the successive revenue crises in Cook county must wonder whether there is not a deliberate conspiracy on the part of public officials to destroy the community.

On the one hand there are the tax appropriators who refuse to believe that their expectations of revenue have been set fantastically high. To be sure, most of the tax eaters decided to cut their extortions this year by a moderate amount, but still the appropriations are far out of balance with the revenues as they are being received.

On the other hand there are the officials charged with collecting taxes, notably the county treasurer and the county judge, who have shown great tenderness toward tax delinquents. Instead of forcing collections by the use of every legal process available, these officials have found one excuse after another for delay.

The tax eaters want money with which to keep their political organization functioning. Therefore they are presenting tax bills so high that property owners are reduced to desperation. As if that were not a sufficient impediment to collection, the collecting officials make matters worse by failing to press the delinquents. Perhaps the intention is to curry favor with a considerable number of voters, but, whatever the motive may be, the fact is that the display of tenderness has served only to encourage more delinquencies.

CHICKEN FIGHTING AND MODIFIED MORALITIES.

Gov. Beverly of Porto Rico has vetoed a bill by which the legislature endeavored to put the government in the cockfighting business. The island assembly passed it unanimously, but the governor said he regarded it as inadvisable to enter into regulation of such a sport. Cockfighting is not entirely out of American mores, although it is outside the law.

We do occasionally modify our moral scruples and find a humanitarian reason for taking the legal ban off something which has theretofore weighed on the conscience. Prize fighting, as is well remembered, was long a furtive sport, highly approved by most of the masculinity of the country but raided by the police and chased by the sheriff. Then some adventurous ladies discovered that something could be had for the milk fund by giving countenance and presence to the fights. The government, which had been chasing the fighters up the alley, undertook to regulate the sport and protect its morals and standardize its ethics. The game seems never to have abandoned wholly its little tricks, but it did take a slant toward politeness, better English, and a search for culture if not scholarship. It is still a bit on Queer street, but pugilism has learned its manners and the government is sponsor for its good behavior.

Horse racing could never be furtive. It is not practical to race the horses at night at the county fair grounds after the sheriff has been lured over to Hickory Corners in search of a still. The only thing that could be furtive about a horse race was its essential concomitant, the gambling. But when the rural regions discovered that something moral could be done with the percentage of the gate receipts a new view was taken of the efforts to improve the breed of oat burners. The percentage enabled the rural legislators to enlarge their ideas of race track betting and see in it a civilizing force. All morals and mores are not based on profits, but profits will do a great deal in the way of modifying them.

The psychological change has not taken effect as to cockfighting as yet and Gov. Beverly responds to a feeling, not apparently shared by the island legislators, that it is reprehensible for humans to enjoy themselves watching fighting cocks follow their own natural inclinations, abetted by steel spurs. The aversion is pretty generally prevalent in the United States, but if some one comes forward with the argument that better white meat and more eggs will come from cockfighting it would be unsafe to predict what the final moral judgment would be.

GET THE HARD TIRES OFF.

The law passed in 1931 to take hard tires off the pavement gave eighteen months for truck owners to substitute pneumatic tires. The measure is one of common justice to taxpayers and of common interest for motorists. The hard tire at normal speed was destructive of paving and should be obsolete. It was wisely forbidden by law, but the law has not yet been seriously enforced. Motor truck owners cannot complain if penalties are no longer delayed. Commissioner of Police Allman has issued a general order directing enforcement. All police authorities in the state should see that this law is now obeyed. An honest motorcycle policeman assigned to this job could bring in all remaining offenders in a week's time and earn several hundred times his own salary, in fact, pay the salary of a good many other policemen otherwise engaged.

Editorial of the Day

GIFTS FOR THE EXECUTIVE.

[Illinois State Journal.]

The first salmon hauled from the Bangor pool to officially inaugurate the salmon season in Maine will be sent to President Roosevelt in the fond hope that the fish will be served at the White House table.

Only a week ago a brewer announced that the first case of beer released from his brewery would be forwarded to the chief executive in Washington.

It is the custom to shower the President with unsolicited gifts. Many presents are well meant. Too many gifts are made in the hope of publicity, a letter of thanks from the President, or in the belief that the gift may have influence in winning a favor.

For a time the White House maintained a temporary zoo to accommodate various animals sent to the President. In time the animals were turned over to the Washington zoo or were given away. Nevertheless, they constituted a temporary problem for employés at the executive mansion.

Cases of vegetables, crates of citrus fruit, turkeys, barrels of oysters, prize pumpkins, queerly shaped vegetables, and products distinctive to particular communities move in an endless procession to the White House.

It is possible that if the generous ones would give their products to charitable agencies in their own communities the President would be more highly pleased. Rarely does the chief executive receive personally or even know of such gifts. Secretaries, clerks, doormen, and janitors usually receive and dispose of the parcels.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Per S. O. Pet. Cam.

MARVELOUS how we pick up those expressive, witty, biting slang phrases that are always popping up. It was on the bus yesterday and the man in front was saying to his friend: "Y'know what that guy is? A cheap chiseler, that's what he is, a cheap chiseler." "You said it," replied his friend, admiringly, "you sure said it." "Yuh betcha! I can spot 'em as quick as I lay eyes on 'em. A cheap chiseler, that's what he is, a cheap chiseler." "You certainly have him sized up right," said the friend. "You betcha, a cheap chiseler, that's what he is, a cheap chiseler. Yuh know what I'm a-goin' ter say to that guy the first time I run into him?" "No," gasped the friend; "what you goin' to say?" "I'm a going to walk right up to him, I am, and I'm a goin' to say, 'You cheap chiseler, you!' Yessir, just like that. I'm a goin' to say 'you cheap chiseler.'" "Gosh!" said the other man. And then they both got off the bus and we heard the first man still cheap chiseling his way down Chicago avenue.

PATTERN IN GREY.

Sad eyes, of too much remembering;
Red lips, of too great desire;
Tired heart, of deep disappointments,
How were you scorched; in what fire?
Did Earth withhold its fulfillment
Of cameo dreams you once knew?
Or did longing vanish within you
After the dreams came true?

You wear such a wealth of poised patience
(Tolerance travels long trails
Before understanding can reach one,
When all things appear to have failed),
But now there lingers about you
A resignation most rare,
Which far surpasses possessions
Of young and unaware.

A tragic calm lies dormant
Within your weary smile
(I wish that I had known you
Before the rank and file
Of love took from you ardor
And left, within its wake,
This sensitive soft sadness
And shadow of mistake).

Oh, weary, road-worn traveler,
So much of life you've met
(Of which you'll never tell me,
Which you had best forget)
Your quiet eyes now ask me
A question I can read:
Which is good or evil?
Which is gain or greed?

But I can form no answer,
Knowing far too well
That black and white will vanish
Beneath the subtle spell
Of years too cruelly crowded,
Of life too vaguely vain;
Black and white blend crazily,
And only grey remains.

I don't know how Aleck used to treat interviewers, but unless J. Pierpont has changed greatly on the astral plane since the time I tried to interview him the first medium that holds up a trumpet for him to talk through is going to hear something like: "I haven't a ⅋ % !? $%& to say to you or any one else about that and you can go to !$$&?!¾! out of here and stay there $?!!%⅞!! you $$!?$%—$?! you!" But you've interviewed J. Pierpont yourself. What do you think he'll say?

TREATMENT OF BURNS.

TWO British physicians use the tannic acid treatment for moderately severe burns in a way that is simpler and requires less apparatus than is the case with the more widely used methods. They clean the skin around the burned area with alcohol. Probably others will prefer to paint this skin area with mercurochrome or tincture of iodine. The dead skin of blisters is cut away. None of the alcohol or other antiseptic washes is applied to the blisters or burnt surface.

A freshly made 5 per cent solution of tannic acid in water is painted over the burn. This is made by dissolving 1 level teaspoon of tannic acid in 1 ounce of warm water. This solution is to be used when freshly made, else the tannic acid will change into a form that is harmful rather than otherwise. If this solution burns add another ounce of warm water to it, thus reducing the strength one-half.

After painting, cover the burn with gauze that has been soaked in the tannic acid solution. Hold the gauze in place with a bandage. On the next day remove the gauze, if it is not tightly adherent, and give the wound another treatment of the same sort. After about three treatments of this kind, at intervals of a day, paint the burn with collodium and tannic acid dissolved in ether. This can be repeated in five days. In about two weeks the tanned, burnt tissue will come away and the wound will heal healthily and normally.

These doctors advise strongly against scrubbing a burn or manhandling it in any way. The only materials required are a soft camel's hair brush, alcohol, tannic acid, ether, collodium, gauze, and bandages.

It is customary to divide burns into three types. The ordinary mild burns of the first group are generally treated in the home. In these burns the skin is red, but it is not broken, and there is nothing to indicate that tissue has been killed.

To stop the pain either grease or soda is applied. Sometimes flour is used. This was the type of burn that popularized that combination of oil and alkali that goes by the name carron oil. This preparation has fallen into disuse—properly, because it generally was old, rancid, and full of microbes when the emergency arose, having stood in the medicine chest for years. In its stead fresh, nearly sterile vaseline is now used preferably pressed from a tube, though fresh, unsalted butter or clean lard or any other clean fat will answer.

Burns of this type require no more treatment than a protective dusting or other covering and perhaps a little gauze or bandage.

Burns of the third degree are apt to develop constitutional symptoms and require skillful medical treatment to save life and to reduce to the minimum the amount of deformity from the burn.

Burns of the second degree are those for which this tannic acid treatment is especially useful. Some burns of this kind will be treated by members of the family in the home, some will be severe enough to call for the services of the family physician, but most of them will be cared for by the emergency and first aid treatment personnel of industries.

BLOOD PRESSURE.

M. A. writes: I have high blood pressure—as high as 260. I have doctored for it for some time, but it seems it cannot be reduced. Do you think there is any need of my being alarmed about it and could you tell me what remedy would be best to reduce it? I am 54 years old.

REPLY.

Any person with a blood pressure of 260 is in danger. His life expectancy is much less than normal. He should have his case studied, for some high blood pressures are dangerous, some not so important, and some may be better off because of their high pressure. A course of life should be plotted according to what the study shows. The best single measure of control is to maintain equanimity in all circumstances. In the main the treatment of high blood pressure is hygienic rather than medicinal. I have a booklet on Abnormal Blood Pressure. It is sent on request when accompanied by 10 cents and a stamped, addressed envelope.

MILK AND ACID.

S. W. C. writes: Is milk acid forming in elderly persons?

REPLY.

Milk is in about the middle of the road so far as its ash is concerned. Sweet milk contains a little too much alkali to be easily digested by some people, but that is another matter. Babies and elderly persons are more likely to find milk more easily digested when it is slightly acidified.

MUNICIPAL SALARIES.

Chicago, April 7.—[Friend of the People.]—1. What salary does an alderman get, [2] also the mayor? 3. When will the judges and clerks receive their pay for the registration for the presidential election? 4. All the others are being paid, it seems, so we wondered if we could apply our vouchers on our taxes.

J. T.

1. The salary of an alderman, as per the appropriation bill for 1932, amounts to $3,934.45 per annum.

2. The salary of the mayor, as appropriated for in 1932, amounts to $14,163.93 per annum.

3. Judges and clerks of election employed in the presidential election of 1932 will be paid by the county. Address inquiry to the office of the county controller.

4. Under the law the county collector can receive only cash and anticipation warrants in payment of taxes. No other form of payment can be legally made and accepted.

M. S. SZYMCZAK, Controller.

JUDGMENT.

Chicago, April 7.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. I have a judgment against an Indiana corporation doing an interstate business throughout the United States. I have already taken judgment [2] to attach in Indiana, also posted bond. 3. Please advise, if assets are found in other states, does one have to take a separate judgment to attach in each state and post separate bonds before they can tie up said assets in each state? J. A. R.

1. This implies that you have a general judgment against the corporation which you could enforce by court proceedings in other states.

2. This implies that you have only an attachment judgment, which would be good only against the assets that you have attached.

3. Depends on the nature of the judgment you have already secured.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 12, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—While again maneuvering for a separate peace with Russia, Germany is concerned over the attitude of Denmark, which is the subject of great pressure to enter the war on the side of the entente allies. Dispatches touching these two developments reached Washington last night. Official advices confirm the report that the Berlin government has proposed to Petrograd a separate peace on the basis that Russia shall be given a free hand in Persia and shall enjoy the same privileges in the use of the Dardanelles as Germany and Turkey. This German proposal is intended to assure Russia of a warm water outlet both on the Mediterranean and the Persian gulf.

AMSTERDAM.—The American army is held up to ridicule by Maj. Morsht, writing in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung, who jeers at the idea that America can give any effective military aid to the allies. Maj. Morsht says: "The American army is no danger to Germany. The civil war cost half a million lives because neither side had a trained army. Now Wilson, forgetful of history, is trying the same thing, but it will be shown once more that the braggadocio of his countrymen is in inverse ratio to their fighting value." The Kreuz Zeitung says: "Thirteen hundred millions of the world's inhabitants are fighting seventy million Germans. Let the rest of the earth come as well; we will beat them all."

SAN FRANCISCO.—Warning that German submarines are operating in the Pacific was sent to all steamship captains at sea by wireless by order of Lieutenant Commander E. C. Woods of the Twelfth naval district here. "Information has this day been received that German submarines are operating in the Pacific," the warning said. "Please notify all ships under your control and ask that they spread the warning broadcast."

WAR SUMMARY.—Heavy snowstorms halted operations on the French front after the British had captured Monchy-le-Preux and La Bergere. The British penetrated German positions near Bullecourt. A German counter attack failed. The Germans attacked Russian lines near Rojitche in Volhynia and Sokal in Galicia. Petrograd reports heavy fighting with the Turks. The British official report shows 25 ships of all sizes lost during the week, indicating a decrease in victims.

WASHINGTON.—Maj. Gen. George Goethals, builder of the Panama canal, was formally requested by President Wilson to take charge of the building of 1,000 wooden ships for foreign commerce. Increase of overseas tonnage is regarded as an imperative need to defeat the German submarine campaign and keep up the flow of supplies to the entente allies. Consequently the greatest importance is attached to the plans of the shipping board for building wooden ships.

WASHINGTON.—Heads of the principal railroads in the United States, meeting here at the call of the council of national defense, named a board of five men to direct the operation of American railways throughout the war. The members of the board are: Fairfax Harrison of the Southern, chairman; Howard Elliott of the New Haven, Samuel Rae of the Pennsylvania, Hale Holden of the Burlington, and Julius Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific.

LONDON.—Herbert C. Hoover, head of the American commission for relief in Belgium, after consultation with his colleagues on the commission, has accepted the chairmanship offered him by the national defense council of the new food board in the United States. Mr. Hoover expects to leave shortly for America.

CHICAGO.—The Cubs opened the 1917 baseball season here by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5 to 3. More than 20,000 witnessed the game. The White Sox defeated St. Louis, 7 to 2, in their opening game at St. Louis.

EXPENSIVE HELIUM.

Oak Park, Ill., April 8.—The Akron, on the night the disaster occurred, had a negative buoyancy of approximately 5,000 pounds—due largely to the accumulation of rain water on its fabric. This means that the ship was heavier than the air it displaced and that in order to maintain altitude either sufficient ballast should have been dropped or the ship inclined upward and the motors operated at sufficient speed to offset the apparent heaviness.

Helium is an inert gas, slightly heavier than hydrogen yet lighter than air. Because helium is not inflammable like hydrogen it is used by both branches of our air service in balloons and dirigibles. The cost of helium is roughly ten times that of hydrogen. This latter factor means that it must be conserved, that it cannot be wasted or "valved" indiscriminately.

From the report made by the survivors it is apparent that only as a last resort was the emergency ballast dropped in order to gain altitude. This was not done before and no effort made to go above the storm area largely because the expansion of the gas at higher altitudes would cause some of it to be lost through the expansion valves. This is a costly procedure in helium inflated ships.

The above is probably one of the largest contributing factors to the disaster and explains why the Graf Zeppelin to date has been highly successful in avoiding similar accidents. The Graf, of course, in using hydrogen gas has the advantage of its increased lifting ability and at the same time, if need be, hydrogen can be valved or released economically. In our endeavor to use helium instead of highly combustible hydrogen we have eliminated one menace, but have substituted a number of others which have appreciably lowered safety factors.

THE SEVEN DAY WEEK.

Chicago, April 7.—May I express dissent with a statement in today's leading editorial of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE?

The statement is: "Before the Reformation the seven day week is said to have been universally observed in Christian countries." If I wanted to be flippant I might rejoin: "Certainly; what other kind of a week could be observed? We observe a seven day week today." But, speaking seriously, as the writer of your editorial must have meant a seven working day week, may I observe that this statement is false? Even if the writer of this editorial were to shield himself behind the "is said," and thus escape the accusation of historical inaccuracy, the escape hardly does him honor. If he had written, "After the Reformation," etc., he would have been more accurate. Such stupidly prejudiced statements irritate the intelligent reader, especially when the reader realizes how many simple folk are thereby taken in. Not in unkindness, but in sorrow, may I be permitted to say that the cathedratical Brisbane could hardly be guilty of a sillier statement than that of attributing to pre-Reformation Europe the universal practice of working seven days weekly.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

Chicago, April 8.—Why is it the Chicago Historical society, located in Lincoln park, a public park, charges an admission on Saturday and Sunday, which are practically the only days the working people can visit, this exhibit?

VINCENT HUNT, MABEL KIRCHENS, AND OTHERS.

HELP ONLY THE DESERVING.

Chicago, April 8.—The writer, being Chicago born and truly American, is of the candid opinion something should be done regarding a great portion of the relief fund being given to many individuals whose circumstances do not warrant relief.

I believe a state campaign should be started by all local newspapers to urge all persons knowing of families or persons receiving relief who really are not entitled to it to send their names and addresses to the Emergency Relief Fund headquarters for investigation, and such investigators should call also on those persons' neighbors for a true report on each particular party's circumstances.

I, for one, have personally heard of a number of cases where supplies are taken and sold, where automobiles are operated, where individuals become too lazy to work when given such an opportunity. Let's cut this vast sum of money spent monthly in Illinois by eliminating cases such as these. Many unemployed not receiving relief and just about sustaining themselves are contributing daily in this sales tax to individuals not entitled to relief.

Those receiving relief should be formed in groups for cleaning up their respective neighborhoods. With many visitors coming to Chicago during our Century of Progress, why not give them the best impression possible?

Those who really are in need I know every one is willing to assist, and the Illinois sales tax is a good method for this financial aid. As we are all shouldering the burden, let us all see that this money is spent only where really needed to sustain life. A. B.

A LANDLORD'S STORY.

Chicago, April 8.—Since the cry babies seem to be getting the most out of this world, I will proceed to shed tears. I am a landlord and can well weep. I have for a tenant a man who is always crabbing. I have been cutting his rent each time his crabbing became unbearable and he seems to like the game. His rent is now 30 per cent below what his lease calls for; but he has no intention of suspending his beautiful harmony.

A few days ago he had the nerve to clip from a magazine a letter which some bright fellow thought would be effective in wringing the last possible cent out of the landlord. The letter instructs the reader of the loss of business and the drop in prices, although the prices of this particular business haven't dropped appreciably.

These thinkers do not for a moment consider that there has been no cut in mortgages, that water, assessments, taxes, heating, insurance, and repairs haven't dropped. The landlord's expenses are as high as ever and his income is much reduced. Rents are not paid on time and the landlord loses discounts on taxes and bills.

Why should the sick man be forced to carry the comparatively healthy one?

W. M.

THE SALES TAX IN OPERATION.

Tinley Park, Ill., April 7.—The present system of collecting the sales tax is an outrage. A friend and I had breakfast at a drug store. Friend's ticket was punched for 11 cents. On paying ticket, friend purchased a package of cigarets selling for 13 cents and was obliged to pay 1 cent tax on each item or 2 cents tax on a total value of 23 cents.

WOTTA LIFE! WOTTA LIFE!

PARDON BOARD ASKED TO SAVE YOUNG SLAYER

Urge Sentiment Against Evidence at Hearing.

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—A group of so-called humanitarians headed by Clarence Darrow appeared today before the new state board of pardons and paroles in an attempt to prevent the electrocution of an 18 year old slayer. He is Russell McWilliams of Rockford, who shot down William Sayles, a street car motorman, in a holdup. He is sentenced to die April 21.

The plea for commutation of the death sentence was based on sentimental grounds. The age of the youth and his environment were reiterated by Darrow, Miss Jessie Binford, secretary of the Juvenile Protective association of Chicago; William Holly, Chicago attorney, and other counsel for McWilliams.

Blames Revenue Laws.

The Tax Service Association of Illinois presented a petition in which it was argued that obsolete revenue laws of Illinois have penalized home ownership and permitted the building up of slums, and that McWilliams was a product of such a slum area.

In refutation of the sentimental appeals, Max A. Weston, assistant state's attorney of Winnebago county, reviewed the evidence of the wantonness of the staying, showed that the boy had engaged in several holdups prior to the one in which Sayles was killed, and presented evidence that McWilliams lived in a respectable neighborhood in an average home. He was driving a $1,400 automobile the night of the slaying. One of two owned by the family, Weston said.

Widow Calls Sentence Just.

Mrs. William Sayles, widow of the slain street car operator, told the board: "I have always felt the sentence was just, and I still maintain it. I am anxious to have the case disposed of and am not moved by vengeance."

An earlier attempt had been made to create the impression that Mrs. Sayles favored commutation of the sentence.

Assistant State's Attorney Weston presented to the board four weapons used by McWilliams, including the automatic pistol with which he shot the motorman. The assistant prosecutor demonstrated McWilliams' method of concealing the gun and then drawing it to cover the motorman.

Taken Under Advisement.

The pardon board took the case under advisement and will make its recommendation to Gov. Horner. Darrow and co-counsel for McWilliams will have a conference on the case tomorrow morning with Gov. Horner. This meeting will be open also to State's Attorney Nash of Winnebago county.

The Supreme court twice has reversed findings of the lower court, and two judges have sentenced McWilliams to death. They were Judge Fisher of Rockford and Judge Edward D. Shurtleff, before whom the last trial was held on a change of venue. McWilliams pleaded guilty at his first trial and the succeeding trials were based upon the plea.

Sayles was slain by McWilliams nearly two years ago. In this trial a year ago McWilliams admitted that in a 30 day career of banditry he staged seven robberies, using three different guns. "McWilliams shot a defenseless man—after robbing him—without any provocation. The record shows he was cool enough, for he afterward held up two motorists to assist him in flight," was a statement earlier from the state's attorney.

JURORS SLEEP; RITUAL KILLING VERDICT TODAY

Brothers Oppose Each Other in Final Pleas.

Inez, Ky., April 11.—(AP)—The verdict is expected tomorrow in the trial of John H. Mills and others, charged with causing the death of Mrs. Lucinda Mills, 67, during a strange religious rite in a mountain cabin near Tomahawk, Ky., April 8. At a night session the jury was given the case and half an hour later asked to be allowed to retire.

Prior to that, however, the murder indictments against Fred Mills and Tommie Boyd were dismissed by order of Circuit Judge J. F. Bailey. The judge said the evidence had not connected them with the slaying.

Judge Instructs Jury.

Refusing to grant peremptory instructions to free the other defendants, John H. Mills, Ballard Mills, Blaine McGinnis, Mrs. Ora Moore and Mrs. Mollie McGinnis, the judge instructed the jury it might find any or all of them guilty of willful murder, voluntary manslaughter or acquit them on grounds of insanity.

If the jury found any of the other defendants encouraged John H. Mills in slaying his mother, "if it finds he did so," said Judge Bailey, then it could find any or all of them guilty of willful murder.

Dismissal of charges against Fred Mills and Boyd followed dismissal by the commonwealth at the start of the trial of indictments against Mrs. John H. Mills and Mrs. Fred Mills.

Brothers on Opposite Sides.

W. H. D. Preece of Williamson, W. Va., speaking for the defense, opened arguments at a night session. Preece asserted no motive was behind the acts of the defendants, all of whom he siad "loved and cherished their mother," save that of insanity.

His brother, Jasper N. Preece, county attorney, opened for the commonwealth.

Near the close of the defense case today Dr. J. R. Fairchild, family physician of defendants since the childhood of several of them, said John Mills "might have been suffering from the manic depreseive insanity at the time of the tragedy, but he is sane at present."

Dr. Fairchild added that most people are insane to some extent, including himself.

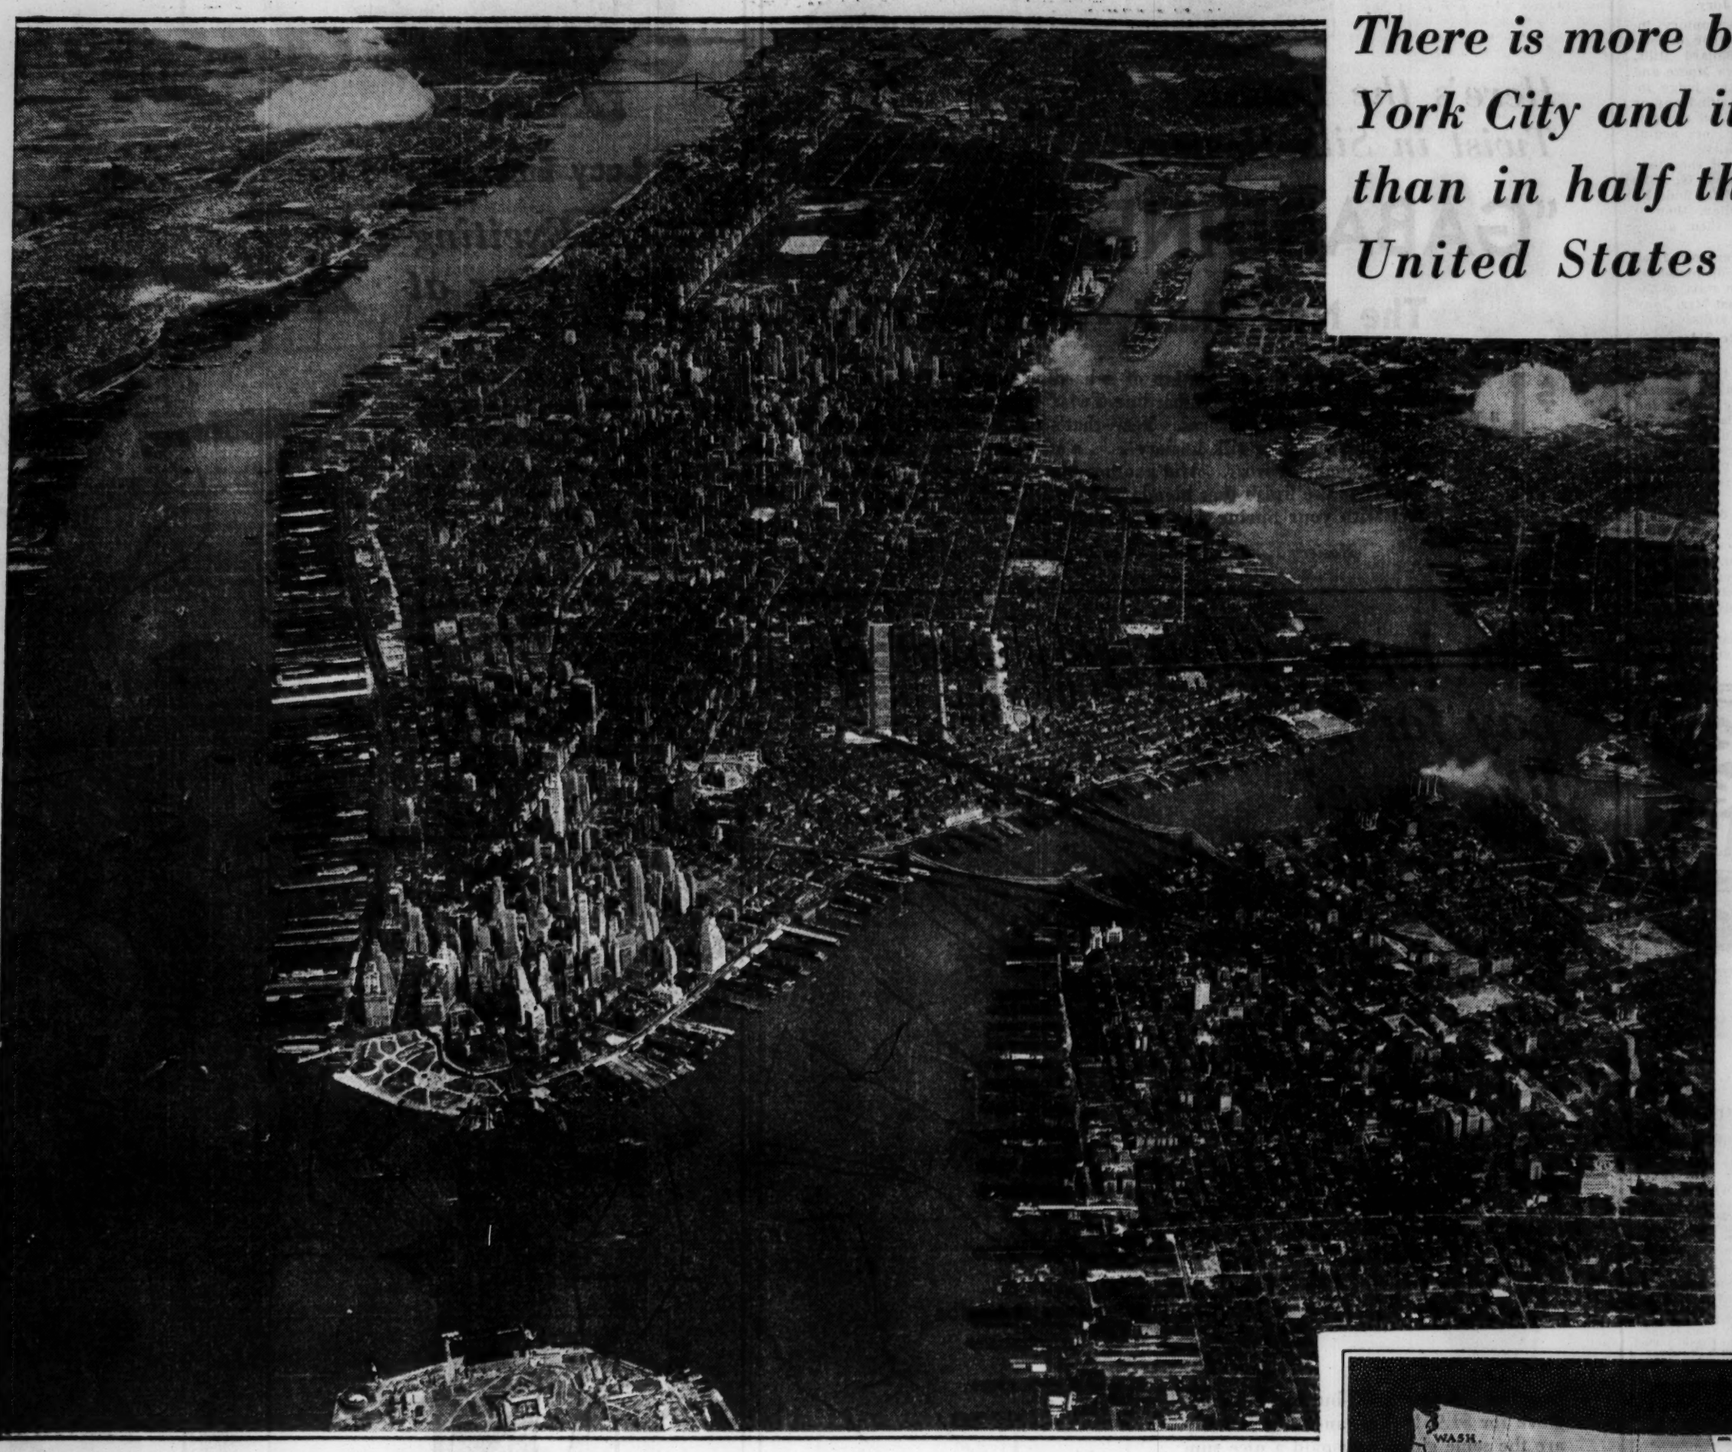
Concentrate Your Advertising WHERE SALES ARE LARGEST



There is more business in New York City and its suburbs . . . than in half the area of the United States

Scattered advertising is expensive. Concentrated advertising where sales are concentrated is economical. And most economical is advertising that is concentrated where sales are largest.

Think of the number of newspapers you would have to use, the number of salesmen you would have to employ, the tremendous transportation, traveling, and selling costs you would have to incur in order to cover the 1,540,795 square miles in these 18 States. And compare those costs with the cost of covering the New York Market which, within a radius of only 60 miles, has 12,055,000 people, $6,900,000,000 retail sales and 180,000 stores.

In the 18 States combined there is one store for every 6 square miles; in the New York Market there are 102 stores for every 6 square miles . . . For every square mile in the 18 States there is an average of $4,400 retail sales. For every square mile in the New York Market the retail sales amount to $675,000 . . . The per capita retail sales in the 18 States is $353. In the New York Market it is $573.

Here in the New York Market, with one advertising schedule, one sales campaign, one effort, you can sell more merchandise than in half of the United States . . . and at a smaller cost. And in New York, The Sun is recognized as a most effective medium for developing the sales opportunities which this market offers to advertisers. That's why the department stores of New York . . . (and they know this market well) . . . place more advertising in the six-day Sun than in any other New York newspaper, including those that publish seven issues a week.

For the largest returns on your expenditure, concentrate your advertising in New York, the market of largest sales opportunities . . . And in this market concentrate your advertising in The Sun, the newspaper that over a period of many years has demonstrated its ability to produce results.

• These 18 States occupy more than half of the country's area . . . but their combined retail sales are less than the sales in New York City and its suburban territory. There is more business in the New York Market than in all of these 18 States combined, more than in all of New England, more than in the great States of Ohio, Michigan and Wisconsin combined, more than in the great city and suburban markets of Chicago, Philadelphia and Detroit combined, more than the combined business in 70 of the 93 cities with over 100,000 population.

PAY CUTS VOTED FOR JUDGES AND STATE OFFICERS

House Passes 2 Economy Measures.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Long strides toward economy in state government were taken by the Illinois house of representatives today. Faced at last with the key planks in the Burns economy program, the members voted to reduce the pay of Supreme, Circuit, and Superior judges and of six elective state officers.

If adopted by the senate in their present form, the measures would make posible an immediate saving of about $150,000 a year. More important, however, is the hope that, having started at the top in their reduction, the assemblymen have paved the way for a general scaling down in the costs of government. The plan of Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee] is admittedly all inclusive in its proposed economies.

Details of Reductions.

The specific reductions which passed the half way mark in legislation today would slice Supreme court justices from $15,000 to $12,000 annually; state officers from $10,000 to $7,500—save for the lieutenant governor, who would drop from $5,000 to $2,500—and the state share of Circuit and Superior judges' pay from $8,000 to $6,600.

Supreme court justices were considered in one bill. The vote to reduce their salaries was 115 to 12, and 25 members were absent or sat silent in their seats when the roll was called. The second bill affected the state officers and other judges. It was passed 104 to 13, and 35 members were either absent in the cloakrooms or passed their votes.

Devine Assails Dodgers.

Former Judge Burns was more than willing to give much credit to John P. Devine [Dem., Dixon] for passage of the bills. Taking the floor after the first bill had completed preliminary roll call, Devine delivered a blistering indictment on those of his fellow Democrats who had passed their votes.

"It's just about time this [the Democratic] side of the house woke up," he shouted, whirling to face the majority members. "We Democrats were ushered into state and national control on the promise to reduce the costs of government. President Roosevelt has given ample evidence that he will redeem his pledge. But what have we done in Illinois?

Appeal Gains Votes.

"If we don't start cutting at the top, what excuse have we for making any reductions? It is not a question of what service these judges render. It is a question of what the state can afford to pay them. It is an outrage to say that these reductions should not be made. In Ohio expenses have been cut 11 million dollars. Indiana has done the same and North Dakota sliced 50 per cent. What we need in Illinois is an axe, not a pruning knife."

After Devine had concluded, the roll of absentees was called and several of those who previously had remained silent made haste to be recorded in favor of the bill.

Notable among the opponents of today's economy measures was Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago, young Democratic chairman of the important judiciary committee. Also voting against them were Elmer J. Schnackenberg of Chicago, Republican floor leader, and R. G. Soderstrom [Rep. Streator]; president of the Illinois Federation of Labor.

Mr. Burns has been the most persistent advocate of economy in the present session. Several bills for individual slashes and cuts are pending but the member from Kankakee is the first to propose a systematic slashing of whole departments, divisions and single jobs. His slogan is "reduce, retrench, refuse, and reorganize."

Presses Remainder of Program.

So while today's bills go over to the senate for action, Burns will press the rest of his program which, among other principal planks, proposes abolition of the department of conservation, the state fair, and hundreds of individual positions. For those jobs he believes essential Mr. Burns has recommended pay slices. If completely enacted, his program would save the state $15,000,000 annually.

There are 101 Circuit and Superior judges in Illinois; approval of the bill to reduce them would result in a saving of $141,400. The savings in the Supreme court would add another $15,000 to this figure. Since they carried more emergency clauses, these bills would go into effect in time to apply to judges elected in June.

Since the pay of state officers cannot, by law, be cut while they are in office, the other bill would not become operative until the next election. In 1934 a state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction will be named. The other officials—lieutenant governor, secretary of state, auditor and attorney general—will not be elected until 1936. The six cuts would total a savings of $15,000 annually.

COURTNEY SUED FOR SEIZURE OF SLOT MACHINES

State's Attorney Courtney has been sued in the Municipal court for $3,000 damages growing out of the seizure by his raiders of several score of slot machines in recent raids. The suit, filed by Arthur E. Robertson, alleges that he is the owner of the machines. He charges that he has suffered a loss of income as a result of seizure of the machines.

The defense of the state's attorney has been assigned to County Tax Attorney Hayden N. Bell, who asserted yesterday that the suit had no foundation in law. "The suit is based on an ordinary gambling raid which is expressly authorized by statutes," said Attorney Bell. "The state's attorney enjoys the same immunity from liability as a court enjoys in the trial of cases in court."

The suit has been placed on the regular civil call of the Municipal court. It will be assigned to a judge and a trial date fixed next Saturday morning. Robertson could not be reached yesterday nor could his attorney, Simon Herr, be found.

DEPUTY ALCOCK ADDS TO WOES OF BUREAU POLICE

For the first time in over a decade, policemen at the detective bureau must stand inspection in summer uniform. The inspection is scheduled for this morning. It was ordered yesterday by First Deputy Police Commissioner John Alcock.

The personnel at the bureau comprises 263 patrolmen, thirty sergeants, thirteen lieutenants, four captains and one chief. Most of them have not worn uniforms for years and many complaints were heard last night as the inspection order was read.

"Uniforms cost money," said a veteran sergeant. "So do civilian outfits. We are required to be dressed neatly in civilian clothes while on duty at the bureau. It is a hardship for us who do not have the summer uniforms to be made to get them when the city is more than five months behind in our pay."

Names Captive as Robber of Bank in East Chicago

Clyde Bridges, held at the detective bureau while efforts are being made to extradite him to Minnesota as a bank robber, was identified yesterday as one of three men who took part in a holdup of the Peoples' State bank of East Chicago on April 4. The identification was made by John Buchnowski Jr., a teller and son of the bank's president. A picture of Bridges had previously been pointed out as that of a man who participated in the $206,000 holdup of a branch of the North Western National bank of Minneapolis several months ago.

BANDITS ROB COLLECTOR.

E. W. Cunningham, 404 Home avenue, Oak Park, a collector for the Chicago Title and Trust company, was robbed of $231 yesterday by two bandits who halted his automobile at 78th street and Michigan avenue.

STATE'S INQUIRY ON FORECLOSURE METHODS OPENS

Will Hold First Hearings in Chicago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—A statewide investigation into all phases of mortgage foreclosures and receiverships was launched today with the naming of a legislative inquiry committee by Arthur G. Roe, speaker of the state house of representatives. The committee went into a conference immediately with Attorney General Otto Kerner's foreclosure staff and decided to start its hearings in Chicago Friday.

Thomas P. Sinnett, Rock Island attorney and a Democrat, was named chairman of the committee. Other members are Laurence F. Arnold [D.] of Newton, Ole E. Benson [R.] of Ottawa, Hugh W. Cross [R.] of Jerseyville, and O. W. Edwards [D.] of Danville.

Asked by House Resolution.

The committee was named by Speaker Roe on authority of a resolution introduced in the house by Representative Benson, which was passed early in March. Under the resolution the committee is charged to investigate the mortgage bond situation, expenses incident to foreclosure, receivers' activities and fees, attorneys' fees and other fees, method of selling real estate, and the activities of bondholders' committees.

The committee has the power to administer oaths and supoena witnesses. The committee will be aided in the inquiry by Assistant Attorney Generals George S. Lavin, John W. Brabner-Smith and James G. Skinner, who constitute Kerner's foreclosure staff.

Members of the committee met with the staff in the attorney general's office this afternoon. To them was presented a report on the progress of an investigation made by the staff during the last few months. This staff has been hampered in its inquiry because they were unable to subpoena witnesses and administer oaths.

The staff has compiled a list of bondholders' committees in Cook county and questioned a number of the secretaries of the committees. It is expected that the committee of inquiry will continue this work here and also throughout the state. It is believed that the bulk of the committee's work will be in Chicago. In the report the attorney general's staff said: "We find that in the beginning, when issues started to default, some houses undertook to serve their clients by organizing committees for the protection of their bondholders, but as time went on their attitude changed from one of service to one of gain. Some committees are organized by law firms and trust companies and work in coöperation with them for their gain.

"Many members take little part in the work and the bulk of the work is often done by a paid secretary or attorneys; that a number of depositories are charging fees too large; that trustees' fees are frequently too high, and that trustees and receivers continually fail to apply money on hand to payment of delinquent taxes.

Benefits to Bondholders' Small.

"We find the number of extensions procured by hondholders' committees is small; that reorganization of the properties is frequently of small benefit to bondholders, merely changing management and in some instances has been to the detriment of bondholders; and that reorganizations are frequently arranged so as to give almost perpetual control of the properties to those who reorganize them."

KELVINATOR

See this FULL-sized, FULL-powered Kelvinator NOW Before Material Costs Go Up!

THIS is not a new "cheap" model brought out to meet a price. Instead, it is a standard Kelvinator—full-sized, full-powered—selected right out of the 1933 line. And, until April 29th, the price is $98.00 installed. When material costs increase—and we hope they do, because that will mean better times for everybody—the price goes up, because Kelvinator will not cheapen the product to meet a price.

No Compromise—There has been no compromise—on quality—on performance—on size or power. The cabinet is full-sized, beautifully designed, ruggedly built. It has a generous amount of Kelvatex insulation all around. This proved insulation is odorless, waterproof, indestructible. No compromise here.

The full-sized power plant is the same as used in the larger, higher priced Kelvinators, with a record of more than 19 years behind it. It is not an experiment. Being full-powered (and not undersized) it operates only about a third of the time. And the current it uses is actually less than compressors of a third its capacity which must run all the time to maintain proper temperatures. No compromise here.

A Word to Prospective Purchasers of Electric Refrigerators

"In the building of this refrigerator there has been no compromise on the Kelvinator standards of the past 19 years. In possesses the same high quality and dependable performance found in every Kelvinator model, whether priced at $98 or $1,000. It could not be otherwise, for this is a standard Kelvinator."

G. W. MASON
President, Kelvinator Corporation

Easy Terms—See this beautiful Kelvinator now. Let us explain its many features. And you will readily understand why it is regarded as the greatest value in electric refrigeration today. Small down payment and terms to fit your budget. Come in tomorrow and take advantage of the present low prices.

ARREST DRIVERS OF 3 OVERLENGTH FREIGHT TRUCKS

Highway Police Resume Enforcing New Limits.

BY HAL FOUST.

An hour and a half after court protection of overlength trucks had been lifted at midnight Monday the state highway police arrested the drivers of three trucks and trailer combinations in Roosevelt road in Geneva, Ill. All vehicles are owned by the Keeshin Motor Express company, 1453 Washburne avenue, one of the largest fleet operators in the metropolitan area.

Thus the police resumed their war against highway freight trains, suspended since shortly after the first of the year, when a temporary injunction was obtained by an East St. Louis carrier. Circuit Judge Henry G. Miller of Belleville dissolved the writ on April 5 with a provision that the operators should have until April 11 to remove their long equipment from the highways.

Reduces Maximum Length.

The arrests were the first in the Chicago area under a section of the motor vehicle code modified by the 1931 legislature to become effective on Jan. 1, 1933. The change was a reduction from sixty-five to forty feet as the maximum legal length of any truck and trailer combination. The maximum for any single unit is thirty-five feet.

In the cold drizzle of early yesterday State Highway Policeman J. K. Baker measured the three Keeshin truck and trailer combinations as forty-nine, forty-eight, and forty-five feet, respectively. The drivers were given summonses to appear tomorrow morning before Justice of the Peace W. A. Keiser of Geneva.

Through the night the state police under the direction of Sergt. H. W. Nofs patroled the highways radiating west from Chicago, where, from midnight to dawn, there is a continual rumble of freighters carrying farm produce to the city and merchandise from the city.

Others Pass Inspection.

At 2:35 a. m. two Iowa trucks passing through St. Charles with hogs and steers for the Chicago stockyards were found to be a few inches within the thirty-five foot limit. At 3:45 a. m. in Naperville five trucks, at an all night lunchroom and four at a filling station, passed police inspection.

At 4:45 a. m. one of the Keeshin trucks passed, chugging its way to Chicago over the North avenue road. A little later on the Lake street highway a milk truck and trailer bearing the name of Castino Transport company was measured as exactly forty feet. The trailer had been remodeled, the coupling shortened, and even the front bumper removed so as to come within the legal limits.

At 5:30 a. m. in Elgin a truck with 1932 license X-883, belonging to Myers Brothers of Belvidere, was found to be thirty-five feet and four inches long. Policeman Baker warned the driver that the vehicle, a live stock carrier, must be shortened.

Sues Her Husband and Also His Two Sisters

Mrs. Alma L. Mears, 4136 Greenview avenue, yesterday filed a suit for separate maintenance against Thomas J. Mears, a statistician. At the same time she filed the praecipe of a $100,000 suit for alienation of affections against her two sisters-in-law. Both suits were begun in the Superior court. In the separate maintenance suit. Mrs. Mears charges that her sisters-in-law, Lucy and Inez Mears, "taunted and slandered her and threatened her with violence." She also charges that the Mears sisters kept a vicious dog and used the animal to frighten her son, Thomas, 2 years old. Mrs. Mears alleges that her husband has refused to protect her from his sisters' abuse.

France Makes Standard of Living Basis of Income Tax

PARIS, April 11.—(AP)—Putting on style is going to cost the taxpayers hard cash under a measure approved today by the chamber of deputies to help tax officials check real incomes and to fight fraud. Tax returns must record yachts, automobiles, hunting grounds, racing stables, the number of servants, in short, all visible signs of wealth. The declared income will have to fit the picture.

Western Electric Pensioner Hangs Self in His Home

John Luhan, 57 years old, a pensioned foreman of the Western Electric company, ended his life by hanging yesterday in his home at 2316 Euclid avenue, Berwyn. Dr. Joseph Luhan, a son, said that his father had been ill and worried over financial troubles. The elder Luhan had retired recently from the electric company, after working there thirty-seven years.

CHILDREN'S BOWELS NEED WATCHING!

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold.

His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from sickening mucus waste.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is ideal for children. They like its syrupy taste. It does not gripe; never weakens them. It is safe even for a tiny baby.

You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drug store and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It acts quickly; doesn't sicken. It sweetens the bowels; increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

Accuses Husband

Cragin police yesterday were seeking Emilio Ranieri, 24 years old, 4901 Altgeld street, after he had driven an automobile into the window of the Centrella grocery, 4811 Armitage avenue. Ranieri's wife, Mitzi, 22 years old, who suffered cuts and bruises, charged that her husband drove the car into the window in an attempt to injure her.

Ranieri is the brother of Billy Ranieri, 15 years old, central figure five years ago in a sensational kidnaping case, and the son of Alex Ranieri, Chicago contractor. Mrs. Ranieri told police that she and her husband separated four days ago after a quarrel. Yesterday she made an appointment to meet him and drive to his father's home. Ranieri, who was at the wheel, became enraged, she said when she told him that she was to become a mother and swerved the car into the store window. He fled after the crash.

DICTATORSHIP IN PORTUGAL ENDS; PREMIER TO STAY

LISBON, Portugal, April 11.—(AP)—The dictatorial government which has ruled Portugal under President Carmona for seven years came to an end today when the new constitution went into operation.

President Carmona remains the chief executive. Premier Antonio Salazar continues as the first constitutional premier and many members of the old government are retained in his cabinet.

The new Portuguese constitution provides for the election of the president by the people instead of by parliament, as heretofore. Members of the assembly also will be chosen by direct suffrage and sessions of the assembly will be public. The premier is responsible to the president, and only the president can dismiss the cabinet, but the cabinet may declare the presidency vacant in the event of permanent physical disability of the occupant during his seven year term.

LANG INDICTED AS A PERJURER IN NITTI CASE

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Conley and Robert Moman, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life each in the penitentiary; Thomas Gill, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry A. Lewis.

A true bill charging Harry Lang, suspended detective, with perjury was reported to have been voted yesterday by the Cook county grand jury. Bond was set at $5,000. The charge grew out of the conflicting stories told by Lang, a former member of the mayor's hoodlum squad, concerning the shooting of Frank Nitti, Capone gangster, in a raid on a loop office building on Dec. 19 last year.

Lang, already under indictment on a charge of assault to kill Nitti, is "out of the city," according to a report given out from his home. His attorney, Abraham Marowitz, said that Lang probably would surrender today at the Criminal court building and post bond.

Repudiates Early Story.

Lang is alleged to have told the January grand jury that he shot Nitti in self-defense after the hoodlum had wounded him in the arm. The testimony resulted in the indictment of Nitti on a charge of assault to kill. Lang, called as a state witness at the trial, surprised the prosecution with the statement that he didn't know who shot him.

Other police members of the raiding party testified that Lang shot Nitti as the hoodlum stood unarmed. A verdict of not guilty was returned in the Nitti trial, and the principals in the case were taken before the grand jury. The rumor that Lang had accepted $15,000 from Ted Newberry, north side gangster, since slain, to raid the office and shoot Nitti was reported to have been presented to the grand jury last week.

Former Grand Jurors Testify.

Warren B. Ogden, 6204 South Sacramento boulevard, a purchasing agent for Libby, McNeill and Libby, who was foreman of the January grand jury; Alex Stern, 1925 Hancock street; J. O'Grady, 819 South Taylor street, Oak Park, and Ernest J. Herbert, 7710 Sunset drive, Elmwood Park, all members of the January grand jury, testified yesterday before the present grand jury.

ONLY 228 VOTE IN LAKE FOREST; RE-ELECT MAYOR

Mayor A. D. Farwell was reëlected for his third term as mayor of Lake Forest yesterday. Only 228 votes out of a possible 3,600 were cast, the small turnout being due to the fact that no candidates were opposed. Henry Rhode, treasurer, and Roy F. Wells, supervisor, were reëlected. William H. Harding was elected marshal and Edward D. Shumway was chosen as alderman of the 1st ward. Ald. Leslie A. Kelley [2d], G. M. Luedke [3d], and L. D. Vaughn [4th] were reelected.

O'HARA'S BAIL HEARING IS PUT OFF TILL TODAY

Judge James F. Fardy yesterday continued until this morning the hearing on the defense motion asking liberty on bail for Ralph O'Hara, organizer for the motion picture operators' union, who is under indictment for the murder of Fred Oser, leader of a rebel faction of the union. Assistant State's Attorney Charles Dougherty gained the delay on the plea that he was busy in another case.

Defense Attorney Michael Ahern demanded an immediate hearing and argued that the burden of proof rested with the state. He held that O'Hara should be allowed his liberty on bond until the state moves to substantiate the murder charge with evidence.

The trial of O'Hara, who has confessed shooting Oser to death in the union offices at 506 South Wabash avenue, has been set for May 10. He was indicted by the grand jury after a coroner's jury had decided the killing was justifiable homicide, despite testimony of state witnesses that Oser had never been known to carry a revolver.

Alaska-Chicago Dog Team Is Fitted with Moccasins

FORT FRASER, B. C., April 11.—(AP)—"Slim" Williams, en route from Silver City, Alaska, to the Chicago A Century of Progress, today was fitting his dog team with moccasins to protect their feet. He arrived here last night and, proceeding by easy stages, expected to arrive at Prince George, 100 miles away, Saturday night.

New Discovery Ends Gray Hair
Renews Natural Color
Costs Only 15c

Gray hair changed to a beautiful golden brown or dark brown quickly, safely, and for only 15c—this is the amazing story revealed by frank letters from grateful women. These women have been using RIT to keep their hair lovely and youthful looking. Secretly, in their own homes. They call it the perfect hair dye—never streaks, never dries the hair, never shows a "dyed" look. Instead it keeps the hair glossy, renews its natural color, encourages its wave. Harmless as water, proved so by seven years' testing.

Don't let gray hair steal your charm, your youth. Go to your nearest dealer. Ask for regular Instant RIT, Golden Brown or Dark Brown. Simple directions are in every package. Know how easy it is to have beautiful hair in its natural, youthful color.

Doctor's Treatment Quickly Conquers Acid Stomach

"I feel so good after taking Udga Tablets. For years I suffered with excess acidity. Everything I ate soured in my stomach. My appetite got poor. It was agony for me to even try to work. Wish you could see me eat now. Am not bothered with sourness—work every day and am not tired in the least."

Udga Tablets, a doctor's prescription, have a world-wide record of success in the treatment of gas pains, excess acid, belching, bloating, pains after eating, sour stomach, constipation, heartburn, poor digestion, dyspepsia, gastritis, and other conditions caused by hyperacidity or faulty diet.

Why suffer when you can try this safe and harmless treatment without risk? Get a $1.00 package of Udga Tablets today. Use the entire box and then, if you are not positive that they have done more for your sick stomach than anything you ever used—return the empty box and get your money back. Ask Walgreens for Udga today and see what a real treatment can do for your sick stomach.

WALGREEN DRUG STORES

Here we are!

1. We have plenty of money and we are not afraid to let loose of it.

2. We loan any amount from $50 to $5,000—for any period of time up to one year. You get the exact amount you ask for. The note includes all charges.

3. We charge 6% per annum on loans of $500 and up—7% per annum on loans under $500. The expense of credit investigation, if any, is nominal.

4. Loans may be secured by marketable stocks and bonds if you prefer, but most loans are secured by comakers—the best "collateral" on earth and a security which almost everyone can provide.

5. You pay your loan by saving—"every little bit added to what you've got makes just a little bit more"—that's the way you save the money to pay your note when it falls due.

If there were no place in Chicago where people could borrow money like we lend money, just as sure as shootin' somebody would fan up a movement to start one.

15 Years Head Start!

But nobody has to start anything, for here we are, with a plan and an organization oiled up through fifteen years of experience in lending money through thick and thin; here we are—just about made to order to meet present-day conditions and the variety of perplexing and complicated financial difficulties which confront so many families. Here we are, with plenty of money which we are ever so willing to loan to people who take pride in their good names and who are serious about the business of living, and who pay attention to the costs and conditions of their financial obligations.

$95,000,000 Paid Back

Since we have been here we have loaned over $100,000,000—that's a lot of money—but the fact is more significant that over $95,000,000 has been paid back in the ordinary course of business. The rest isn't due yet. People don't make loans from this bank and leave their notes parked with us; they pay them. They go to work in a systematic and orderly manner, and in a way that does not hurt accumulate funds to pay their notes when they fall due. People are getting somewhere when they borrow from us.

The Best Collateral on Earth

And when it comes to security, everyone knows how the market on collateral has declined, to say nothing of the uncertain loan value of second-hand bedsteads, furniture and other personal property. We loan on marketable collateral of course; of course we don't loan on chattel mortgages. 95% of our loans are secured by something which almost everybody has—a good name and the confidence of one's friends. Something that has not slumped a bit. For as we appraise the present value of good names and the genuine spirit of helpfulness in these times, we are so glad to say that honor and integrity and good will have not fallen off nor depreciated one cent... And that is what we loan money on—we loan money on people, on their promise to do things, their promise to keep an engagement if they make any, their promise to do their part, when they have taken a part, their promise to pay their bills when they contract bills.

6% Per Annum—$500 and Up

Suppose you should want $100, $200, $300, $500, or more. You get the exact amount of money you ask for. We make a note which includes all charges, discount and the nominal expense of credit investigation, if any. You will then know to a penny how much the loan is going to cost you, and how much you will have to accumulate to pay it back when it falls due—there is no uncertainty. And let us not forget to say that when loans are paid before maturity they are subject to a refund of interest. And don't let us forget to say that we charge 6% per annum on loans of $500 and up, and the rate is only 7% per annum on loans under $500.

Made to Order

If there were no place in Chicago where people could borrow money like we lend money, just as sure as shootin' somebody would fan up a movement to start one. But, could you imagine any plan so well designed and so effective—to meet the trying problems of the people who are wrestling with the conditions of today, as the plan of lending which we offer right now in 1933, at 105 W. Madison St., Chicago?

Come In

We would not for a minute urge anybody to borrow money who does not need to borrow, but our doors are wide open to every person or family in Chicago who has a proper reason for borrowing, and where the person or family is in a position to look upon a loan as good business.

A PERSIAN RUG

took on all the Glamour of the ORIENT

A GREAT merchant once said that the turning point in his career had come with the discovery that advertising could be news.

He had tired of the trite descriptions and extravagant claims which constantly filled his advertising. He wanted people to read his page ... to read it with the same eagerness with which they devoured the news of the day.

He decided to experiment by telling the news of his store; by printing as advertisements those stories which lay hidden in his stocks; those romances and adventures of even the most practical goods.

He trained his people to sense news in merchandise; sent reporters through the store on assignments, just as a newspaper would; got other reporters to double-check their facts.

He demanded of every piece of news—Accuracy, Interest, Timeliness; demanded brilliant, yet simple writing; hired a telegraph editor to write his display lines with a terse, news flavor.

Gradually his people came to "feel" a news story in every piece of merchandise. A Persian rug took on all the glamour of the Orient, instead of being "the best value in town." Even the lowly clothes pin had its romantic side.

Every day, fresh, interesting news made his space as live as the news columns, until people looked for it each day.

It is such an obvious formula for good advertising. The thirst for news is as old as human nature. It has created great organizations for news gathering which completely encircle the globe. It has established two thousand daily newspapers in this country alone.

News is the vital interest which builds newspapers such as The Philadelphia Bulletin, which grew from a few thousand circulation in 1895 to more than half a million today. (Two and one-half times the circulation of any other evening newspaper; more than any Sunday newspaper; more than all morning newspapers combined.)

News, which people believe when they read, stabilizes and holds such circulations, year after year, without artificial stimulation; makes such a newspaper a more sensitized medium for the advertisements in its columns.

News, handled as the Philadelphia home prefers it, has created an unusual newspaper condition in this metropolitan market: In Philadelphia nearly everybody reads The Bulletin.

In it, merchant or manufacturer may associate his own live news advertising with the news of the day in half a million homes. And his advertising cost for reaching this billion dollar market in The Bulletin is one of the lowest among all newspapers in America.

LEGION POSTS PLEDGE AID TO RELIEF GARDENS

Plan to Provide Seeds for Needy Families.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Cook county posts of the American Legion were enlisted last night in the campaign to provide needy families of Chicago and the suburbs with subsistence gardens. In a meeting at the Great Northern hotel the service men launched plans to coöperate with the garden committee of the county and state welfare agencies, of which Warner G. Baird is chairman.

At least 20,000 needy families, whether now on the relief rolls or not, are to be provided garden plots in the county. The Legion posts are giving aid to Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis clubs, churches and other civic agencies.

The entire movement is being built on a basis which can be maintained for several years, according to Roland Bradley, chairman of the Legion Americanism committee. No discrimination will be shown in providing for families, he said.

Plan to Aid Communities.

Floyd Hawkins, who is in charge of the local garden service, said: "Instead of transporting those living in the city to outlying garden plots under direct supervision of the Cook county public welfare bureau, aid will be given to communities who in turn can select garden areas and determine which families are deserving."

Arrangements have been made to get packets of seed sufficient to produce vegetables worth $40 at retail for each family. These packets will be purchased by the legion posts or other local agencies for the families not on the relief rolls. Families that are on the rolls will obtain seeds through relief stations.

Owners of vacant property have been volunteering the use of their land for such gardens, Hawkins declared.

Gardens Progress Downstate.

Relief garden work has progressed more rapidly downstate than in Cook county, it was reported last night. J. C. Readey, director of garden work for the relief commission in 65 downstate counties, declared that 96 per cent of all families on the relief rolls in these counties would be provided with gardens.

There will be 110,000 gardens provided for the total of 114,000 cases in these counties, and about 3,000 acres of "mass gardens" to provide extra work and food for the summer and for winter storage, Readey said.

AMERICAN VETS' ORGANIZER HOLDS MEETINGS HERE

Conferences with prominent Chicago world war veterans will occupy the next few days for Donald Reigeluth of New York, now at the Stevens hotel. Mr. Reigeluth, who was one of the eastern organizers of the American Veterans' association, is in the city to establish a local chapter. The organization is designed to promote national economy by opposing payment of compensation to veterans or their dependents for disabilities not received in the line of duty. Membership will be drawn largely, he said, from the 3,000,000 veterans who have never joined the organized minority represented by the American Legion and similar groups long regarded as the mouthpiece of the former service men.

2 AUTO DEATHS RAISE TOLL FOR YEAR TO 231

There were two automobile fatalities in Cook county yesterday and the 1933 toll mounted to 231. The victims:

Gustave Kallies, 71 years old, 1702 West 14th street. Died at the county hospital from hurts sustained April 2 when he was struck by the machine of a hit and run motorist at Blue Island avenue and 14th street.

Abe Ledoff, 70 years old, 4726 North Monticello avenue, a peddler. Died at the Edgewater hospital from injuries incurred Sunday when he was struck at Broadway and Argyle street. The driver, Alfonso Weathers, colored, 422 East 33d street, was held.

TEACHERS CRY: CLOSE SCHOOLS! BOARD MAY ACT

Crowd Storms Offices, Breaks In Door.

Mr. Taylor that this was not the case, the teachers began yelling for their salaries.

Righeimer Defies Them.

Attorney Frank S. Righeimer, counsel for the board, appeared and the teachers besieged him. When he refused to make a speech, some male teacher shouted: "We'll take you."

"There's not a man among you big enough to do it," responded the school attorney.

The teachers left him alone and turned again to President Taylor.

"Why don't you resign?" they demanded.

"My resignation has been in for some time," Mr. Taylor responded. "I'd welcome the opportunity to step out."

"Do you expect us girls to walk the street for a living?" shouted a young woman.

Mr. Taylor and Attorney Righeimer finally left the building by a rear door. The teachers remained, making speeches. They passed two resolutions. One declared that the teachers should strike if they were not paid in cash soon. The second demanded that a meeting of bankers and the school board members be held which the teachers themselves should be allowed to attend.

Girl Red Seized in School.

Earlier, on complaint of Principal Harry Keeler of the Lindblom High school, Agnes Reynolds, 22 years old, a member of the Young Communist league, was arrested for distributing literature inciting pupils of the school to strike. She was on the second floor of the school building, handing out handbills, when the police took her into custody. She gave her address as 1413 West 18th street, the headquarters of the Young Communist league.

The handbills read: "Students! Do not be terrorized! Continue your heroic strike! Spread the strike to other schools!"

The arrest recalled that Rudolph Lapp and Yetta Barshefsky, members of the Young Communist league, who were suspended from Crane Technical High school for a time and then reinstated last week, were main instigators in the pupils' strike.

Arrest of S. C. Ferguson Ordered in Alimony Case

Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan yesterday issued an order for the arrest of Stephen C. Ferguson, son of the late Charles Ferguson, pioneer Rogers Park real estate dealer, when Ferguson failed to appear in his court to pay up $300 in alimony arrears.

BANDITS HOLD UP 40 IN SALOON; STRIKE IT RICH

Ten couples were dancing and twenty other patrons were drinking beer in Charles Gionetti's saloon at 658 North Wells street last night when the door swung open and three armed men stepped in.

Without delay the leader of the bandits ordered the patrons, the owner and the bartender to line up against the walls. From Gionetti the robbers took $25. The next victim was Victor Michelini, 3722 North Paulina street, who gave up $75 and a $350 ring. Then the robbers made a real strike, obtaining $808 from Hugo H. Lattner, 4145 West 24th place, who told the police he was engineer for a south side theater.

Satisfied with their loot, the bandits did not search the others. They fled to the street and leaped into an automobile. Policeman Arthur Ristig and James Dwyer of the Chicago avenue station, riding in an automobile, were approaching as the trio started away. They pursued, firing on the fugitives' car, for several blocks, but were unable to overtake it.

POLICE GUARD U. S. EMBASSY IN MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, April 11.—(AP)—For unannounced reasons strong guards of police and plain clothes men were placed about the American embassy and the Japanese legation tonight.

It was learned that six secret military policemen have been assigned to duty at the railroad station when the new American ambassador, Josephus Daniels, arrives Saturday morning.

Recently, it was recalled, a demonstration by alleged communists occurred before the American embassy in connection with the appointment of the new envoy and his part in the occupation of Vera Cruz. Memorial services, meanwhile, are being planned in Vera Cruz for April 21, the 19th anniversary of the American occupation of the port, in honor of the Mexicans killed in the two day engagement there.

Empty Your Gall Bladder

And You'll Feel Like a Billion Dollars!

Sleepless nights, dog-tired days, headaches, pains in all parts of the body—indigestion—gas. Do you suffer from one or all?

And have you tried every medicine under the sun, only to find yourself back where you started?

No wonder, for you, like thousands of others have probably been treating yourself for everything but the right thing. Get at the unsuspected cause—your gall bladder. If sluggish, it won't pour into your small intestines the most important digestive juice necessary for neutralizing gastric acid, quickening digestion and disinfecting the intestinal tract. If this juice doesn't flow freely, then your food sours, putrifies, stomach becomes filled with gas and acidity.

From Germany's greatest chemists comes a simple, pleasant means to make this digestive juice flow freely, and put you on the sunny side of life. Magnesia Oxoids, little white tablets that release pure oxygen. This amazing oxygen—purer than the air you breathe—plus magnesia, gently stimulates the gall bladder, neutralizes burning acidity and sweeps that poison-packed bowel clean.

Take two Oxoids after each meal—and before retiring—drink plenty of water—put your gall bladder to work—and you'll jump out of your skin for joy. Such new health! Such robust vigor! Get Magnesia Oxoids today from your druggist.—Advertisement.

DEEP in the consciousness of every woman is a design for a home, and a pattern of life. Perhaps her ideal is a kitchenette apartment, compact and inexpensive. Or a studio-duplex on top of a tall Gold Coast building, where a giant in a glittering uniform tends the door. Or a modest apartment in a quiet, friendly neighborhood. Whatever it is, every woman has her own well-thought-out ideas about the place she would like to call home.

Getting just what she wants may seem out of reach, but it really isn't. Among the thousands of apartments in Chicago and suburbs there are certain to be many that meet every requirement. And if you want to locate an apartment like the one you picture in your mind the most satisfactory way to find it is to check the apartments advertised in the Chicago Tribune want ad section.

No matter what section of the city you want to live in, no matter what scale of rent you want to pay, you will find the best values and the most desirable places by looking in the apartments-to-rent columns of the Tribune.

IF YOU make your selection of an apartment from those advertised in the Tribune, you reduce the bother of apartment hunting to a minimum because you know in advance pretty well whether or not the apartments at which you look will really interest you.

Father of Tank Tells of Their Origin in War

Maj. Gen. Swinton Writes of Early Experiences.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Eyewitness," by Maj. Gen. Sir Ernest D. Swinton. [Doubleday-Doran.]

"Cold Comfort Farm," by Stella Gibbons. [Longmans.]

Two books from England which you might miss are hereby urged to your attention. They have in common their national origins and their uniqueness and otherwise they are as unlike as possible, the one the factual story of the most incredible monsters of our day, the tanks of the world war, and the other fiction in its most amusing form, the satire. No book like either of them has come to us of late. They are each actually unique.

MAJ. GEN. SWINTON.

As "Eyewitness," the only correspondent who had official standing at the British front during the first ten months of the war, Maj. [later Lieut. Col.] Swinton kept the passionate interest which, before the declaration of war as assistant secretary of the committee of imperial defense, he had had in new implements of war. He had long believed in the vital necessity of some sort of armored truck which could better the machine guns and barbed wire defenses.

"Eyewitness" is primarily the story of the inception of the idea of the tank and its experimental realities. It is, while being an autobiography of a delightful and amusing and important human being, really the life story of the tanks. Today tanks are "equipment" for any army. In 1917 they were as much of a surprise, not only to the enemy but to their own force, as a radio would be to Mr. Benjamin Franklin if he were to come upon one in the middle of Washington square in his home town. Even the man who caught electricity on a key could not have foreseen radio.

The tanks were the great surprise of the war. They were destined to be more fantastic and morale uplifting than actually revolutionary, according to Gen. Swinton's book, for the possibilities of their many uses were not even in 1918 well enough known to headquarters to make them as valuable as they might have been.

Gen. Swinton, besides being the father of the tanks [he used to call them his "babies"], is a writer of fiction. He wrote during the war two volumes of delightful stories, "The Green Tab Dope" and "The Green Curve" under, of course, a pseudonym, since his official position did not jibe with the frivolity of fiction.

"Cold Comfort Farm" is a book which I deeply envy the author for having written. It is the anguished cry of a book reviewer, who, after years of silence, has revolted violently. Stella Gibbons was, like me, one of those unpopular groups, the official bookworm whose business it is to devour [if possible]. Just too many of the things that she had set her teeth into were stark tales of the soil . . . you know the sort, where there is murder underneath every cowslip and something very nasty in every woodshed. With one gigantic hop-skip over the cowslip she has landed plumb in the middle of the woodshed with the wittiest, most amusing, most thoroughly devasting satire on the earth-earthy novel that has ever been written.

"Cold Comfort Farm" is a joy from cover to cover, not only because it says what every reader of boring subsoil novels would like to say but because it is done with almost diabolical cunning and brilliance.

Mrs. Roosevelt Will Back Union Fight Against Sweatshops

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President, announced here today that she would lend her active support to the campaign of the Women's Trade Union league against alleged prevailing sweatship conditions in the dress industry.

Mrs. Roosevelt was present at a meeting of the league at 99 Park avenue and listened to addresses by Mrs. Rose Schneidermann, chairman of the meeting, and David Dubinsky, president of the International Ladies Garment Workers' union. While she listened she knitted a white wool scarf. Her address was brief.

"I am speaking," she declared, "as an individual and not as the wife of the President."

After pointing out that the depression has forced people to think along economic lines, she stressed the need of a publicity campaign by the league to inform women of the conditions that prevail in many sections of the garment industry. She said that at her next conference with newspaper women she intended to ask them to help in this publicity.

The President's wife wore a blue dress, trimmed with white piqué, a long blue cape, a blue sailor hat, and a fox neckpiece.

Will Be June Bride

The brilliant smile that Miss Julia Kramer is wearing may be caused by the thought that she will be married in June. Miss Kramer's engagement to Richard M. Lamport of Detroit was announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Kramer, last February, and although he is not well known among the young crowd in Chicago, we understand that Mr. Lamport is handsome in appearance and most attractive.

Chicago Urged to Start Own Theater Group

Mrs. Jean Holm Addresses Drama League.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Blessed with a plethora of theatrical and dance talent and cursed with an hypercritical attitude toward any stage entertainment, Chicago is missing its opportunity to give the world, not the largest but the best "theater" of the era, the Drama League of Chicago heard yesterday.

In an analysis of Chicago's drama, submitted by Mrs. Jean Parke Holm, artist, poet and author, there was inspiration for her audience in the Cordon club. There were definite suggestions for procedure by the league as the agency best fitted to change conditions.

"Each city in which I have lived—Paris, New York, Chicago—each has its own peculiar charms and its own drawbacks," she said. "In Paris it was the insensate disregard for the rights of the underprivileged classes that caused something American in me to rebel. In New York I was struck by the difficulty of getting appreciation for excellence of talents in an individual, whereas Paris had abounded with such recognition.

"In Chicago there is a problem quite different. New York is a publication center. I have always thought of this city, however, as a dynamo of production. Its great genius is for publicizing people or things. It is a dramatic city, and the vast amount of talent here is performing talent. You have had splendid playwrights. Great dancers have taught here, and they have left many students. Chicago is teeming with splendid actors and actresses whose name to date means nothing because there is no outlet for their efforts.

"But there is a deplorable idea in Chicago that everything here has to 'start big.' I have even heard something about the biggest art school in the world, here. Now would anybody anywhere make a pilgrimage to an art school that was merely the biggest? I think not. When it comes to the best, then a pilgrimage is in order. Do you suppose the floating audiences of New York ever subsidized the Washington Square players? No. It was because they had the talent that they developed into the Theater Guild.

"Great hordes of strangers will be brought among us by A Century of Progress. Family standpoints never inspire the creative mood, and so we need the perspective of these strangers.

"There seems to be a theory in Chicago that the professional stamp can only be given a production when it comes from London or New York—or from Dublin. Chicago players may be just as good, but that portion of the audience that has nothing invested sits back at a local performance in a spirit of savage criticism, in the manner of the 'hard boiled buyer.'

"There must be evolved a different disposition—we need to praise and appreciate our own talent. To unite them in one—not many small but one large group—that such a magnet may attract the best, and that we may one day send out our own company like the Abbey Players, that will redound to the credit and the culture of Chicago."

Mrs. Clarence Hough was reëlected president of the league.

Indian Hill Riding Club Will Renew Cross Country Events

First Bridle Party of Season Will Be Held Next Saturday Afternoon; Expect Dozen Guests.

BY JUDITH CASS.

EVERY "grownup" who saddles his horse at the Indian Hill Riding club is wishing for only two things this coming Saturday . . . sunshine and ground solid enough to insure a firm footing. Mrs. Ernest S. Ballard is gathering together the "crowd" that rode cross country Saturday afternoons last summer for the first ride this season.

At 2 o'clock a dozen or more "mounts" will line up at the clubhouse and set forth on a two or three hour trip into the country over the Indian Hill Country club bridle paths and through the Glenview forest preserve, perhaps as far as Highland Park. When they return, tired but with that feeling of exhilaration that comes only after an hour or two on horseback, there will be tea, and coffee, and sandwiches awaiting them at the club . . . spread out buffet style on the "E" shaped tables.

The refreshments are also Mrs. Ballard's chore, for she is the club's chairman of entertainment. On the ride are sure to be the Donald F. McPhersons, Ira C. Darling, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Ketcham, Howard W. Fenton, who rides "Rosie Morgan"; Miss Eula Mitchell on "Andy," Clark J. Lawrence, Miss Susan Badgerow, and probably Kenneth Curtis.

This week Maj. Nordheimer tells us plans are to be formulated for a World's Fair horse show to be held the first week of October probably at the Coliseum (this ring is favored because of its proximity to the Century of Progress grounds). Gen. Frank Parker, Prince Michael Cantacuzene, and a dozen other men who "know" horses are interested in putting on a show equal to that staged in Madison Square Garden every year.

Group to Spend Month Ranching

And still more interesting "equestrian" news. On April 21 Mr. and Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Curtis, and 8 year old Lolita Nichols, who is a cousin of Mrs. Mitchell, are leaving for a month or more of ranching in California. They will take the train as far as the Grand Canyon where the Mitchells' new aero-car will be waiting to take them on to Juan y Lolita Rancho.

This car is little less than a house on wheels . . . beds, tables, chairs, even a shower bath. And better yet, Mr. Curtis, who towers at least six feet three, can stand up straight in it. At the Mitchells' Lolita ranch the big event is to be the annual pilgrimage of the "Rancheros Vistiadores" the first four or five days of May.

This is in more descriptive terms a revival of the old western ranching parties when cowboys set out on a week's visit to all the ranches in the neighboring countryside. All of Mr. Mitchell's men guests will put on typical cowboy suits of that day and visit the Clarence Mitchells' ranch [although they are now in Paris] and every other ranch house in the vicinity on their three or four day ride.

Meantime Mrs. Mitchell will entertain Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Curtis, little Miss Nichols, and some of her California friends at her own ranch house. Mrs. Mitchell is to remain for the summer at her home, El Mirador, at Montecito, where her mother, Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, also is planning to be. Mrs. Armour is now at the Arizona Biltmore in Phoenix.

On May 22, however, Mr. Mitchell is to leave for Chicago with Karl von Litten of Pasadena, Hal Curtis of Los Angeles, Elmer Awl, John Gamble, and Joseph Plunkett, to be here for the opening of A Century of Progress. He plans to make the trip in his aerocar which we will wager will be one of the spectacular exhibits of the fair if he takes it inside the exposition grounds.

Annual Luncheon of Red Cross

The smart place to be for luncheon today will be the gold ballroom of the Congress hotel where the executive committee of the Chicago chapter of the American Red Cross will be giving a luncheon and holding its annual meeting, for most of society is interested in some degree in the work of the Red Cross, particularly what it is doing now.

Harvey D. Gibson, chairman of the Red Cross New York Emergency Unemployment Relief committee and a worker with the Red Cross during the world war, will speak at the luncheon, and some of those who will hear him are Mrs. Charles Garfield King, who will wear her Red Cross uniform of war days if she can locate it in its packing of moth balls in time; Mr. and Mrs. James B. Forgan Jr. (he will preside), Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Miss Margot Atkin, the Charles S. Deweys, the Frank G. Logans, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, Mrs. Paul Walker, Mrs. Orville J. Taylor, Mrs. John J. Mitchell, Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, Mrs. C. Farwell Winston, Gen. and Mrs. Frank Parker, Gen. Abel Davis, the Gilbert Scribners, George E. Scott, Col. and Mrs. Hugh Scott, Mrs. Richardson Dunham, Mrs. Ira Frank, Mrs. Richard L. Stearns, and Dr. and Mrs. Duncan H. Browne.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson arrive today and during their brief stay they will be in the James Simpsons' apartment at 1200 Lake Shore drive—the Simpsons will not return from the east until the end of the week. Tonight Mrs. King is entertaining at dinner at her residence on State parkway for Mr. and Mrs. Gibson.

Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank is entertaining at dinner tonight in her hospitable and attractive home on North State parkway for the Egon Petris, who are the house guests of the C. Barney Goodspeeds during their visit to Chicago.

Polo Tourney Opens Tonight

When Gen. Parker tosses the ball in the ring this evening at the 124th Field Artillery armory in Washington park he will open the 1933 national indoor polo championships to continue through the next three weeks. There is sure to be a festive crowd on hand for the opening, with two of our local fifteen goal teams competing for the highest score.

Mrs. Prentice Porter is to be in a box with her mother, Mrs. Fletcher M. Durbin, and William M. Collins Jr.

Horowitz Adds Excitement to Stock Concert

Pianist Stirs Audience to Demonstration.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Vladimir Horowitz still remains the most exciting of the pianists who come to play with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. He returned yesterday afternoon in that capacity and aroused the audience to approval quite as demonstrative as ever. Incidentally, the medium of the arousal was the work with which he started a young riot on his first appearance in Chicago several years ago, Rachmaninoff's Third Concerto.

He was preluded by a magnificent if not quite so spectacular a performance at the hands of Mr. Stock and the orchestra. The first half of the program was of Beethoven, the third "Leonore" Overture, and the "Eroica" Symphony. This was Beethoven at his finest. It was also Mr. Stock and the orchestra at their finest, and their finest is something with which to challenge the world.

But the fireworks began when Mr. Horowitz took the stage. This Rachmaninoff concerto is a most deceptive work. It starts ever so gently and persuasively with a pretty little tune played softly in octaves on the piano and accompanied quite as softly. Slowly and by degrees it begins to build itself up until the first thing you know you are leaning forward in your chair and almost swept away by sheer bewildering magic.

It is this quality of tension that puts the Horowitz playing in a class by itself. It is super-pianism, of course, but there is something more to it than that, and excitement is about the only word that describes it. He piled marvel upon marvel yesterday, until the final chord fairly bounced him off his stool and upon his feet, and you down in the hall had a good deal of the same impulse for your own sake.

Then it was the turn of the audience. They staged just about as good a show as he had done. They made it a triumph for him alone, or at least they would have done so if he had not dragged the protesting Mr. Stock out from behind the piano to indicate that he had been a co-star in the performance, which, of course, he had.

Mr. Horowitz will play again tomorrow night and Friday afternoon. This time it will be Beethoven's "Emperor" Concerto.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Colgate Hoyt have come from Glen Cove to the Park Avenue club.

Mrs. Raymond H. Allen returned today on the Majestic and rejoined her mother, Mrs. Bethel Blanton Tatum, at the Park Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederic R. Coudert Jr. are at the Piping Rock club before opening their country place at Oyster Bay.

The marriage of Miss Gertrude Schuyler Vander Poel, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Oakley Vander Poel, to Philip Highborn of Washington, will take place on May 1 in the Church of the Resurrection.

Sports Wear Jewelry Wins Wise Shopper

New Carved Ivory Shown for Other Occasions.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Doggy bracelets are featured in one shop. They are leather covered metal rings sporting a buckle and a miniature of either a Scotty or an Airedale. These tan leather bracelets are matched with barpins also decorated with a colored miniature of the kind of pup you like.

You can also bet on some new equine costume jewelry, good looking stuff to wear with your newest riding habits. There are leather covered barpins and bracelets with colored round discs of a horse's head. In addition there are bit bracelets and pins, small exact replicas of a bridle bit in gold or silver metal. Very amazing price tags are tied to these new things with price marks much lower than you ever thought possible for such swanky sports jewelry.

Cunning new pieces of carved ivory also are on display. They are dramatic decorations for all dark colored street and afternoon dresses. Carved bracelets exquisitely portray the ancient, twisting, fire breathing dragons and are especially interesting, while cunningly carved earrings showing a wee Chinese houseboat dangling from a small pendant are the most perfect of hand carvings. Even the tiny windows have been carved and with a twist of an invisible slide these same microscopic window panes open and close. Necklaces in three lengths are available as well as all kinds of simple ball earrings with just a scroll or two carved into the lovely white surface.

If you have been looking for gray cigaret cases now is the time to buy, for some of the newer gray things have been known to vanish almost over night. The clever snakeskin patterned enamels are knockouts, especially those with gleaming black back sections. You can find some squares, some of the very long and narrow oblongs that hold a plentiful supply and, of course, all of the various sized round models. Exceptionally swanky white and black oblong shaped cigaret cases are effective with all the fashionable white accessories that spring fashion hounds are clutching in their hands.

The gal who yearns for tortoise shell accessories can, at last, find some clever copies with price tags that can be introduced to slender budgets without apologies. Stunning golden brown necklaces, bracelets, earrings, cigaret cases, and vanity compacts, practically anything and everything that you will need of this delightful contrast color for redheads especially.

Stunning new handbags are fitted with clasps, frames, and ornaments of this fascinating amber colored stuff, and what is probably the snootiest traveling case of the season is one of ginger brown leather fitted with all the dressing table toiletries of simulated tortoise shell that will keep even an expert undecided as to whether it is or isn't genuine.

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior after losing their fortune in Chicago. Great-Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. When Blake returns to Agate Bay he takes Meryl with him to be his bride. Meryl learns after the wedding ceremony, through Lucia, a snobbish cousin of the Lawrences, that Blake married her as an escape from Christine, the wife of Julius Greer, with whom he had been in love. Meryl prepares to return home. Theresa, Blake's sister, persuades her to stay for six months for Blake's sake, whom she still loves, and not to hurt her people. Theresa promises to teach her social service work. The Greers give a dinner dance for Blake and his bride.

INSTALLMENT XXVII.

THE SMILING MASQUERADE.

In spite of his smile there was a restraint in Blake's manner, which, Meryl knew, had not been there before.

"Well, well! But I'm forgetting my duties." Julius turned to his companions. "Gentlemen—Mrs. Blake Lawrence. And these good fellows, my dear, are Mr. Newcombe, Mr. Frobisher, Mr. Clark, and Mr. Hartmann."

The men shook hands.

Julius poured Blake a drink from a huge crystal decanter that stood on the long, inlaid mahogany table, which Meryl saw now was strewn with papers and heavy books that looked like ledgers.

"I suppose the little lady prefers Christine's pink cocktails," Julius twitted Meryl good humoredly as he handed Blake the glass.

"I don't care for either, thank you," Meryl replied frankly.

"No?" Julius winked sagely. "Just as well! Blake, my boy, it's a great occasion!" He turned expansively and laid a hand on Blake's shoulder. "We've got the thing cinched! Abner here, has seen the light at last."

"Don't you think you owe me one little afternoon."

"It's a very small light I see, yet," he protested gently.

"Watch it grow, Abner!" Julius replied.

Blake took a sip from his glass. "You mean—you're going ahead with the Thor project?" he asked quietly.

"Going ahead!" Julius said derisively. "We're there already, my boy!"

"I suppose I must congratulate you," Blake observed.

Julius became very grave. "Blake," he said, "I hate to see you holding back on this. It's the chance of a lifetime. Why not come into it with us—on the ground floor? Your old dad would have jumped at a proposition like this if he had lived to see it."

"You know very well what my old dad would have thought of it," said Blake. "Just what I think of it. And you've known my opinion from the very first."

Meryl, looking on, felt bewildered and uncomfortable. But Julius Greer seemed unperturbed, even amused.

"In this day and age, my boy," he chuckled, "your peculiar brand of idealism is nothing but sentimentality."

"My peculiar brand of idealism, Julius," Blake said in a leisurely way, "may be nothing but sentimentality. But it prevents a man's doing what he may regret later."

"Rubbish, Blake!" Julius expostulated. "Your regret will come later—when our stock is at two hundred. But——we'd better be going; Christine will be hopping on me if I don't look out."

Julius stepped over and offered his arm to Meryl.

"Come along, little lady," he invited. "You and I are going to have a talk about that north country of ours before the evening is over."

The Greers' gold and white ballroom, with the six piece orchestra tucked away in a dim balcony, was to remain in Meryl's memory for a long time thereafter as a gorgeous nightmare. Thirty or forty people had dropped in for dancing after dinner.

Meryl had played up to them all. She was tired of it now. Sick to the very soul of the pretense, her body one great ache from the smiling masquerade—one great yearning to be back again in the simple and honest friendliness of the north shore. She had danced, with Blake as often as was seemly and had laughed up into his face as though from sheer happiness whenever Lucia or Christine happened to be anywhere in sight. She had played up!

And now, at one o'clock, her knees were stiff from the effort to keep them from trembling. But for Theresa's sturdy hand on her arm, as they stood together at the entrance to the conservatory, she felt that at last she must yield to the impulse to run away from it all.

"You've been damn game," Theresa whispered fervidly and squeezed her arm. "I'm proud of you. We'll go as soon as Blake finishes this dance with Christine."

Meryl sat down on a gilt chair beside an open window of the conservatory. "Dance beautifully together," she said.

Theresa smiled. "Jealous?"

Meryl sat down on a gilt chair beside an open window of the conservtory. "Don't be silly, Theresa," she protested. "This is just the second dance they've had together."

Theresa sat down beside and patted her shoulder affectionately. "You have sporting blood, my dear."

Christine was dancing with Blake, a slow waltz.

"Why don't you talk to me, Blake?" she asked, swaying faintly backward from him as she looked up and examined his face.

"You know I'm no talker, Christine," he replied.

Christine smiled cynically. "You talked enough during our first dance—about things that mean nothing to me."

"I'm sorry, Christine," he told her.

She looked up at him again, as though intent upon remembering every lineament of his face. Thank God, she had that way with every one, Blake thought. It had been those stock tricks of hers that had kept Julius and every one, outside the immediate family, from guessing long ago.

"Are you happy, Blake?" she asked abruptly.

"Supremely," he replied, and looked at her with an expression that told nothing. "You were a peach to do this for us, Christine. Meryl has had a lovely time, I know."

She seemed not to have heard. "You have never told me anything about—how it all happened," she said. "Don't you think you owe me one little afternoon?"

Blake set himself against any small, secret gesture of capitulation to her. "It wouldn't be fair—to any of us, Christine."

"O, Blake!" Her body seemed to grow lax all at once as she breathed his name.

"I'm more sorry than I can tell you, Christine," he said.

She was silent for a moment. "This will be our last dance together—for a long time, Blake," she said at last.

"Why?"

"I am going to Florida for a couple of months."

"To Florida?"

"I can't stay here," she murmured. "I'm heartsick of—of everything."

"We'll miss you, Christine," he remarked with polite regret.

"I shall love being missed," she replied, capturing Blake's mood. "Perhaps, after a couple of months—I shall be missed—even more."

"Time will tell, Christine," he said, and felt very prosaic.

He could not quite fathom the look she gave him then. But her body became vibrant for the remainder of the waltz.

Garat to Use Train and His Auto for Trip

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 11.—[Special.]—Henri Garat has devised an unusual way of getting back to New York. He has an automobile to which, his wife, Betty Rowe, English dancer, says, "Henri is quite devoted," and he sent the car ahead of him by train as far as Chicago. It will be taken off the train there and Henri and Betty will follow in another train, leaving here tomorrow and getting to Chicago Saturday. They will spend a short time in Chicago, and drive the rest of the way to New York in the automobile.

It really is quite a car. Garat sent over from France for an American chassis when he was in Paris, designed his own auto body, and exhibited it in a Paris automobile body show, winning a medal.

"It makes Henri so conceited," his wife says, with a twinkle, "he even gets out of bed in the middle of the night to walk out to the garage and gaze at his beautiful car, his own creation."

Katharine Hepburn came back from the east with her inevitable new design in headgear. The hat she wore this time was a knitted gray affair, with the top open, but pulled together with something that looked like a key ring. She also wore a gray two piece suit, the jacket being quite short, skirt with bell effect and not so short, gunmetal hose, black pumps, and an air of hearty good humor which prompted an occasional chuckle as she said, "People don't know whether I am married or whether I'm single; they don't know whether I have 65 million dollars or whether I'm dead broke—and I am going to let them keep on guessing."

Vicki Baum, German author of "Grand Hotel," has let a contract for a two story brick home here, to include nine rooms, five baths, four of which will be marble and tile; wall heaters, swimming pool, etc. She's going to live in Hollywood and write for the movies.

Objections to HelpingMother Only a Phase

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Today we are continuing our advice on dealing with in-betweens—those children (both boys and girls) who lie, so far as age is concerned, between very little childhood and adolescence. The suggestions are being listed in businesslike form. Going on from yesterday, we'll consider:

Behavior trouble: Objections to doing chores in the house or out and helping generally. Cause: During the very early years "helping mother" is an adventure and means the exercise of new found powers; later when the element of discovery is missing and it becomes a duty, children usually lose both the interest and desire.

Advice: Make a game of helping; be free in bestowing praise for help; use a "let's work together" attitude; find some aim or incentive so that the boy or girl is interested in the reason or need for doing the work, such as being a great help, saving mother money, making the house or grounds look attractive, or merely learning useful things. When old enough it is sometimes wise to explain that as a home belongs to every one in the family, every one should do something toward the work of keeping it orderly, clean, and attractive.

Trouble: Forgetfulness and heedlessness. Cause: Being a child! Seriously though, responsibility comes slowly and in spots; what we think important is often not so to a child, so he forgets it; also, what we may be fearful or cautious or careful about is not taken into a child's consideration because his mind is on other things—so we call him heedless.

Advice: Expect only a few things of a child when you first expect anything of him; then, without nagging try to see what he does remember or do what you are sure it is within his power to do. If he fails, get together and together devise a plan for reminding him. If continued forgetfulness brings great inconvenience in its train, emphasize it when it happens.

Country Rides to Be Renewed Next Saturday

Indian Hill Club Will Open Season.

Then in other boxes around the ring will be Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, James A. Hannah, Charles Ellis, and Brig. Gen. Frank Schwengel. George Bates will be host to Miss Marion Gordon, Frank M. Laughlin Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. William E. Graham.

The eastern stars—Winston Guest, the Gerry brothers, Elbridge and Bobby, and Jimmy Mills—won't be here before Saturday at the earliest, for their matches are not to come off before next week. Mr. and Mrs. Porter are hoping to be well enough settled in Lake Forest by then to have Mr. Mills as their house guest. They are moving from their apartment in Delaware place today.

Enjoy Lecture at Swift Home.

Mrs. John H. Storrs was interesting, amusing, and touching in her talk on "Menages et Menages" [Housekeeping and Married Couples] yesterday in Mrs. Gustavus F. Swift's paneled and tapestry hung drawing room that is dominated by a painting of three of her children, Geraldine, Marie, and Gustavus F. Jr.

Mrs. Storrs' listeners were junior members of the Alliance Francais, among them Miss Lucy Miller, talking of Wheaton for the summer, Miss Margaret Goehst, Miss Mira Lee Benoist in blue with a yellow tie and gloves, Miss Peggy Wiley, Miss Alice Bremner, and Miss Lucy Harrison, who is debutanting next year—a lovely, dark haired young lady who reminds one of the former Constance Hesler.

After the conference Miss Louise Dewey, smart in black, and Miss Beatrice Kirk, just home from Bermuda, tanned and also wearing black with a large silver fox scarf, poured at either end of the lace covered table which had for its decoration a silver bowl of delicate ferns, guarded by two silver peacocks.

Mrs. Swift, in black and white with gold embroidered dots, and Miss Geraldine Swift in brown print, welcomed the guests.

Never until we heard the charming Mrs. Annette Hoyt Flanders, landscape architect of New York, talk yesterday on "The Use of Garden Furniture and Ornaments" did we in our ignorance—our old garden is the most informal sort of place where children and puppies romp around at will—realize how easy it is to make a mistake in gardening.

The talk was made at a luncheon given at Field's for Mrs. Flanders. Among the well known socialites present who count gardening among their hobbies were Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, who entertained at tea for Mrs. Flanders the day before, Mrs. Ronald Boardman, Mrs. Charles W. Dempster, Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Mrs. Victor C. Sanborn, Mrs. Langdon Pearse, Mrs. George Halleck Taylor, Mrs. David M. Yates, Mrs. Thomas Eddy, Mrs. Hermon D. Smith, Mrs. Stanley L. Yonce, Mrs. McPherson Holt, and Mr. and Mrs. Lansing B. Warner.

Marjorie Horton Sets Wedding Date

May 13 has been chosen by Miss Marjorie Horton, daughter of Mrs. Samuel M. Rinaker, for her wedding to Winston Elting, son of Victor Elting of Winnetka. They will be married in the Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sackett of Evanston have announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Reginald David Crocker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clinton Crocker of Spooner, Wis. The wedding is to take place in June.

Edward F. Swift will be leaving around the 25th of this month for Pasadena, where he will claim Mrs. Kathryn Thompson Mather as his bride on the 29th.

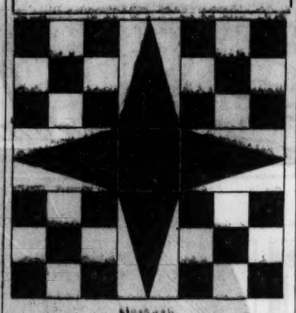
Mary Thomas, Daughter of Socialist Chief, Engaged

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thomas announced today the engagement of their eldest daughter, Mary Cecil, to Herbert C. Miller Jr., of Columbus, O., former Yale varsity football player and now completing his last year at Yale medical school. Miss Thomas, whose father was the Socialist candidate for president in 1928 and 1932, is a student at Vassar.

Beauty of Quilt Due to Effective Use of Colors



Nosegay.

BY NANCY CABOT.

The "Nosegay" quilt, which is a combination of the nine-patch principle and "World Without End," is one of the more modern patterns. This is one pattern where much of the effectiveness is lost unless color is attractively used. The bouquet idea will take shape, and charm and character be assumed, when the block is pieced in the appropriate colors—the nine-patch in pink and white materials and the center in green.

For a pattern of this quilt design, send 5 cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

Women Plan Fair Welcome for Scientists

The program of the scientific women of Chicago for participation in A Century of Progress will be reviewed tonight by a representative group of the women comprising the Medical, Dental and Allied Science Women's Association for A Century of Progress, Inc. That title is the only cumbersome thing about the alert organization that has placed itself prominently on the feminine map by its far-sighted, profound but entertaining schedule for the 1933 World's Fair.

More than a year ago they set to work. They haven't slighted the job for a single month. Their program is three-ply and versatile.

The scientific woman who presents herself at the headquarters of the organization is due to find its members equipped to provide her with the type of entertainment she desires.

Suppose she is an earnest soul who wants to improve her opportunities in Chicago, to visit the famous and instructive clinics or hospitals. Not only can she get definite advice about which to choose, but she will be instructed in detail what transportation to use, or, if she is sufficiently celebrated, transportation will be provided for her.

Suppose it's companionship the visitor craves. Then the efficient hostess on duty will see to it that a small luncheon party is organized, to which will be invited the particular women whose conversation and exchange of information would be most interesting and helpful to that individual.

This eager hospitality will be dispensed from the hostess booth in the Social Science building, of which Dr. Annabel C. Test ich chairman. But it is only one-third of the total job of the scientific women. Another one-third is being administered under the chairmanship of Dr. Eloise Parsons, in space on the Enchanted Island. Plans are complete for clinics to be held in this juvenile realm.

Dr. Lena Sadler is chairman of the third feature—the exhibit in the Hall of Science, across the lagoon from the Social Science building. The focal point of this unit will be a mammoth book, the leaves of which will be canvases four by six feet in size, each representing some advance in the story of maternal hygiene during the last 100 years.

From the Indian woman whose baby has just arrived in a tepee down to the most approved hospital equipment for the modern mother, historic, symbolic and scientific phases will be blended in these paintings.

Dr. Bertha Van Hoosen is president of the group. Dr. Edith Lowry, secretary, and co-chairman with Dr. Iva Lee Grant on bulletin and publicity, will discuss the program tonight when the Medical Women's Club of Chicago, which she heads, has its meeting in the Woman's University club tonight. Miss Herma Clark of The Tribune staff will be a guest speaker.

Nature Puts on Colors for Bright Easter

Early Flowers Bloom in Parks of City.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Nature is busy providing a proper spring setting for the Easter parade next Sunday, a survey of the parks revealed yesterday. The first blossoms of spring have made their appearance, the grass is a bright green, elms are blooming, the catkins are out on alders, and sticky green leaves are opening on lilacs, spirea, honeysuckle and other shrubbery.

Lavender, yellow and white crosuses were in full bloom, and the white and heavenly blue of the grape hyacinth were noticeable here and there in the grass, as well as the modest blue flower, the scilla. The forsythia, whose yellow blooms are among the first in spring, are ready to burst their buds, Lincoln park flower experts reported.

Ducks and geese are beginning to build their nests, the ducks in bushes on the banks of the Lincoln park lagoons, the geese choosing an inclosed area. Peacocks are spreading their tails in token of the urge of spring and the courting season.

In the Garfield park conservatory the annual spring flower show, with 25,000 plants on display, is in progress and the Lincoln park conservatory at the foot of Fullerton avenue will display 15,000 Easter lilies, roses, cinerarias, tulips and hyacinths beginning Friday.

Along Michigan avenue and the near north side, signs were noticeable in parkings asking protection for the struggling grass.

Venders selling potted plants were in evidence along the avenue. Women appeared in spring coats and millinery and several men were seen with carnations in their buttonholes as they strolled along the drive.

Fifteen thousand Easter rabbits will be sold in Chicago by Saturday night to parents whose children insist on concrete demonstration of the Easter rabbit myth, it was predicted by Arthur Weygandt, 7408 Normal avenue, secretary of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association. The rabbits retail at 60 cents to $1 each, he said.

Some Folk Can Make Life Pay Rich Divdends

BY DORIS BLAKE.

How can one acquire the flair for life and living that makes certain people irresistible?

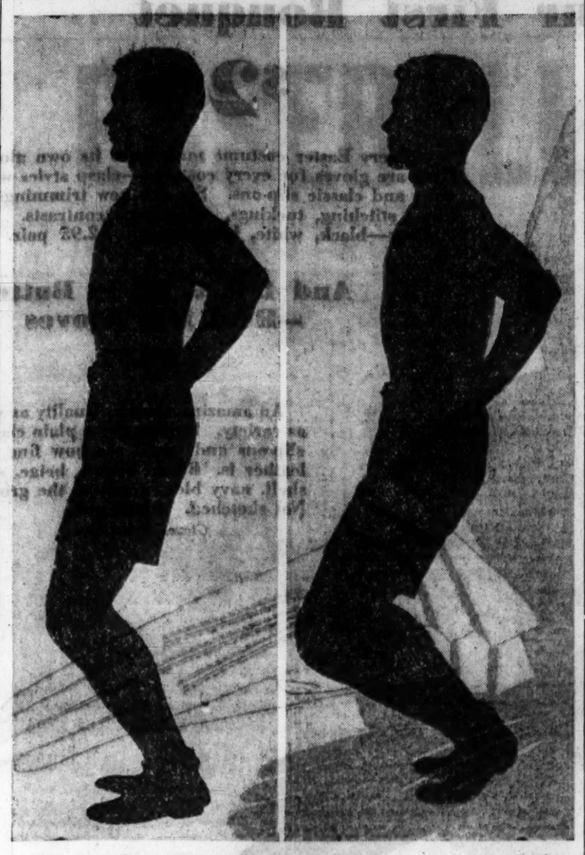
"Lou" would like to know. There is something lacking in her—and she believes it's this very thing. She's not drab, nor sour, nor cynical—but there doesn't seem much to be enthusiastic about, as she meets life. When you've gone with one young man for three years the first year's enthusiasm is dulled later on, she argues.

The first lady of our land, Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt, stands preeminently as one with a real flair for life and living. Of course, some will argue that as the wife of a President or as the wife of a former governor and man in the public eye for years she has unusual advantages to crowd her day and life with interests that make for restful living. Yet there are scores of women whose lives offer wide contacts who never take advantage of them. They simply haven't the zest for doing things, going places, meeting people, widening their horizons.

This is something that lies wholly and solely with the individual. Not even a small community will restrict the one bent on making every day pay for itself in rich returns. Denied one outlet, another is created. If personal contacts are denied there is a new world of friends to make in literature.

However, it is the spirit that counts in making of life a complete and full adventure. One individual might walk down a street and see nothing but a row of houses. Another would return with impressions and anecdotes to dispense. The latter's mind is keyed to take in things, to see life as others see it, to live the moment fully.

Limbers the Muscles



Hands on hips. First, make a one-quarter bend and recover; then, a one-half bend. Recover. Practice these until you get the thigh and leg muscles limbered.

An Exercise for Stiff Knees Proves Helpful

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The most striking looking people—men or women—met in a day's walk are individuals with good spines and good feet. The youngest looking, too! They may be 20, 40, 60—but if their spines are in condition to hold their bodies up smartly and the muscles of legs and feet are good for a quick, energetic, and enduring stride they're set for a long and merry life yet.

One of the most famous athletic directors judged a man's ability by his walk, his stride, and spring. He put great emphasis on the condition of the knee joint determining here a man's vitality or lack of it.

We see people walking along the street whose knees seem to be plowing a way through for them. A beach survey shows what these knee weaknesses do in bone formation.

Continuity of motion, ease of carriage, and elasticity of gait are impossible under weak or stiff kneed circumstances.

Now, for just this part of the anatomy for the legs, today you are given the first two movements of the squatting exercise. Tomorrow the third movement will be given. But because this exercise in its entirety is a little difficult for one out of muscle practice I want you to take it in the three parts, the first two described under today's illustration.

You will see, yourself, how good is this exercise for the thighs as well as the legs and feet.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

DETECTIVE ADAMS' QUICK PERCEPTION.

"You know, Jim," soliloquized Fordney, "I've got some pretty smart boys in that class of mine! It's gratifying to see the strides most of them are making."

"You're like an old hen with a bunch of chicks," retorted Kelley, squinting at his friend through cigar smoke. "What mental Herculean feat has one of them accomplished now, may I ask!"

The professor chuckled good naturedly. "You know how I've drilled the importance of observation into them—well, the Carter arrest was the result of that. It wasn't a serious affair, but it might have been.

"Detective Charles Adams and Bill Jeffries were driving their squad car towards the station. It was 7:45 a. m. Sunday and both boys were tired out from the long hours of night duty. Suddenly Charley, turning to his companion and pointing to a passing car asked, 'What's wrong with it?'"

"'Nothing,' sleepily retorted Jeffries. The car's occupants, an elderl, man driving and a boy sitting in the middle of the back seat, his lips puckered in a whistle, were rambling along at a leisurely pace—both ordinary, unsuspicious looking individuals! Also everything about the old open Ford was in order. Yet Adams knew something was wrong!

"Motioning the car to the curb he discovered two ten gallon kegs of alcohol on the floor between the front and back seats!

"Charley really wanted to let the fellow drive on, but after stopping them he had to bring them in."

"Just a hunch," grunted Kelley in reply to Fordney's question. "Why did they stop the car?"

Crown Roasts Now Cooked Upside Down

Meat Authority Explains New Method.

BY MARY MEADE.

It's quite the accepted thing for crowns to be upset these days, but had you heard about the latest one to go topsy-turvy?

No potentate's crown this time, but a crown of lamb or pork which may now be seen sizzling in the oven quite upside down and liking it! The reason is that as long as we held to the right side up method we had to top the Frenched rib ends with baby potatoes or chunks of salt pork, or wrap them in bacon to keep them from entirely frizzling up and scorching themselves. Now one of our leading Chicago authorities on meat cookery gives us the upside down ideas as a solution.

This is the trick. Have the meat prepared at the market in the usual way for a crown roast. If it is made from the saddle of veal it should be cleaned of all fat and the rib bones freed from meat two inches from the ends. The butcher will then tie the roast together for you in a circle to resemble a crown. The bones should be on the outside and the sides tied or sewed together. If your crown is to come from a lamb, about six ribs from each side of a rack of lamb will be needed.

And now comes the trick. Instead of roasting as usual, place the crown in the pan with the rib ends downwards and roast. When the meat is tender turn the crown back on its proper base and fill with cooked vegetables, a cauliflower cooked whole and dressed with parsley butter, mashed potatoes, or whatever your favorite accompaniment for this roast may be.

All this, however, is supposing you do not have a desire to fill up your crown with its stuffing before giving it to the oven, and thus roast it in its complete ensemble. If those are your predilections then more power to you, but don't forget to protect the rib ends during the roasting.

But if yours is to be a roasted stuffing, make it a delectable one. The Germans have a creation which adapts itself nobly to American tables. It's perhaps the ideal solution of what to serve at Easter dinner.

GERMAN VEAL CROWN ROAST WITH MUSHROOMS.

1 saddle veal
1 cup chopped raw veal
3 to 4 cups fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter
1-3 cup water
2 eggs, well beaten
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ cup soft bread crumbs
Small new potatoes [one for each rib]

Buy the veal saddle fat-free and Frenched on the ends of the ribs. Have the butcher sew it into a crown shape. See that the ribs are trimmed and not too long. Wrap strips of bacon about the base of the roast and set it in a deep roasting pan. Heat the butter and water and simmer the cleaned, sliced mushrooms in this till tender. Add the eggs, veal, seasonings, and bread crumbs. Mix well. Now stuff the crown and stretch more bacon slices over the top. It's well to feather [snip with the scissors] these strips at the sides before laying them on. Lastly impale a small peeled potato on each rib end and sear in a hot oven [450 degrees F.] for 20 minutes. Then reduce the heat to 325 degrees F. [slow oven] and roast for from 2 to 2½ hours.

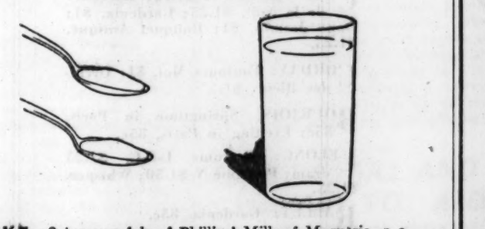
HOW TO TELL IF YOU HAVE ACID STOMACH

And How to Stop It Instantly

THE SIGNS OF ACID STOMACH

Nervousness
Neuralgia
Indigestion
Auto-intoxication
Sour Stomach
Mouth Acidity
Nausea
Loss of Appetite
Frequent Headaches
Feeling of Weakness
Sleeplessness

WHAT TO DO FOR IT



TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

According to many authorities, some 80% of the people of today have acid stomach. This because so many foods, comprising the modern diet, are acid forming foods.

It usually makes itself felt in headaches, nausea, "gas," "biliousness," and most frequently in stomach pains that come about thirty minutes after eating. So you can easily tell if you have it.

Now Quickly and Easily Corrected

If you do have acid stomach, don't worry about it. You can correct it in a very simple manner. Just do this. It will alkalize your acid soaked stomach almost immediately. You will feel like another person.

TAKE—2 teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia with a glass of water every morning when you get up. Take another teaspoonful thirty minutes after eating. And another before you go to bed.

What This Does

That's all you do. But you do it regularly, EVERY DAY, so long as you have any symptoms of distress.

This acts to neutralize the stomach acids that foster your "upset" stomach, that invite headaches and that feeling of lassitude and lost energy.

Try it. Results will amaze you. Your head will be clear. You'll forget you have a stomach.

BUT—be careful that you get REAL milk of magnesia when you buy; genuine PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia. See that the name "Phillips" is stamped clearly on the label.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM:

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

HOW NEW YORK GIRLS MAKE HAIR SOFT AND WAVY

EVERYWHERE in New York, you see girls doing their hair the new way! Their hair seems fairly to sparkle. It looks so soft, too, and it is always neat, clean, well-groomed.

This way just suits busy girls. Takes just a moment to put a few dashes of Danderine on your brush when you arrange your hair. An hour of any other treatment wouldn't do more!

The crust of dandruff is promptly dissolved. Scalp is cleansed, soothed, invigorated. Hair stops coming out; is encouraged to grow long, thick, abundant by Danderine's consistent use. It makes hair easier to arrange; holds in in place.

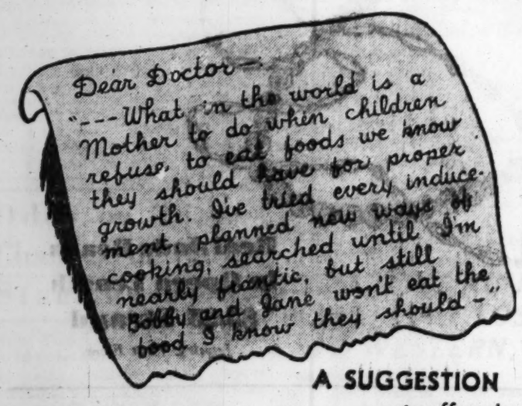
Distracted Mother writes specialist because her Children won't eat what they should:



Dear Doctor—
---What in the world is a Mother to do when children refuse to eat foods we know they should have for proper growth. We tried every inducement, planned new ways of cooking, searched until I'm nearly frantic, but still Bobby and Jane won't eat the food I know they should—"

A SUGGESTION is offered

"Nearly all mothers struggle at some time with the problem of children's fussy appetites, and when this assumes the proportion of refusing nearly all good foods, it is indeed serious. Frequently, when other things fail, I suggest CREAMETTES, a tempting Macaroni product. You can serve it with melted butter, or with vegetables, or even as a custard dessert and many other tempting dishes. CREAMETTES rank high in food value and may teach your child to eat new foods because of its taste appeal." (Two large packages at your grocer cost only 15 cents.)

Umpires—Armsby, McGowan, and Summers.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—A train ride from the loop was all Chicago's White Sox needed today to put them in position to assist the Browns in opening the American league's 1933 campaign tomorrow. The south side athletes just lolled back in their Pullman seats and oozed confidence, most of which grew from the exhibition triumphs they accomplished against the Cubs over the week-end.

EDDIE DURHAM.

The little matter of confidence is almost a unique feature with a White Sox team. For the last dozen years it hasn't been present. Almost annually the boys have sat around and grumbled, even before the season started. But there's none of that now. No cliques have formed and no mumbled complaints have been made against manager or owner. What might spring up in another month is anybody's guess, but for the present at least the athletes are anticipating getting more than a little fun out of their work.

Durham Will Pitch.

Up to arrival time here this evening Manager Lew Fonseca hadn't backed down on his revised scheme of starting Ed Durham, late of Boston, instead of Ted Lyons. Neither will there be a shift back to the original plan tomorrow. That is, there'll be no change if Durham pronounces himself ready. His arm was a bit sore after serving the Cubs unhittable pitches last Sunday, but the stiffness had vanished this afternoon and a recurrence overnight will be the one thing that might throw the honorary assignment back on Lyons' broad shoulders.

The Browns, from all indications, are going to spring Irving Hadley on the Sox tomorrow. Hadley tarried with the Sox last spring on his way from Washington to this place, so naturally he will do the best he can to convince Fonseca a mistake was made when the deal was consummated. Of course, the Sox hitters such as Al Simmons, Mule Haas, Fonseca and others will be equally industrious endeavoring to show Hadley that they would rather have him pitching against them than for them.

Browns a Little Shy.

The Browns haven't been given much of a tumble by those predicting the outcome of the races and the slight may prove justified. There hasn't been much improvement in Bill Killefer's team since last season. Trades brought in Carl Reynolds and Sam West from Washington, but took away the picturesque Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte. The Browns lost some hitting strength in that swap with the foxy Clark Griffith, and hitting was one item of which they were painfully shy.

The situation with the Sox promises to be the reverse. They'll have the attack if a few gentlemen don't stumble into broken ankles or such. The fielding over the season's stretch will be good enough because replacements can be made in the one or two spots were the defense is doubtful. Such changes will mean a slight loss on attack, but this will be of no consequence if the pitchers hold up their part of the load. If they can carry it there will be some reason to clamor for a first division berth.

TORONTO WHIPS RANGERS, 3 TO 2, IN 3D CUP GAME

Leafs Come from Behind to Prolong Series.

TORONTO, Ont., April 11. — (AP) — The Toronto Maple Leafs fought their way back from defeat tonight and whipped the New York Rangers, 3 to 2, to remain in the running for the Stanley cup.

It was Toronto's first victory in the three contests played and it had to win to prevent the series from ending. The Rangers had taken the first two games, 5 to 1 and 3 to 1, and need only one more triumph to win the trophy. The fourth of the five-game series will be played here Thursday.

Doraty Provides Drive.

Ken Doraty, the smallest player on the team, provided the inspiration that pulled the Leafs back after they had gone a goal down in the first period. He scored two goals. Doraty saved the situation when he snared a loose puck out of a scrimmage near the Rangers goal in the second period and tied the score at 1 to 1. He put the Leafs ahead for the first time early in the final period by sinking his own rebound after a dash through the New York defense.

Outscored and outplayed in the first period, when Cecil Dillon, scored an unassisted goal to establish a new modern playoff record of eight, the Leafs rallied after Doraty's goal and had all the better of the last two periods.

Keeling Ties Scores.

Butch Keeling tied the score for the second time two minutes after Doraty sank his third period goal, but the tie lasted only a few seconds before Red Horner went down with two forwards and took a double pass to drive home the winning goal.

Toronto lost the services of Irvin Bailey, veteran right winger, for the rest of the season. He had a cartilage in his knee torn when Ching Johnson flattened him with a terrific body check in the second period.

Penalties, of which 20 were meted out in the rough game, proved costly to the Rangers. Ossie Osmundson was off the ice when Joe Primeau started the mass play that brought the first Toronto goal and Ching Johnson was in durance when Doraty scored for the second time.

Dillon Sets Record.

Dillon's feat of scoring eight goals in the playoffs gave him the highest total since the Stanley cup playoffs have been confined to the National Hockey league. The previous record of seven was set by Frank Boucher of the Rangers in 1928 when the New Yorkers won the Stanley cup. Cecil [Babe] Dye of the Toronto St. Pats scored nine times in the 1922 series against Vancouver.

IOWA GETS NINE WALKS, BUT LOSES TO WESTERN, 5-3

Kalamazoo, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—The Western State Teachers college baseball team defeated the University of Iowa today, 5 to 3. Brandt, starting his first college game, walked nine Iowa batters.

De Kalb Teachers Open Season with 12-1 Victory

De Kalb, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—The De Kalb Teachers defeated Joliet Junior college, 12 to 1, here today in the first baseball game of the season for either team. Slattery made Joliet's two hits, one off Johnson and one off Tadd.

APRIL 12—THIS IS BASEBALL'S DAY!

Dizzy Dean, who will pitch for the St. Louis Cardinals today. He has reached midseason form, which means the Cubs will be served speed and wicked curves.

Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs gets a new supply of baseballs for today's National league inaugural game at Wrigley field. He doesn't mind how many balls the Cubs knock over the bleachers, but doesn't favor the Cardinals catching the home run idea.

Lon Warneke was the National league's leading pitcher last year. That's one reason he will have the honor of pitching the season opener for the Cubs today. Strike 'em out, Lon!

Olympics Site May Be Moved from Germany

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—The Olympic games of 1936, now scheduled for Berlin, may instead be held in either Rome or Tokio, probably the former. The decision will be made at a meeting of the international Olympic committee to be held in Vienna June 3, 4, 5, and 6 of this year. Notice of the meeting has just reached Olympic officials of this country. It was learned today.

DR. DANIEL PRENN.

That Olympic and amateur athletic officials of the various nations have been seriously perturbed by political developments of recent weeks in Germany is an open secret. That perturbation was increased a few days ago by the demand of the Nazi press in Germany for the removal of Dr. Theodor Lewald, chairman of the German Olympic committee and president of the Reichsverband (committee of physical training).

Committee Faces Issue.

The removal of Dr. Lewald, who is well known among athletic officials of this country, was demanded, according to the cable dispatches, on the ground that his father was of Jewish descent.

News of the possible disqualification of Dr. Daniel Prenn, German Davis cup tennis star, from the list of Germany's net representatives by the Nazi government because he is a Jew has brought the Olympic track and field officials face to face with the issue.

Games May Be Shifted.

"The Olympic games will not be held in Berlin in 1936 if there is the slightest issue raised at any time on the subject of race or creed," declared one active American Olympic official today. He declined to lend his name to that statement for publication, but he is one of the best informed officials on the subject in the United States.

PRENN FACES DISBARMENT

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 11.—Dr. Daniel Prenn, Germany's tennis hope, may not play on this year's Davis cup team. The German expert seems to suffer from the double inhibition of being a naturalized German of Polish birth and a Jew.

If he is definitely barred from this year's cup matches it will be primarily because of racial reasons, although the German Tennis league has decided to nominate him again for this year's contest. Prenn has already taken up training. He declined to comment on the report he might be barred.

Commissar to Decide.

At the league's office it was stated that nothing could be said on the matter until the government is heard from through the federal commissar of sports, whose appointment is to be announced after Easter. The league is inclined to take a purely sporting attitude on the matter but admits it will have to take orders from the reich government.

Illinois House Passes Bill for 15 Round Boxing Matches

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Fifteen round boxing bouts in Illinois were believed assured today when the Illinois house of representatives passed the Graham bill raising the limit five rounds above the present maximum of ten.

The bill already has passed the senate. All that it requires is the signature of Gov. Horner and that is considered assured. He is said to have indicated definite sympathy with the bill. And a secondary provision is expected to please him. That promises the state increased revenues by raising the tax on receipts from 10 to 15 per cent.

The house passed the bill, 104 to 4, after the single plea for it had been made by Representative John M. Bolton of Chicago, a colleague of Representative Frank M. Ryan from the Second district, who introduced and had pending a bill similar to the Graham measure.

Regulatory Provisions of Bill.

Most of the sections containing the regulatory provisions of the bill, the greater part of the language of which is new to the statute, is as follows:

"No boxing or sparring match or exhibition shall be of more than fifteen rounds in length, such rounds shall not be more than three minutes each with a one minute interval between rounds, and no boxer shall be allowed to participate in more than fifteen rounds within seventy-two consecutive hours. The commission may, in respect to any bout or in respect to any class of contestants, limit the number of rounds of a bout within the maximum of fifteen rounds.

"At each boxing or sparring match or exhibition there shall be in attendance a duly licensed referee, who shall direct and control the same. Before starting such contest the referee shall ascertain from each contestant the name of his chief second and shall hold such chief second responsible for the conduct of his assistant seconds during the progress of the contest.

Referee May Hold Up Purse.

"The referee shall have power, in his discretion, to declare held any prize, remuneration, or purse, or any part thereof, belonging to the contestants or one of them, if, in his judgment, such contestant or contestants are not honestly competing, subject, however, to a hearing before the commission to determine the final order of the commission.

"There shall also be in attendance two duly licensed judges who shall, at the termination of each such boxing or sparring match or exhibition, render their decision. The decision of the judges, taken together with the decision of the referee, shall be final."

U. S. Indoor Polo Tourney Opens Tonight

The national indoor championship polo tournament will start at the 124th field artillery armory, Cottage Grove avenue and 52d street, tonight. The tournament will mark the first bid of Chicago trios for the high goal, or class A title. The two Chicago teams entered, the Chicago Riding club led by Capt. Maxwell M. Corpening and the Sixth Corps area captained by Maj. C. C. [Square] Smith, will meet in tonight's opening game.

MAJ. C. C. SMITH.

Up to now, the indoor tournaments have been held in New York and more recently at the Squadron C armory in Brooklyn. Two years ago, upon his appointment as a member of the executive committee of the Indoor Polo Association of America, under whose auspices the world championship tournaments are held, Herbert J. Lorber of Chicago bid for the tourney in Chicago in 1933.

Chicago Gets Tourney.

Lorber advanced A Century of Progress and the fact that the 124th field artillery armory is the largest indoor polo arena in the country as arguments for Chicago's selection. George Matthews Jr., vice president of the national association, made a trip to the city, then recommended that the tournament be awarded to Chicago.

Until a month ago the best Chicago could hope for in national competition was to enter teams in the B, C, and D classes. Then the Sixth Corps area trio, a 12 goal team, was raised to 15 goals when the handicapping committee increased the ratings of Capt. C. A. Wilkinson and Capt. C. E. Davis to five goals each.

Increase Handicaps.

This gave Chicago a class A team. Capt. Corpening, a six goal star and the highest rated indoor player in the middle west, immediately signed Lieut. Larry Smith, a five goal star, and completed his Chicago Riding club team with Prentice Porter, rated at four goals.

Handicapped at 15 goals each, the teams in tonight's game are evenly matched not only in player strength but also in the class of their ponies. Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, who will throw in the first ball to start the championship game tonight, has mounted the Sixth Corps area team on the pick of the army polo horses. The Chicago Riding club long has been the best mounted team in this district.

Lineups for the curtain raiser to the tournament match will be Don Rice, Joe Bell, and Steve Hammond for the Milwaukee Badgers, and Lieuts. Cliff Harrison, Carl Johnson, and Art Zimmerman for the 122d field artillery.

Tonight's first game will start at 8:30 o'clock. The tournament match lineup:

RIDING CLUB.	Hdcp.	SIXTH CORPS AREA	Hdcp.
Porter	4	No. 1. Capt. Wilkin'n	5
Capt. Corpen'g	6	No. 2. Capt. Davis	5
Lieut. Smith	5	No. 3. Maj. Smith	5

Major League Baseball to Begin in Eight Cities.

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Amid a display of pomp and ceremony designed to suit the occasion, the New York Yankees, who crowned themselves world's champions by beating the Cubs in four straight games last fall, will begin the 1933 championship campaign of the American league at the Stadium tomorrow afternoon before a gathering expected to total about 50,000.

The party of the second part will be the Red Sox of Boston who, operating under a new administration, are expected to do a number of novel things. They are expected to report on time, join in the time honored parade to the flagpole, and then take a beating. In the latter they may rebel, which would add to the interest of the occasion.

Roosevelt to Attend.

Simultaneously, inaugurals will be staged in seven other cities where major league baseball has flourished for many years.

With President Roosevelt a keen observer, the Senators, touted by many as the foremost rivals of the Yankees for American league pennant honors this year, will make their initial bow in Washington under their new pilot, the youthful Joe Cronin, with the venerable Connie Mack's Athletics supplying the opposition.

In the other two openers scheduled for the American circuit the Browns will play host to the White Sox in St. Louis and the Indians and Tigers will come to grips in Detroit.

Giants Go Visiting.

In the National league greater New York's two entries, the Giants and Dodgers, must open their campaigns on foreign fields. The Giants, starting their first season in thirty years without the familiar figure of John McGraw on the bench, will launch their pennant drive in Boston where the greatly remodeled machine, now in the hands of Memphis Bill Terry, will receive its first test under heavy fire against the Braves. Carl Hubbell, talented lefthander, is expected to start the Giants off on the right foot.

In the meantime, the Dodgers will play the Phillies in Philadelphia. William Watson Clark, crack southpaw, is slated by Manager Max Carey to pitch.

Reds to Play Pirates.

In the other two inaugurals in the National league, the champion Cubs, trying hard to forget what happened to them in the world's series last fall, will entertain the Cardinals in Chicago, while in Cincinnati a crowd which already has bought up all the reserved seats, will see the Reds play the Pirates.

SHEEKETSKI AND LOCKE TO AID AT HOLY CROSS

Worcester, Mass., April 11.—[Special.]—Joe Sheeketski and Joe Locke, former Notre Dame football players, have been appointed assistant coaches at Holy Cross college. The announcement was made today by Dr. Edward N. Anderson, who signed as head coach last week.

Sheeketski played in the Notre Dame backfield last year, while Locke was a lineman on the 1930 squad. Locke will come to Holy Cross from Wichita university, where he has coached since leaving Notre Dame.

ARMOUR TECH BEATS CHICAGO 2D TIME, 7 TO 0

Armour Tech's baseball team scored its second victory of the season over the University of Chicago, 7 to 0, on the Armour field yesterday. Mayer and Beuhne pitched for Armour and yielded six hits. Armour collected nine hits off Langford and Straske.

Devens Pitches Yanks to No Hit Victory Over Yale

New Haven, Conn., April 11.—[Special.]—Charles Devens, who formerly pitched for Harvard university's baseball team, today realized his life's ambition when he pitched a no hit, no run game for the New York Yankees against Yale university in an exhibition game. The score was 6 to 0.

CARDINALS PICK DEAN FOR DUEL WITH WARNEKE

Babe Herman Makes Chicago Debut.

For Opening Day

Weather—Fair and warmer.

Place—Wrigley field, Clark, Addison, Sheffield, and Waveland.

Time—3 o'clock.

Probable lineups:

CHICAGO.	ST. LOUIS.
W. Herman, 2b.	Adams, 3b.

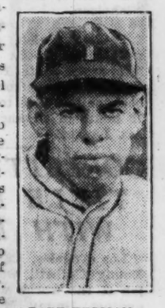
Jurges, ss.	Slade, ss.
Hartnett, c.	Wilson, c.
Warneke, p.	Dean, p.

Umpires—Magerkurth and Rigler.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals, one or the other of which has won the National league pennant every year since 1927, this afternoon will launch the fifty-eighth Chicago National league season at Wrigley field. The advance sale has indicated a capacity crowd provided the weather man lives up to his prophecy of fair and warmer.



BABE HERMAN.

Lon Warneke will pitch for the Cubs and will be opposed by Jerome [Dizzy] Dean. Both of these young men were standouts last year. Warneke led the National league in percentage, with 22 won and 6 lost, and he also was at the top on the earned run basis, with 2.37. Dean led both major leagues in strikeouts, with 191. Dizzy won 16 and lost 10.

Babe Herman in Debut.

Babe Herman, able left handed slugger purchased from Cincinnati for $75,000 and four players, will make his first Chicago appearance in Cub regalia. Because of a minor injury to his left ankle the Babe did not appear in the city series. He is ready to start this afternoon on what he promises will be a batting rampage that will keep him in the topflights all season.

Among other goals the lank Californian has set for himself is one which calls for making the fans forget about Hack Wilson's home runs of other years. The north siders will like the Babe if he comes anywhere near the batting pace he has set for himself.

Babe Only Newcomer.

Babe Herman will be the only Cub newcomer whom the regular bugs have never seen bearing down for Chicago. Casual fans who attend today possibly haven't seen the young man who'll be performing on Kiki Cuyler's terrain, out there in center field—Frankie Demaree. Frankie is not exactly a newcomer, however. He appeared in 23 National league games last year, not to mention the last game of the world series in which he knocked a home run in the first inning with English and Stephenson on base.

All of the others are veterans of from one to eleven seasons with the Cubs. Gabby Hartnett, who will catch, will start his twelfth year with the team.

Stephenson Cleanup Batter.

The batting order will be different from that used at any time during the spring exhibition season. Babe Herman, who batted fourth in every game in which he played, will be moved up to the third spot, that place having been vacated first through Cuyler's injury and then by Demaree.

O'SHEA BATTLES SERECI MONDAY AT WHITE CITY

Middleweights to Clash at Six Rounds.

Vincent Sereci, New York middleweight, and Mickey O'Shea of Chicago signed last night to meet in a six round bout at White City Monday. It will be Sereci's debut here. Sammy Levine, west side featherweight, and Jackie Schweitzer of New York are to clash in another six rounder. One of two others will bring together Jack Moran, local middleweight, and Eddie Gill of St. Charles, Ill. Two bouts at four rounds will complete the card.

Tommy Loughran is scheduled to arrive by airplane Monday to finish drills for his 10 round contest with Izzy Gastanaga at the Chicago Stadium on April 21. Loughran must be in town five days before the contest, which will be his sixth in Chicago. He has defeated Tuffy Griffith, King Levinsky, Mickey Walker, Big Boy Peterson, and Martin Burke here.

Barney Ross, west side lightweight, boxed two rounds yesterday at Trafton's gymnasium in preparation for a match against Santiago Zorilla at Davenport, Ia., April 20. King Levinsky is to join Ross today to begin workouts for a 10 round bout with Charley Retzlaff at the Stadium on May 4.

Prince Saunders, Mickey Patrick, and Red Chinski, local boxers, will leave Saturday for Dayton, O., for bouts there Monday. Saunders faces Ray Newton, Patrick clashes with Jess Akers, and Chinski meets Nick Nicholson.

Paul Pantaleo, south side heavyweight, has been reinstated by the Minnesota State Boxing commission. Pantaleo was suspended a month ago because he failed to arrive at St. Paul 72 hours in advance of his bout with Art Laskey.

CORBETT TO RISK TITLE IN FIGHT WITH M'LARNIN

Los Angeles, Cal., April 11.—(AP)—Young Corbett, welterweight champion of the world, will defend his title against Jimmy McLarnin in a ten round bout at Wrigley Field the night of May 20.

Promoter Jack Doyle made the announcement late today after a conference with Charles Foster, the challenger's manager. He said he would learn from Larry White, Corbett's manager, tomorrow when the actual signing would take place. George Blake was decided upon as the referee, and the weight will be 147 pounds. Under the agreement Corbett will receive a flat guarantee of $35,000 with a percentage if the gate grosses more than $100,000.

Arthur Highland Named Purple Swim Captain

Northwestern's swimming team at its banquet last night elected Arthur Highland, a junior in liberal arts, captain for the 1933-'34 season. Frank Lennox of Oak Park was elected captain of the water polo team. Highland is the 100 yard free style champion of the Big Ten. He comes from Carl Schurz High school.

Bowlers to Open Intercity Title Series April 28

The schedule for the bowling series between Stewart Watson, match champion of Chicago, and Joe Miller of New York, eastern champion, at the Ashland auditorium April 28 to May 4 was announced yesterday by Louis P. Petersen and Leo A. Schueneman, committee in charge of the affair sponsored by the Greater Chicago Alley Owners association.

It was at Watson's request that the committee decided to hold the matches on new alleys installed at the Ashland auditorium. The seating capacity is 2,000.

The necessity of providing additional attractions in order to meet the cost of installation of new alleys and preventing too high an admission price caused the committee to arrange three other matches.

Bud Wright, member of the Mineralites, was matched for a 10 game series with Jake Lenzen.

The two highest average teams in Chicago, the DeBarry Insurance of the Classic, and the Kruse five of the Bruck league, are scheduled to bowl a match during this series. The Mineralites and the Lorenz Knitting teams, leaders of the Randolph and the Classic leagues, will meet on the final night, May 4.

To fill in gaps in the schedule, the Petersen classic, featured by a $25 entry fee and a $1,000 first place prize, has been added to the program. The full schedule of the bowling world's series follows:

Derby Trial Is Captured by Warren Jr.

Lexington, Ky., April 11.—[Special.]—A sloppy track caused by rain that marred the running of the first three races on today's program at the Kentucky association track failed to prevent five Kentucky Derby eligibles from going to the post in the featured Strollers purse.

The winner turned up in the Calumet farms' Warren Jr., next to the outsider in the field of six. Although it was the first start for the chestnut son of Bud Lerner and Fasquaise since last July at Arlington Park, he sprinted smartly over the Futurity course in 1:13 2-5 to lead home the 3-5 favorite, Clyde C. Van Meter's Red Whisk, by four lengths.

Red Roamer, which disappointed by trailing badly here on Saturday, displayed great improvement over his previous outing by pressing Red Whisk closely for the place. His bid failed by only a half length and he finished three lengths before Friend Charley.

My Blaze and Parting Shot, the only thoroughbred in the race not entered for the Derby, completed the field as named.

The victor returned $35.80, $7.10, and $4.62 across the board.

EL PRODUCTO for real enjoyment

A GALLON of poor coffee cannot take the place of one good cup. And a pocketful of cheap cigars won't make up for one El Producto. In cigars, above all else, quality is never extravagance. Steady smokers realize that the quality of El Producto is true economy. For, the uncopyable El Producto blend of fine tobaccos gives a real enjoyment that lasts.

Nothing can compare with the distinctive character and rich mildness of El Producto. Magnificent workmanship adds to the pleasure of smoking. El Producto burns so smoothly, so evenly that the full enjoyment of its quality is never marred.

Only quality can give real cigar enjoyment. And a dime invested in El Producto gives more satisfaction than any amount paid out for cheap smokes. Many sizes, 10c to 25c.

KINGLETS BRING SPRING GREETING FROM FAR SOUTH

Central America Species Arrives Quietly.

BY BOB BECKER.

Chicagoland played host to some interesting visitors over the last week end although possibly not many metropolitan area dwellers knew that these travelers were passing through the city. Among the distinguished callers of the bird world were ruby-crowned kinglets. These birds are about four and one-half inches long, but they come up from Central America with a vivid splash of tropical color on their heads, bringing a message of spring to impatient residents in the central states.

The arrival of the first purple martins in Chicagoland, usually during the first week in April, invariably steals the show from other migrants which may appear in our fields and woods at the same time. Therefore the comparatively inconspicuous little kinglet didn't get a big hand over the week end, coming as he did with the larger and far more popular martins.

Gets Out Binoculars.

The first clew of the presence of kinglets along the north shore was picked up when we happened to look out of our study window and saw a small, nervous little bird which resembled a ruby-crown. The bird, however, passed out of sight so quickly that we could not make a positive identification. A few minutes later we were hiking along the bluff with a pair of binoculars and then got close enough to the kinglets to tell definitely that they were with us.

Besides the kinglets from Central America there were many signs of spring for the outdoor fan to make note of on a short hike. Tricky weather, however, including a cold lake wind tended to discourage thoughts of the spring season. Here is the way one could have recorded the hike:

"Chewinks in the woods scratching around like so many barnyard chickens certainly is a sign of spring. We haven't heard their song as yet. Not surprising. When the towhee hunts food he does just that and leaves the singing business until later. These are the first that we have seen this year although we know some of the birds came in March.

First Thrush of Spring.

"And now the first thrush of the spring season. Only a fleeting glimpse of the bird. A brown creeper pecking away on an apple tree. Frogs croaking in the marsh. We have just scraped a soggy wet layer of dead leaves to see which wild flowers are pretty well started but haven't pushed their heads above the protective layer of leaves. Here are the bloodroots with their first leaves about 2 inches above the ground, pale and quite colorless because of lack of sunshine."

BROWNING PINS LEWIS; ILLINOIS WRESTLING ENDS

Strangler Thrown After an Hour of Grappling.

Savoldi Suspended

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 11.—(AP)—Karl W. Malone, secretary of the National Wrestling association, tonight announced suspension by the association of Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star, who defeated Jim Londos at Chicago Friday. Malone said Savoldi was suspended at the request of Indiana athletic officials, who reported Savoldi failed to fulfill a contract at Evansville Monday night.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Wrestling, now a lost art in Illinois by decree of the state athletic commission last Monday, lifted its head in posthumous exhibition last night at the Coliseum. John [Doc] Krone presented Strangler Lewis and Jim Browning in the obsequies only because he had been granted permission prior to the ukase of the commission.

Browning, who had tossed the Strangler in the east recently thereby dulling the edge of the announcement that Lewis, a former champion, would appear in three matches in Chicago, duplicated this feat last night. The time was 1:03:32. Unofficial figures gave an attendance of 800 with receipts of $1,100, give or take a hundred dollars and the same number of fans, either way.

Scissors Grip Wins.

Minor features nearly overshadowed the climax of the main bout. That climax was a series of apparently crushing headlocks by Lewis which culminated in Browning twisting his persecutor to the mat with a turn over scissors which left Lewis panting impressively on his back with scarcely breath enough to voice a protest at his unexpected defeat.

Chief of the surprises for the fans at wrestling's wake was the appearance of Johnny Behr as referee. It was Behr's first employment in charge of the grapplers. Behr and George Karras, who handled several preliminaries, followed instructions of the commissioners, two of whom, Chairman Joe Triner and George Getz, sat at ringside, to make the boys leave out the histrionics and rough stuff.

Two Wrestlers Disqualified.

As result, Referee Karras disqualified Matros Kirienko for fighting after ten minutes of his bout with Renard Maculuso. Behr followed with a disqualification of Leo Pinetzki in 15:34 in the semi-windup with Tiny Roebuck. Pinetzki had persisted in elbowing Roebuck's nose.

These rulings leave the commission with a final set of penalties to administer, which, since the sport no longer is countenanced in the state, probably will consist of forfeiture of purses.

Lewis and Browning profited by these warnings. Neither lifted a hand to harm the other, but confined their hour's work strictly to tugging and twisting. Browning did best with his body scissors hold, utilizing his 224 pounds to yank Lewis' fatty torso about the ring during the early minutes. As usual, the Strangler depended on a headlock.

Resort to Toe Holds.

Each resorted to toe holds to relieve the monotony. During the first hour Browning ran up a lead of 3 toe holds to 1, with correspondingly reverse score in expressions of anguish and floor beating in favor of the Strangler.

The timekeeper announced fifty minutes had elapsed when Lewis grabbed Browning's head with his sixth, seventh, and eighth head locks. Browning apparently weakened and there was a stir among the ringside customers who reached for their hats and coats. Their anticipation, however, was premature.

When Lewis plied his tenth headlock, he put on a spectacular series of body smashes, using Browning's head as lever. Again the spectators stirred. Lewis continued his tactics, running his headlocking to number 17. Browning broke for a final time, and, when the Strangler closed in, he flung his legs about Lewis and rolled him to the mat. Almost before Referee Behr realized the end came and Lewis lay with both shoulders pinned.

The opening preliminary between Steve Savage and Glenn Munn went to the limit, 20 minutes, and a draw.

Last night's matches were held only after the commission had modified its ruling of Monday, which banned all wrestling. After a long distance telephone conversation with Attorney General Otto Kerner, Triner announced the bouts might go on.

Kerner Gives Opinion.

"The attorney general took the position that since a sanction had been granted, a ten day notice of revocation had not been given, and, since the promoter had certain property rights becaus of his expenses, the commission should rescind its action on Monday for this exception. Our ban on wrestling, however, will continue in effect," Triner said.

One of the Famous Poe Brothers Dies

Baltimore, April 11.—(AP)—On a November afternoon in 1882, S. Johnson Poe scored a touchdown for Princeton against Columbia and opened a page in football history that is without parallel.

He was the first of the six Poe brothers of Baltimore, who for two decades brought delight to Nassau supporters with their football prowess.

He died last night in Washington.

So brilliant were S. Johnson Poe and his five brothers in Princeton football that one of the college poets wrote a satirical verse representing a Yale man in prayer and ending with these words:

"And from ye race of Poes, good lord, deliver us."

Four Brothers Survive.

With the death of S. Johnson Poe, four of the famous brothers are left. John Prentice Poe, whose exploits on the gridiron came in the early nineties, and who later was a soldier of fortune, was killed in France in 1915 when his regiment, the Black Watch of Scotland, was ordered over the top.

The living brothers are Edgar Allan Poe and Gresham Poe, of Baltimore; Nelson Poe of Princeton, and Arthur Poe of Cedar Rapids, Ia.

The first of the Poe brothers to play football at Princeton was a halfback and after his touchdown in 1882 he was a regular on the team that year and the next.

Leads Colorful Life.

He was followed by Edgar Allan Poe, named for the poet who was related to the Baltimore branch of the family. He was captain of the team of 1889 and was awarded a position on the All-American team. The team that year beat Harvard, 40 to 15, scoring 30 points in the last half. Again the next year he was elected captain of the team.

John Prentiss Poe followed in 1891 and 1892. For two years he played at quarter back and half back and was known as one of the surest tacklers and best straight arm runners ever seen at Princeton. When he left Princeton he started work in Baltimore but found it too prosaic.

He was in the Spanish-American war, enlisted for service in the Filipino insurrection later, then tried cow punching in New Mexico, joined the Kentucky militia to suppress disorders, hurried to Nevada in the gold rush of 1907, fought in Nicaragua and Honduras and then volunteered for duty in the world war.

Nelson Poe, the lightest of the brothers, weighed but 146 pounds but he was a member of the championship team of 1896, playing at half back and full back.

Beats Yale Single Handed.

Arthur Poe probably was the greatest football player of the group. He is credited with beating Yale two years single handed. In 1898 he picked up a fumble and ran 90 yards for a touchdown to bring a 6 to 0 victory. In 1899 the score stood 10 to 6 in favor of Yale with only 32 seconds to play. Although he had no reputation as a kicker, he dropped back and booted the ball between the uprights, bringing his team five points [according to the scoring at that time] and an 11 to 10 victory. He was chosen on the all-American team.

Gresham Poe was kept on the bench for three years because of water on the knee and in the last game of the season in 1901 against Yale. He was inserted just before the end of the game. The change in the morale of the team was so remarkable that one Yale man was said to have remarked: "Oh, Lord! Another of those darned Poes."

HANDBALL MEET TO OPEN.

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

THIS is the day the major league baseball clubs start the 1933 gonfalon chase, as I believe it is called.

Who will win the pennants? I am so glad you asked me. In the American league it will be the Yankees or Athletics. If not one of them it will be the Indians, Senators, or White Sox. I like the Cubs, Pirates, Cardinals, and Giants in the National.

LOUIS COMISKEY.

I wouldn't like to be too specific in the matter except to state that with an even break in luck the Red Sox ought to retain the American league cellar championship and the Cincinnati Reds ought to do equally well in the senior circuit. You never can be too sure about these things. Despite a valiant fight it is quite possible that the Red Sox, for instance, might be beaten out of last place by the Browns. Baseball is an uncertain game and it is not wise for a prophet to become too dogmatic in his conclusions.

There are fellows who would go further and predict that both leagues will have an interesting race and the most deserving clubs will earn the laurel wreaths next September. It is my hope that the boys who go out on a limb like this will first consider the possible effects beer will have on the pennant contenders. Hack Wilson, for example, may add 100 points to his batting average with 3.2 brew, thereby increasing Brooklyn's chance of capturing the old bunting.

Seriously Chicago seems headed for the most interesting season in years. In case you have forgotten, the Cubs are the National league champions. It is equally as good a team, probably stronger, than the one that nosed out its rivals a year ago. Babe Herman will add batting punch that was sorely needed at times last season. Frank Demaree will add strength both afield and at bat, according to the president of the club, William Veeck.

The Sox look like a greatly improved team. They have been the Phil Scotts of the league for the last thirteen years. At last it appears they are strong enough to stand up and fight. They have what the boys bravely call potentialities. Manager Lew Fonseca believes he can lead them into the first division.

Lou Comiskey has made a sincere effort to revive some of his team's old glory. He put over one of the biggest deals of the winter when he obtained Simmons, Haas, and Dykes from the Athletics. You can't add fellows like these to the roster without feeling it.

The presence of one added hitter often makes a vital difference. Five years ago the Cubs lost about thirty games by one run, which were enough to beat them out of the title. The following season, with Hornsby in the lineup, they won most of the close ones and took the pennant. Added punch in the pinches told the story.

The Sox likewise have been losing close games in recent years. They dropped thirty-two by one run last season. Simmons, Haas, and Fonseca, all good hitters, ought to take up much of that slack.

Financially the Chicago clubs probably will fare better than most of their rivals. There will be thousands of visitors here this summer to attend A Century of Progress exposition. Few will leave without taking a look at the Cubs and Sox. Added to this is Chicago's reputation as the best baseball city in the United States.

WILLIAM VEECK.

We wish Chicago might have a world series all its own as the sports climax of the World's Fair. Nobody will complain, however, if our teams are far enough up in the race to provide the fans with a season of fun and thrills.

in the cleanup position, where he functioned ably last year. Demaree has been dropped from third to fifth. Hartnett, who last year and during this spring, batted seventh, will bat eighth, the switch having been made in Sunday's game with the White Sox.

The foes of this afternoon each enjoyed an advantage over the other on home grounds last year. In Chicago the Cubs won seven and lost four and at St. Louis the Cards won six and lost five, giving the Cubs and advantage of 12 games to 10 in the season series, a ratio scarcely consistent with the fact that in the league the Cubs won 90 and lost 64 while the Cardinals won 72 and lost 82.

Slade Fills in at Shortstop.

The Cardinals are basing their hopes on their pitching — Dean, Carleton, Hallahan, Derringer, Haines, Walker, and Mooney being their best. Slade will be at shortstop, the only newcomer, though Medwick played in only 26 games last year during which he batted .349. Sparky Adams, who played in only 31 games last year, will be back at third, reported to again be firm of limb. Orsatti is scheduled to get the call over Pepper Martin, faded hero of the 1931 world series.

The Cards will be here for three games. Tomorrow Guy Bush will go against either Carleton or Hallahan.

ELMHURST PLANS COLLEGE TRACK CARNIVAL MAY 13

The first annual Elmhurst intercollegiate track and field meet, sponsored by Elmhurst college, will be held May 13 at Elmhurst. Three team trophies and a relay shield will be awarded. There also will be prizes for individual winners.

Watson Sails Today for Title Bout with Chocolate

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Seaman Tom Watson, English featherweight champion, will sail for New York tomorrow, according to an announcement by Jimmy Johnston of Madison Square Garden. Johnston expects the long delayed featherweight championship bout between Watson and Kid Chocolate to be staged in the Garden on May 12. Chocolate is scheduled to arrive from Cuba tomorrow.

Baer Surprises Ring Experts; He Weighs Just 230

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Max Baer, California heavyweight, today climbed into fight togs and gave the experts, who haven't seen him in action here for almost two years, a surprise.

He was an immense fellow weighing 202 when last he departed New York, after beating King Levinsky in 1932, and he looked even larger when he stripped today. But few of the assembled experts were ready for the shock when he stepped on the scales. He weighed exactly 230 pounds.

Baer arrived yesterday from Livermore, Cal., to start training for his 15 round bout with Max Schmeling June 8. He announced then that he weighed "about 218." He was diffident today about getting on the scales after shadow boxing, rope skipping, exercising a half dozen rounds, and displaying less than half a dozen excess pounds on his huge frame.

Many of boxing's master minds, watching Baer's speed and powerful display, hedged on the idea that has been rather general that Schmeling, former champion, would have an easy time with the Californian.

Baer immediately started talking himself into a fighting fury.

"Every time I hit that Dutchman with a right hand," he said, "I'm going to tell him, 'Here's one for Hitler.' There's just enough Jew in me to make this a whale of a fight."

SCHAAP, COLLINS TIED FOR LEAD IN 18.2 CUE TOURNEY

Arie Schaap of Chicago went into a tie for first place with Percy Collins, national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard champion, at the Lake-Marion Recreation in Oak Park last night, when he defeated Jerry Worth, state champion, 250 to 226, in 30 innings. Schaap had a high run of 44 to 29 for Worth.

In the afternoon Collins won his second straight game by overwhelming Gordon Green of Beloit, Wis., 250 to 40, in 12 innings.

Today's schedule brings together Schaap and Green this afternoon and Collins and Larson in the first evening game. Peabody and Worth meet in the final night session.

Umpires for Opening Games Are Announced

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—John Heydler, president of the National league, announced that the following umpires have been assigned for the opening games tomorrow:

St. Louis at Chicago—Rigler and Magerkurth.
New York at Boston—Klem and Stark.
Brooklyn at Philadelphia—Quigley, Pfirman, and Barr.
Pittsburgh at Cincinnati—Moran, Reardon, and McGrew.

St. Louis, Mo., April 11.—(AP)—Unconditional release of Pitcher Rip Collins was announced today by the St. Louis Browns.

Purple Nine Begins Tour Tomorrow

Northwestern's baseball team is the only spring sport squad unaffected by the Easter vacation which starts at the university today. All other teams will disband until the opening of school next week.

The baseball squad will leave tomorrow on its tour into Illinois, Michigan and Indiana. A squad of 15 players and coaches will make the trip by automobile. The party will return to Evanston a week from tomorrow.

The first game on the schedule will be against Bradley Tech at Peoria tomorrow afternoon. The same teams will meet in a second game on Friday after which the Wildcats will make the hop to Lansing, Mich., where Michigan State will be met Saturday.

A two game series is scheduled with Western State Teachers' college at Kalamazoo next Monday and Tuesday. The last game of the trip will be against Notre Dame at South Bend next Wednesday.

MORTON NINE 9 TO 4 VICTOR OVER HARRISON

Morton High school's baseball team, Suburban league champion last year, defeated Harrison Tech, 9 to 4, yesterday at Harrison. The winners collected eleven hits off three Harrison pitchers, Hodel, Lesniak, and Statkus. Score:

Batteries—Seyk, Richter and Schuckman; Hodel, Lesniak, Statkus and Smergalski.

Francis Shaughnessy, Englewood pitcher, will be lost to the team on May 13. On that day Francis will become 20 years of age and will be ineligible for further prep competition. Englewood has scored two straight victories this season, defeating Morgan Park, 7 to 6, and Bowen, 8 to 6.

Leading pitchers on the Calumet baseball squad are Forrest Hart, Larry Ennis, and Harold Larson. The infielders who probably will be in the regular lineup are Len Alexander, first base; Sam Rossi, second base; Harold Kelly, shortstop, and Fred Kantack, third base. The outfielders are Charlie Rose, Roy Payne, and James Madigan. Al Forte and Mike Duracke are the catchers. Calumet will meet Wendell Phillips today at Armour square and plays Tilden Tech at Hamilton park tomorrow.

Parker will be Englewood's opponent in a practice game at Hamilton park today. Englewood will meet Schurz tomorrow on the same field.

ILLINOIS OPENS BASEBALL SEASON AT HOME TODAY

Urbana, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Illinois' baseball squad will open its home season tomorrow afternoon against Illinois Wesleyan.

This is the first meeting between the Illini and a Wesleyan team since 1921 when a basketball game was played. Later on the Big Ten forbade competition with institutions which permit freshmen to play. This ban is temporarily lifted at present, except in football, in order to facilitate schedule making during the economic distress.

Vigorous Scalp-Healthy HAIR
60-Second
Vitalis Workout

50 SECONDS TO RUB... Massage Vitalis into your scalp until circulation is aroused. Your hair has a chance! Gone is that dead, dry look, too.

10 SECONDS TO BRUSH. Comb your hair. Brush it. Time's up! What a healthy lustre! And it stays in place all day. (No "patent-leather" look.)
ASK YOUR BARBER
Your barber knows his business. And when he suggests Vitalis he is prescribing for your own good. It's expert advice. You'd better take it.

Vitalis will help any man's hair—whether it's sparse and stringy, or so thick it's hard to control.
Twice a week, take 60 seconds to rub Vitalis briskly into your tight, dry scalp. Circulation is awakened. Loose dandruff begins to disappear.
Natural, necessary oils are restored to your hair as well as to your scalp. Your hair looks neat and lustrous, all day, every day—but not in the least like "patent-leather."
Men of all ages are "sold" on this 60-second workout with Vitalis. It's great for your scalp—and it will work wonders for your hair!

SCIENCE BUILDS A TEMPLE OF ITS WONDERS AT FAIR

Forces That Rule Universe Will Be Portrayed.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

A dream of five years is rapidly approaching realization in the great temple of science at A Century of Progress grounds.

From the moment of entry into the 200 foot outer hall of this temple one may bow at the gates of the invisible forces which rule the universe. In the center of the hall, under the long green, blue, and white bands of light which radiate from the ceiling, will stand a globe thirty feet high and 10 feet in diameter in which will be shown the elemental atoms, or "building blocks," of the universe.

There were 92 of these when work on the exhibit began, and this number is listed in all physics and chemistry books, together with the atomic numbers and old pictures of a sort of solar system supposed to be at work at the base of everything, known as the Bohr conception of the atom. Since then a new atom has been discovered at the Cambridge laboratories in England, the Neuton, a neutral atom on which experiments are being made, and the Bohr idea of the atom has been displaced by a conception of a vibratory process within the atom in which the electrons are displaced from the proton.

Mysteries of Science on View.

These mysteries will be shown at the fair in a comprehensible way, as well as the latest research into cosmic rays, which may prove the source of a new power that can be harnessed into machinery, power taken from the air to make light for humans and to run automobiles. Science is progressing so fast that no one can predict what will come next, and the exposition exhibits are expected to put many an inventive mind at work.

"The central feature of the entire exposition is to be the basic sciences," said Irving E. Muskat, research associate in chemistry at the University of Chicago, who is in charge of these exhibits.

"This was the sole requirement of the National Research council, which has given us such help. It was to be different, devoid of advertising, with no immediate profit in sight. It was not to be a museum show with static types of exhibits, but all dynamic, telling its own story. It was to be prepared in sequence and to present every phase of science.

The Dream Coming True.

"That dream is now coming true. The first basic science exhibits are completely installed in chemistry unit No. 1, showing the various types of chemical changes and how they are produced. Industry has furnished $400,000 to chemistry alone. This is a new thing in expositions, the giving of money for displays of a fundamental type. It shows the pride of industry in its own development. Hundreds of other exhibits are ready and will be installed as soon as the booths are completed.

"We will show, for instance, how gasoline is prepared. There will be a complete operating refinery made of glass, showing distillation, cracking, refining, how kerosene, candles, asphalt and coke are made.

"A mechanical man, made to look like a human being, 10 feet high, will give twenty minute lectures on food chemistry and nutrition, pointing to raw material and cooked material on a table, telling of the vitamins and tracing the food through his own stomach and alimentary canal. This will be open to view and there will be a movie in his stomach, showing digestion, and how the fluids come from the walls of the stomach to do their work, how the salivary glands turn starch into sugar, etc.

Other Wonders to Be Seen.

"The process of mining sulphur will be shown, the composition and decomposition of water, chemical reactions in which atoms exchange partners, the burning of iron by oxygen and many other wonders. This will be the science center of the world this summer. Sixteen hundred scientific societies have already decided to meet here."

Dr. Enrico Bompiani, professor of mathematics at the University of Rome, a member of the National Research Council of Italy, is in Chicago to oversee the placing of Italy's scientific exhibit, composed of 400 objects which, at the close of the exposition, will be installed in the museum of science and industry in Jackson park.

Start Ukrainian Building Today.

Ground will be broken at noon today for the Ukrainian building at the 39th street entrance to the exposition. Dr. M. Siemens, president of the Chicago Ukrainian society, will be in charge of the ceremony. Stephanie Czyowycs, representing the Ukrainian societies of Europe, will speak. The building will be in the style of southern Russia and will have a restaurant, music, and folk dances.

OUSTED DOCTORS FORM THEIR OWN MEDICAL GROUP

Seven Associated with Clinic Expelled.

Seven physicians were expelled last night from the Chicago Medical society on charges of unethical conduct arising from their association with United Medical Service, Inc., 23 East Jackson boulevard. It was announced immediately afterward by one of the seven that a state charter had been issued for a new organization, to be known as the Cook County Medical society, in which a charter membership of 450 physicians has been enrolled.

The seven men expelled are:

Dr. Charles R. Wiley, former president of the northwest branch, Chicago Medical society, and member of the society's council, former professor of diseases of the heart at the Chicago Medical school, and former president of the Norwegian-American hospital staff.

Dr. Funck on List.

Dr. George W. Funck, former professor of materia medica, therapeutics and toxicology at the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery and head of the same departments when this college was combined with Loyola university.

Dr. J. Robert Johnson, former instructor of medicine and anatomy at the University of Illinois Medical college and an organizer of the morning dispensary at the Illinois Research hospital.

Dr. P. R. Casellas, former professor of radiology at the Chicago Medical school, former councillor of the Chicago Roentgen society, and member of the American Roentgen society and the Roentgen Society of North America.

Dr. Ernest B. Zeisler, former member of the department of medicine faculty of Northwestern university medical school, and former attending physician at the Mandel clinic of Michael Reese hospital.

Once on Hospital Staffs.

Dr. L. J. Goodman, former member of the staffs of the Lying-In and Norwegian-American hospitals and the Northwestern university clinic.

Dr. Roy W. Klein, former instructor of proctology at the Chicago Medical school.

Each of the seven men was heard by the council of the society before the expulsion vote was taken. Dr. Austin A. Hayden, president of the society and chairman of the council, presided. Earlier in the day Circuit Judge William V. Brothers ruled that a petition filed by the seven doctors for an injunction restraining the society from expelling them was not within his jurisdiction.

Two Policemen Ousted by Civil Service Board

Policeman William J. Arens of the Maxwell street station and Policeman Carl E. Olson of the Burnside station were ordered discharged from the force by the civil service commission yesterday. Arens was charged with intoxication and with being abusive to a superior officer. Olson was charged with drawing his revolver during an argument in a soft drink parlor. Policeman Walter Burke of the Burnside station, who was with Olson, was fined 30 days' pay. Fireman Clyde M. Payne of truck company 11 was fined 15 days' pay on complaint of a superior officer.

Leaps to Death from Sixth Floor of DowntownBuilding

Algot Swanson, 54 years old, 1750 Winnemac avenue, plunged to his death yesterday afternoon from a sixth floor window in the workrooms of the H. M. Stevenson company, tailors at 501 Plymouth court. His body struck in an alley. In one of Swanson's pockets was found a note stating: "This is a clear suicide; nothing else." Other workmen employed by the tailoring concern said that he had been despondent recently over financial troubles.

DEVELOPS 459.1 BELOW ZERO IN CALIFORNIA TEST

Berkeley, Cal., April 11.—(AP)—Officials of the University of California announced today the coldest man made temperature yet attained, 459.1 below zero Fahrenheit, had been reached by experimenters at the university.

This achievement of Prof. W. F. Giauque, assisted by C. F. Nelson, mechanician, was accomplished by use of a magnetic cycle process which Prof. Giauque developed.

The mark reached is within .25 degree centigrade of the absolute absence of heat. The temperature is infinitely colder than that of liquid helium and considerably lower than any point yet obtained by processes involving previously known methods of refrigeration.

Experimenters generally have held attainment of practical zero is essential to solution of numerous scientific problems.

Among theories advanced is that the practical absence of heat is necessary as a preliminary to creation of a perfect vacuum, that new low temperatures can be applied to manufacture of a super-steel and that this research will contribute to the study of the structure of the atom.

Arthur P. Christmann Dies Three Days After Brother

STOCKS INCUR MILD SETBACK; PACE TOO FAST

Week's Advance Still Causes Optimism.

BY FRED HARVEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11.—Six consecutive days of advancing prices proved to be about as much as Wall Street could stand at this stage of the business situation. So the market was thrown back somewhat again today. It was not a serious reaction by any means, the losses for the most part being in fractions, and the setback was due to technical conditions rather than to any reversal in trading sentiment.

Indeed, such current bullish factors as inflation theories, improved trade news, a favorable money market, rising commodity prices, and the administration's prosperity revival plans continued uppermost in traders' minds, judging by the conversation about the customers' rooms, and brokers reported considerable evidence of long term buying. The stout resistance offered by the list to profit taking after its sustained endeavors on the up side, was regarded as highly significant from the constructive viewpoint.

Dividend News Adverse.

Adverse dividend news from a number of important quarters made for an outcropping of weakness here and there, and probably helped to hold the list as a whole in check. General Foods and Nash Motors each broke 2 points on their dividend announcements, a reduction in the case of the foods corporation, and an omission by the motor company, but both regained a part of their losses in the late trading. Procter & Gamble, with a dividend meeting scheduled later in the afternoon, sold nearly 2 points below its previous close, but likewise rebounded.

The farm implement stocks failed to respond as much to the sharp upturn in wheat as they ordinarily do, both I. T. Case and International Harvester lagging behind throughout the session.

American Telephone Sags.

A majority of the preferred stocks rose 2 to 5 points, some of the outstanding performers of the department being those of Associated Dry Goods, American Water Works, Tidewater Oil, General Cigar, Engineers' Public Service, Colorado Gas, and American Can.

In the utilities group, the leader, American Telephone, gave up about 2 points of the gain it ran up in yesterday's rally. Sentiment in the street is still sharply divided over the fate of the big corporation's dividend at the board meeting next month.

Some of the other utilities made a better showing, Consolidated Gas being one of the few pivotal stocks to finish up behind a plus sign.

Bethlehem Steel, which has been fairly prominent in the advance, reacted half a point or so on the statement to stockholders at their annual meeting, revealing a loss of some $5,000,000 in the first quarter. Vulcan Detinning attracted some attention by spurting some 2 points on a sizeable turnover. The stock is rather closely held.

The brunt of the profit taking was borne by the leaders in yesterday's upturn, such as United States Steel, American Can, Westinghouse, and all wound up below their previous closing prices.

SELLING AGENCY FOR COAL FIRMS READY TO START

Cincinnati, O., April 11.—(AP)—Appalachian Coals, Inc., will begin operations Monday, leaders announced today, pooling the production and sales of 137 companies mining high volatile coal.

R. E. Howe, secretary-treasurer of the recently legalized sales agency, said that about 75 per cent of the total high volatile production of West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky, and Tennessee, had been pledged to the agency. He estimated the corporation will produce and market approximately 50,000,000 tons of coal a year.

For the time being, Howe said, present methods of coal merchandising will be undisturbed, and the new controlling agency will take over the existing sales outlets.

I. C. C. APPROVES $7,000,000 LOAN TO I. C. RAILROAD

Washington, D. C., April 11.—[Special.]—An additional R. F. C. loan of $7,137,000 to the Illinois Central Railroad company was approved today by the interstate commerce commission. The money is to be used to pay interest and principal on equipment trust certificates.

In June, 1932, the commission approved an $11,000,000 loan to the Illinois Central. Under this approval, however, the Reconstruction Finance corporation advanced only $3,863,000. Today's authorization by the I. C. C. is for the remainder of the original $11,000,000.

Michigan Cement Company Recalls 100 Men to Work

Coldwater, Mich., April 11.—[Special.]—One hundred men were recalled by the Wolverine Portland Cement company here today to begin operation of the local plant, which has been idle for several months. The men will work three eight hour shifts daily. The plant at Quincy, near here, will open at capacity strength within a few days.

Securities Bill Stirs Up Storm of Opposition

BY HOWARD WOOD.

The proposed federal securities law now pending before both houses of congress has aroused a storm of objection all over the country not only among investment bankers but among business men, big and little.

The opposition to the bill centers around the vagueness and apparent double meaning of its phraseology. Those who find fault with it insist that they are heartily in accord with the sentiment expressed by President Roosevelt in his message to congress prior to the introduction of the bill. They insist, however, that the bill itself—whether intentionally or not—goes much farther than the President went in his message.

Provisions Burden Business.

Henry L. Harriman, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, makes this criticism of the proposed bill:

"Many provisions of the bill are uncertain in their effect. It is clear, however, that the sale of worthless securities could continue. Apparently, the legitimate business of the country in its enterprises of production and distribution and its enterprises of transportation and other forms of services would be subjected to burdens and hazards the extent of which is not disclosed by the terms of the bill.

"There is a growing feeling that features of the bill must be redrafted to produce a workable measure. Time should be granted for careful consideration by the public and legitimate business of any revision of the measure congressional committees may propose."

This stand by the chamber of commerce is similar to that taken by the investment bankers themselves. Through their organization, the Investment Bankers association, the bond men have been working in Washington for a week attempting to convince the senate and house committees that the end sought by the President can be attained without throwing a monkey wrench into the legitimate security business.

Retroactive Plans Discarded.

They are understood to have made some progress. Members of the senate and house committee are reported, for example, to have agreed to elimination of the provision which would make the operations of the bill retroactive. The investment bankers, however, insist that the whole bill be rewritten.

They are particularly alarmed by section 9 of the bill as originally written, which directors and officers of all corporations which expect to issue any bonds, stocks, or other securities, must personally and individually guarantee the accuracy of all financial statements and other data required to be furnished.

This, the investment bankers complain, puts so heavy a penalty upon directorships that it would drive men of means out of such positions. Liability would be both joint and several. That would mean that the entire fortune of a wealthy director might be confiscated if his colleagues weren't worth the penalties imposed upon them.

Under section 6 the federal trade commission may revoke the registration of any security if the issuing company is "in unsound condition or insolvent" or if the enterprise or business of the company or the security is "not based upon sound principles" or if the revocation "is in the interest of public welfare."

Gives Bondowners Power.

Under the terms of the bill the investor in bonds of a corporation would not have to wait until there had actually been default and he had incurred loss. According to the interpretation of the bill by attorneys for the bond men if the purchaser of bonds in a corporation could at any time prove that any statement made by the corporation's auditors was exaggerated or untrue he could immediately claim a forfeit and force the corporation or its directors to buy back his bonds if they were not up to par on the market.

The fact that the director had not known of the discrepancy in the figures would be no defense.

Another feature that the investment people find objectionable is the provision under section 14 that newspapers, magazines or other publications shall not publish advertisements of securities offered for sale without severe penalties if the publications go into states where the securities themselves have not been qualified under state blue sky laws.

One Official Can Bar Ads.

Thus, the blue sky officer in any state or territory of the United States could prevent the use by a reputable investment house of advertising in a newspaper or other publication of national circulation. This, the bond men complain, is giving tremendous leverage power to state blue sky officers, some of whom are not entirely removed from human temptations.

The proposed law is so strict in regard to the transference of information about investments over state lines that until a security issue had been registered it would probably be unlawful for a Chicago banker to call up an associate in New York and propose participation in an underwriting.

The federal trade commission is given broad discretionary powers, in a number of instances without any prescribed standard by which to measure the exercise of such powers.

No Quarrel with Principles.

"There can be no quarrel with the principle that the buyer of securities should have as much information as the seller," says one investment banker. "There can also be no quarrel with the principle that dishonest issuers of securities should be punished. But in our opinion this bill does not carry out those principles.

"It is a mistake to assume that this bill will affect only the issuance of securities by investment bankers. It interferes with any number of ordinary business financial transactions, even though no sale of securities to the public is involved. It will affect practically every business, large or small, in every town and city in the United States."

SPEAKERS AT ECONOMIC CLUB

Let Bankers Lead Reform, Expert Says

Hope for improvement in the American banking system in the future rests on bankers being compelled to stay closer to the banking business, on the adoption of a modified system of branch banking, and on the abolishment of destructive competition fostered under our present dual banking system.

These opinions were expressed last night by Dr. Edwin W. Kremmerer, research professor in international finance at Princeton university, in a talk before the Economic Club of Chicago at the Palmer house. Dr. Kemmerer is an international authority on money, having rebuilt the monetary systems of several nations.

Also on the program was Col. George T. Buckingham of the law firm of Defrees, Buckingham, Jones & Hoffman, who discussed the possibility of deflating railroad securities under the new bankruptcy act.

Urges Bankers Lead Move.

Dr. Kemmerer stated that in strengthening our banking system, help must come from the bankers themselves through recognition of the public trusteeship of the banking business and of the interdependability of all banks of the country.

"Banks in the future will be restricted more closely to real banking business," he said, "and we may look for an increase rather than a decrease in governmental supervision of banking, to an increasing degree if not entirely, into the hands of the national government."

The speaker discussed the large number of bank failures during the last 10 years with the number of suspensions in the last three years alone numbering nearly 6,000 and tying up deposits of more than 3 billion 250 million dollars. This does not include the banks that have suspended this year.

Dr. Kemmerer asserted that the majority of banks failing in 1931 were in small communities. He added that it was significant the percentage of state banks failing has been twice that of national banks, and that the percentage of banks not members of the federal reserve system failing has been over twice that of member banks.

Lists Causes of Failure.

One of the most important causes of bank failure has been the increase in burdensome farm indebtedness, Dr. Kemmerer said. This has resulted from the great decline in the prices of farm lands and farm products.

Dr. Kemmerer suggested that an adequate branch banking system, covering substantial areas—federal reserve districts, for example—would largely eliminate many of the difficulties. He says extension of branch banking should be effected slowly and it should be permitted only under government supervision in order to prevent abuses that often accompany centralization.

Discussing the dual banking system, which he said has developed many weaknesses, Dr. Kemmerer concluded:

"Under a nationalization of our commercial banks, which would bring all of these banks into the federal reserve system, our banking 'competition in laxity' could be eliminated and we could enter upon a leveling policy, a policy of progressively strengthening and improving our commercial banking system."

FIVE MORE STATE BANKS ARE GIVEN PERMITS TO OPEN

State Auditor Barrett, announced last night that permits to reopen have been issued to five more downstate banks. They are:

MOKENA—Mokena State bank.
ARGENTA—The Gerber State bank.
McNABB—Farmers' State bank of McNabb, Ill.
KENT—State Bank of Kent.
ELBURN—Kane County Bank and Trust company.

No Bids Received, Sale of Lake Ships Postponed

No bids were received yesterday by Garfield Charles, refere e in bankruptcy, for the four steamships of the Goodrich Transit company—the Illinois, Alabama, Carolina and the Christopher Columbus—and the sale was put over until April 18. On Monday two bids totaling $973.08 for the four steamers were refused by Mr. Charles.

Plant of Kelvinator Corp. Resumes Full Production

Grand Rapids, Mich., April 11.—(AP)—The Leonard plant of the Kelvinator corporation here was back on a full production schedule today for the first time since March 7, with the recall of 900 workmen. Operations were curtailed when the national banking holiday went into effect.

TREASURY CONSIDERS SMALL DENOMINATION BONDS FOR REFUNDING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—A bond issue in small denominations for popular sale to accomplish partial refunding of the fourth liberty loan appeared possible today, with only four days left for Secretary Woodin to decide whether the loan will be called in whole or in part Oct. 15.

The fourth liberty loan, of which $6,368,095,250 was outstanding March 31, is callable on six months' notice, and such notice must be given by Saturday unless the treasury should decide against any refunding at all. This latter possibility seemed slight.

Although officials would give no intimation of what would be done, there were indications that at least a part of the war loan would be refunded, since it bears 4¼ per cent interest and the treasury is bending every effort in the direction of economy. Even a reduction of one-fourth or one-half of 1 per cent in the cost of the money would represent an important saving.

While it is difficult to forecast the financial situation six months in advance, there was a strong feeling at the treasury that conditions in the government and in business generally will have improved by autumn sufficiently to enable a lower interest rate.

In order not to tap the usual sources of government money to too great an extent, the treasury may issue a portion of the bonds in small denominations for sale to small investors.

BANK SEES 'ADS' AS GOOD LEVER TO BOOST TRADE

Advertising's great task is to help in influencing, reconstructing, and stabilizing distribution in relation to production and sales, according to the Index, published by the New York Trust company. Advertising should, when properly employed, "play an important part in assisting recovery by accelerating the sale of products for which postponed buying during the depression has built up a latent need."

"Many large advertisers are reported to be prepared to increase their advertising appropriations immediately upon signs of any sustained improvement in business," declares the Index. "Since advertising closely reflects the state of trade, it may be expected to be among the first groups to benefit from recovery.

"The prospects for advertising appear to be particularly bright, if those controlling its policies consider it in relation to sales and take full advantage of their opportunities to rehabilitate and stabilize distribution."

GEN. AMERICAN TANK CAR FINDS BEER BIG HELP

New York, April 11.—(AP)—Return of beer has aided the business of General American Tank Car company, President Lester N. Selig told the stockholders at their annual meeting today. He estimated the first quarter net profit between $250,000 to $300,000.

"Beer has helped a lot," Selig said, "and many of the company's standard refrigeration cars are in use. According to reports from the beer centers, loadings are going to continue heavy. The company's business has also been helped by a large demand for tank cars to transport crude oil from the east Texas oil fields."

Stockholders approved the proposal to change the corporate name to General American Transportation corporation. They also sanctioned a change in the stock to $5 par value from no par.

'Pennsy' Head Finds Hope in New Rail Plan

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Philadelphia, April 11.—At a meeting marked by caustic criticism of the present management, Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, told stockholders today that better service and cheaper fares for the public, with larger profits for the railroads, might result from a modification of the Sherman and Clayton acts through legislative plans placed before President Roosevelt.

GEN. W. W. ATTERBURY.

He declared it was "quite possible that there would be a combination of the Frederick H. Prince plan and the coördinator plan, 'which if put through will give the coördinator the right perhaps to modify the Clayton act and the Sherman act as far as a competition is concerned.

"It will enable us to do legally," said Gen. Atterbury, "what heretofore has been impossible for us to do; that is to say, work our various services so that the public will not suffer, but that the railroads themselves will prosper."

Charge Stock Unloaded.

The critical remarks from the floor, the first heard at a stockholders' annual meeting for some years, began when L. P. Hancock of Buffalo, N. Y., asked whether the railroad's officials were receiving any outside compensation and added:

"Rumors are rife that the officers have unloaded a lot of corporate cats and dogs on the stockholders of the Pennroad corporation."

John J. Welsh, a stockholder from Colwyn, Pa., then asserted:

"Salaries are entirely too high. They are out of keeping with everything. Mr. Chairman, you can get men who will do the same work, equally well or better, for considerably less. The officers are getting it all and the stockholders are getting nothing. We can't even go out and get a job for $1 a day."

Gen. Atterbury Replies.

After several more stockholders had spoken, some in criticism of the management and others in its praise, Gen. Atterbury replied:

"I may say that an analysis of the operations of the principal railroads in the country will show that the Pennsylvania railroad is operated more economically than any of its competitors."

In reply to a proposal that officers should consider a voluntary cut in salary, Effingham B. Morris, the chairman, said that a voluntary reduction of more than 30 per cent already had been accepted by the officers. Gen. Atterbury's salary has been reduced from $141,000 to $109,000 yearly.

N. P. TO POOL TRAINS

New York, April 11.—[Special.]—Further pooling of passenger trains in the northwest is contemplated, Charles Donnelly, president of the Northern Pacific, said at the annual meeting today.

In the northwest, he said, a pooling agreement between the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, and Union Pacific had reduced the number of trains on one route successfully from eighteen to nine to six. It is now planned to petition the interstate commerce commission to reduce this number to three or one for each railroad, he said.

"Short haul passenger business is lost," asserted Mr. Donnelly, "not to the bus, but to the private automobile.

Less than a score of stockholders attended the meeting. The only action taken was approval of the annual report, and reëlection of five directors whose terms had expired.

Sears Community Bank Joins Reserve System

The Sears-Community State bank, 3401 Arthington street, was notified yesterday that it has been admitted to membership in the federal reserve system. J. Louis Kohn is president of the bank. The Bank of Memphis, Mo., also was admitted to membership yesterday. The additions yesterday made 28 banks which have been admitted to membership since the close of the national bank holiday.

NO SCALING OF NORTH WESTERN BONDS: SARGENT

Rail Leader Denies Excessive Debt.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the Chicago & North Western railway, told stockholders of the road at the annual meeting yesterday that the bonded indebtedness of the line was not at all excessive in view of the total assets.

"The total bonded indebtedness in the hands of the public, exclusive of equipment trust certificates, is $315,499,000," Mr. Sargent said. "Of this amount, $73,335,000 is represented by unsecured debentures, so that the actual mortgage indebtedness is $243,164,000."

Mr. Sargent said that there are a little over 10,000 miles in the North Western system, so that the actual mortgage indebtedness is about $24,200 a mile. This is represented by the general mortgage, the first and refunding mortgage and certain underlying mortgages.

No Reason to Scale Bonds.

"It would therefore seem," he said, "even in case business does not improve in time to avoid a reorganization, that there would be no possible reason or excuse for scaling down the bonds issued under the general mortgage, the first and refunding mortgage, or the underlying mortgages.

"The total valuation of the property, as already found by the interstate commerce commission, as of 1917, plus additions and betterments, is $788,042,571."

"Your management frankly admits that for the present volume of business it has entirely too much plant and too much plant investment," Mr. Sargent continued. "Your company is equipped to handle a business 100 per cent greater than the volume handled in 1932 with no increase in overhead and very little increase in plant maintenance expense.

"In my opinion we can not expect to increase our business 100 per cent in the very near future, although to do so would still leave us with $10,000,000 less revenue than we had in 1929."

He said, however, that an increase of 20 per cent would enable the road to earn more than fixed charges.

Relates Decreases in Pay.

Reviewing the savings by wage and salary savings, Mr. Sargent said that all base rates of $375 per month or over have received a 28 per cent reduction; all base rates from $200 to $333.33 per month have received a 19 per cent reduction, and all base rates of $166 per month or less have received a 10 per cent reduction.

Discussing the future, Mr. Sargent said that the earnings of the company are largely dependent upon the products of agriculture. He added that while in his opinion inflationary and other artificial means might give some improvement to business, such would only be temporary except and unless world conditions improve.

Mr. Sargent reiterated his opinion that the Railway Express Agency should take over the trucking business of the railroads.

Samuel H. Cady, vice president and general counsel, and Barret Conway were elected directors of the road to succeed R. N. Van Doren and John D. Caldwell, both deceased. Other directors were reëlected.

OHIO BANK HEAD ORDERS INQUIRY ON WITHDRAWAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., April 11.—Investigation into withdrawals by officers, directors and employés of the Union Trust company and The Guardian Trust company immediately prior to restriction of their banking activities on Feb. 27, was ordered tonight by State Banking Superintendent Ira J. Fulton. He ordered the immediate return of any funds so withdrawn.

In a long bulletin of instruction to conservators, including Oscar L. Cox and Sidney B. Congdon of the Union and Guardian, respectively, Fulton also directed search for evidence of criminal acts and the immediate submission of any such evidence to the county prosecutor.

Fulton's order authorizes conservators to renew notes for periods not to exceed 60 days, but instructs them to protest all promissory notes or other negotiable instruments where there is any doubt about the wisdom of presenting them for payment. The order also provides for the conduct of trust department business as usual, but prohibits acceptance of appointments in new fiduciary relationships.

A report by Sidney B. Congdon, conservator for the Guardian Trust, showed that loans secured by collateral were $35,136,617, compared with loans of $12,630,974 secured by real estate.

Steel Business Gains, Report of Bethlehem

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11.—Operations of the Bethlehem Steel company have picked up in the last week to a point where the company is operating at a higher ratio to capacity in two or three plants than it has in a long time, Eugene G. Grace, president, told the stockholders at their annual meeting in Newark, N. J., today.

"The Bethlehem's first quarter reflected about the same rate of business as existed the middle of last year. Operations since last October were in the neighborhood of 15 per cent of capacity, with only slight fluctuations either up or down," said Mr. Grace.

"You will notice that our quarterly losses ran about $5,000,000 since the third quarter of last year. It looks as if the first quarter's loss will be about the same."

"Will Continue Solvent."

Mr. Grace said that while the management estimated that there would be a gradual reduction in the cash position of the company so long as business continued poor, he could assure the stockholders that at this time next year Bethlehem would still be a solvent company, even if there were no improvement in business.

"We are carrying on our pay rolls probably 25,000 to 35,000 men more than would be required to do the present volume of business at full time for workers," Mr. Grace said.

"At the moment the company is in excellent liquid cash position, notwithstanding the low volume of business, which is being done at a loss.

"It would look to us as if we have found the bottom of business. With our operations at a point below which they have not declined for nine months, we think we have a right to feel that we have seen the worst or are now at the worst. We are in no sense pessimistic about our situation."

Vote of Thanks Is Bonus.

One stockholder suggested that since the company was not in a position to pay bonuses to officers, the stockholders should give them a vote of thanks. That was done by acclamation.

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board, reminded the stockholders that today's meeting was the twenty-eighth annual one.

"I have never missed one," he said. "The steel industry made more steel in 1932 than it did in 1900, which was considered a boom year at that time. We must resume going onward and upward. How long it will take to come around I do not know, but we must come around. Things must get better."

Gross sales and engineering income, according to the report, totaled $98,467,226 for 1932, while the cost of sales and operating expenses were $99,708,935, a net operating loss of $1,241,769. Other income, however, left a balance of $594,133 in the operating account, as compared with a balance of $21,386,695 in 1931.

Five directors whose terms expired today were reëlected. They are: Quincy Bent, Robert E. McGrath, secretary, Alvin Untermyer, Archibald Johnson, and Paul MacKall.

CALL ARMISTICE IN MIDDLE WEST BANKRUPT FIGHT

Decision of the Federal Appellate court with respect to a motion for a reversal of the ruling made March 14 by Judge Wilkerson under which a bankruptcy examination of the Middle West Utilities company was to have been started was put over yesterday for 30 days for consideration.

Attorney Robert N. Golding, who represents holders of $40,000,000 debentures, told the court that an armistice had been declared among the various interests in the case and that there was a possibility of averting bankruptcy action against Middle West through reorganization.

Mr. Golding made a motion to vacate the appeal which was entered by Orville J. Taylor and Donald McPherson, attorneys for stockholders of Middle West.

CHICAGO BANKS CUT COMMERCIAL DEPOSIT RATES

Following the action taken in New York on Monday, the Chicago Clearing House committee at a meeting yesterday reduced interest rates on commercial demand deposits to ½ of 1 per cent from 1 per cent and on commercial time deposits to 1 per cent from 1½ per cent. The reductions are effective tomorrow. There will be no change in interest paid on savings deposits, which now receive 2½ per cent.

Rates on bankers' acceptances were slashed ⅝ of 1 per cent yesterday, bringing them to the lowest level since Feb. 24.

MEYER RESIGNS AS GOVERNOR OF RESERVE BOARD

Roosevelt Free to Pick New Head.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 11.—That Eugene Meyer Jr. offered his resignation as a member and governor of the federal reserve board to President Roosevelt about ten days ago, and that it had been accepted with the understanding that he would remain in office until his successor was chosen, became known here tonight.

EUGENE MEYER JR.
[Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Mr. Meyer, who has served the government almost continuously since 1917, was appointed governor of the federal reserve board on Sept. 16, 1930, by President Hoover. He is said to feel that, as a member of the former administration, he should withdraw so that, in the light of changed fiscal policies, the President would be free to appoint his own choice to the post.

Policies Caused Criticism.

While criticism has been directed at Mr. Meyer by members of both parties, high administration officials have made it known informally that they do not support them and feel that the government will suffer a severe loss when he finally gives up active service.

For some time there have been reports that Mr. Meyer wished to resign and there was speculation as to his successor, should he give up his post. Among those who have been prominently mentioned is Adolph C. Miller of San Francisco, now vice governor of the board and one of its original members. President Roosevelt and Mr. Miller and their families long have been close friends, the intimacy dating back to the war time days, when Mr. Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy.

Student of Banking.

Mr. Meyer was born in Los Angeles in 1875 and since his college days has been a student of banking. In late years, when not in Washington, he has lived at Mount Kisco, N. Y.

In the recent banking emergency, as governor of the federal reserve board, he coöperated with the administration in working out the program for putting the banking structure back on a sound basis. He has long advocated a unified banking system which would bring all commercial banks under supervision of the federal government.

While governor of the federal reserve board, he was made chairman of the board of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and was called on to shoulder a tremendous amount of work in the double capacity. Later the Reconstruction Finance corporation act was amended to relieve the federal reserve board governor of the corporation chairmanship.

New York Has Candidate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 11.—Walter W. Stewart, chairman of the board of Case, Pomeroy & Co., investment firm, is being considered by the Roosevelt administration for an important post in Washington, with the chances favoring him as under-secretary of the treasury or governor of the federal reserve board, it was reported in Wall street today.

Mr. Stewart is best known publicly for his appointment in November, 1931, as the American member of the special advisory committee of the Bank for International Settlements to investigate the ability of Germany to resume reparations payments under the Young plan. Prior to his service on the Bank for International Settlements committee at Basel Mr. Stewart had been, from 1928 to 1930, economic adviser of the Bank of England.

WHEAT REACHES HIGHEST LEVEL SINCE OCTOBER

WHEAT IN U. S. FUNDS

Wheat prices in leading markets reduced to United States funds at rates of exchange when they closed:

Chicago, May	59⅞	58⅛
Winnipeg, May	43⅞	42⅝
Do No. 2 Manitoba	41¾	40½
Liverpool, May	48⅛	47⅛
Do No. 2 Manitoba	57⅛	56⅞
Do Argentine	49⅝	48¾
Buenos Aires, May	35½	34⅞
Rotterdam, May	42⅜	41½

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

New high levels since last October were witnessed for the nearby deliveries of wheat yesterday on American grain exchanges, while the September option jumped as much as 2½ cents per bushel at the opening to a new high for the season. A wave of buying swept over the market in response to the sensationally bullish government estimate on the winter wheat crop.

So heavy was the buying that all opposition from profit taking longs and holders of offers was swept aside, and after a reaction of around 1 cent from the early top, the market forged ahead again and closed at the best figures of the day. Net gains of 1⅜ to 2¼ cents were established at the last, with May finishing at 59⅞ to 60 cents, while July was 61 to 61¼ cents and September 62¾ to 62⅜ cents.

No. 2 red winter wheat sold at 65 cents, or 5½ cents over the May. The sale was the highest quoted for any grade since February, 1932. No. 2 hard wheat sold 1½ to 2 cents over the May. At Fort Worth, Tex., cash wheat sold at 67 to 70c to mills on Monday.

Crop Reports Sensational.

Traders who analyzed the government report claimed that the detailed showing was even more sensational than the 334,000,000 bushels winter wheat yield suggested late Monday, the smallest since 1904. Taking Kansas, Nebraska, Texas, Oklahoma, and Colorado, which seeded 23,352,000 acres last fall, the weighted average condition is only 44, although the five states have nearly 60 per cent of the total acreage for the country.

The 27 counties in southwestern and south central Kansas, which seeded nearly 5,000,000 acres last fall, have a condition of somewhat under 25, with some reporting practically no wheat alive.

Since the government report was compiled there has been practically no moisture received over a wide area. This tended to increase bullish enthusiasm, as also did persistent talk of inflation in the currency. The un-

European importers of wheat showed evidence of becoming a little panicky as the result of the government report. They rushed into the market as the largest buyers of Canadian wheat in a number of weeks, taking 2,000,000 bushels of Manitobas, according to Winnipeg estimates.

Corn Under Pressure.

Liquidation of a line of long May corn, which was credited to a large eastern operator, put sufficient weight on that market to prevent any response to the strength in wheat. The close was unchanged to ⅛ cent lower, with May finishing at 32⅝ to 32¾ cents, while July was 34⅞ to 35 cents, and September, 36¾ cents.

Oats gained ⅛ to ¼ cent, with reports of delayed seeding of the new crop a factor. May was 20⅞ cents and July 21 cents at the last. Rye closed ¼ to ⅜ cent higher, with May at 46 cents, and July and September, 45⅝ cents. Barley was up ⅝ to ¾ cent, with May 32¾ cents and July 34⅛ cents at the close.

Swift International.

I am thinking of getting some stock in Swift International. I would like to get what information you have regarding said company.—B. A.

Swift International [Compania Swift Internacional, S. A. C.] was incorporated in 1918 to handle the South American and Australian business of Swift & Co. Plants are in Australia, Uruguay, Brazil, and Argentina. In 1932 the company sold its Brisbane, Australia, plant.

Most of the hides, skins, wool and fertilizers produced are exported to the United States. England and continental Europe are the principal markets for food products. In 1932 import duties in some continental countries were increased and meat imported into Great Britain from nonempire countries was subject to some restrictions.

In addition, the company has had to contend with fluctuations of unstable currencies.

Net profit for 1932, in Argentine gold, was $5,819,000, or $3.88 per share. In 1931 net profit was $6,611,000, or $4.41 per share. Net for 1930 was $6,549,000, against $5,560,000 for 1929 and $4,605,000 for 1928.

On Dec. 31, 1932, current assets were $45,981,000 and current liabilities were $7,467,000. Cash, including $1,652,000 with United States correspondents, was $2,230,000, and marketable securities, at market, were $18,366,000. The latter consisted largely of United States treasury short term notes. Current liabilities included $3,803,000 due to correspondents.

Working capital was $38,514,000, against $37,853,000 the year before.

There is no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 1,500,000 shares of $15 par stock.

Semi-annual dividends of $1.50 a share were paid in 1932. In February, 1933, a dividend of $1 a share was paid.

JACOBS DEFIES STATE BOARD; FIGHTS TAX CUT

Commission Hints at New Reduction Orders.

immediately with the tax commission and the county assessor for the purpose of determining the propriety of refusing or granting any application for horizontal reduction submitted to the board of appeals by any applicant."

The statement contains no pledge from Assessor Jacobs, it was pointed out, that he would take part in any such conference, or abide by any decisions coming out of them. Since he is the custodian of the assessment roll, the orders of the tax commission are apparently so much paper until they are enforced by court order, or until Mr. Jacobs receives advice by Attorney General Kerner as to their legality.

Would Take More Power.

The tax commission statement suggests, however, that its members take still broader powers over the tax machinery of Cook county. It proposes that the assessor submit to it all the tentative base prices which he intends to use in the 1932 assessment.

These base prices, upon which the uniformity of the assessment roll depends more, perhaps, than upon any other factor, are set up by the assessor and his staff in conference with an advisory committee of architects, appraisers, engineers and real estate experts. None of the members of the tax commission has any technical experience in such matters, although Dr. Simeon E. Leland, one of the commissioners, is an authority upon taxation and a professor in that subject at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Leland Is Outvoted.

Dr. Leland dissented in the ruling of the commission yesterday, but was outvoted by Commissioner Hodes and Chairman Scott W. Lucas. He wrote a 39 page opinion explaining his reasons for holding that the board of appeals lacked power to order the assessment cut, and submitted it to his colleagues.

The opinion was not made public by Dr. Leland's fellow commissioners, however. It is held secret with the rest of the evidence in the hearings at which Assessor Jacobs, the two members of the appeal board, Fred W. Brummel and George F. Nixon, and others presented their views on the controversy.

The hearings were star chamber sessions, from which the public and newspapermen were barred. The commission announced that it had "substantially a score of legal opinions from outstanding tax authorities of Illinois," but did not make known the names of any of the authorities who advised it that the appeals board was right.

Experts Hold Cut Illegal.

State's Attorney Courtney, Hayden N. Bell, head of the civil department of the state's attorney's office, Corporation Counsel Sexton, Attorney Henry E. Cutler, authority on municipal securities, and several other tax experts said that the appeals board had no power to order the reduction.

"After the poison of usurpation injected into the assessment roll by the tax commission today, the commissioners are probably right in suggesting that steps are necessary to reëstablish confidence in the tax machinery," commented Attorney Bell. "But if the tax commission is allowed to carry out the program of usurpation which it suggests for 'reëstablishing confidence' the tax collection machinery of this county is doomed.

"Our local governments, because of the delay in tax collections, are now compelled to finance their operations through the sale of tax warrants—that is, through the credit based on their future tax collections.

"Any power, anywhere in the government, to reduce taxes after the rates are fixed destroys taxes as a source of credit and dries up, absolutely, this source of income."

BILL CALLED DANGEROUS

The Keehn tax strike bill, which would throw approximately 154 million dollars of protested 1923, 1929, and 1930 taxes back into Judge Jarecki's court, was termed dangerous legislation yesterday. Joseph K. Brittain, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board and more recently chairman of the governor's tax conference, said it was designed to open the door for revalution. Such action would keep the court busy for the next hundred years, according to a state senator's charges.

"It's wrong to reopen now the assessments of 1928, 1929 and 1930, on which most of our people have paid their taxes in full," said Mr. Brittain. "Delinquency is not the right basis on which to grant reductions. Ability to pay must be considered, but the logical place to begin is on current expenses of government and the present inequitable revenue system. No amount of revising of assessments can make the system fair to real estate. We must have a constitutional amendment."

Big Property Owners Back It.

The bill is sponsored by a group of big property owners, some of whom were interested in the unsuccessful court fight waged by the now badly split Association of Real Estate Taxpayers. It is understood that they seek heavy reductions in their 1928, 1929 and 1930 taxes.

An analysis of the tax situation during the years 1928, 1929 and 1930 shows that more than 72 per cent of the $592,400,000 tax extensions have been paid. Twenty-eight per cent, or $162,600,000 remain uncollected and about $154,660,000 of this total has been protested.

As the new bill would give Judge Jarecki new jurisdiction over every parcel of real estate for which objections to either 1928, 1929 or 1930 taxes had at some time been filed, and the right to make new assessed valuations, it was pointed out that the 72 per cent of prompt taxpayers would be penalized for the benefit of the recalcitrant 28 per cent.

The increase in both items and amount of taxes protested during the three years is startling. In 1928 there were 60,266 items protested, totaling $19,657,902. The following year this jumped to 182,670 items, with a total of $54,059,860. In 1930 actual number of items is not available but the estimate is 400,000. The total amount was $80,997,899.

The uncollected taxes for 1928 in Cook county were $20,424,008. The next year they had increased to $54,179,818 and in 1930 the total was $88,033,729.

PLAN FULL HEARINGS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., April 11.—[Special.]—Opponents of the Keehn tax bill took it from the senate calendar tonight. They sent it to the judiciary committee. There full hearings may be had before any vote is taken on this much criticized measure.

Party lines did not waver much on the vote of 25 to 15, by which the Democratic majority succeeded in recalling the bill from second reading, where it was to have been considered as a special order of business next Tuesday.

Arthur A. Huebsch [Rep., Brookfield] had succeeded in having the special order passed this morning, but Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], the bill's most intense opponent, had different ideas when the afternoon session began.

Ward Fights Hasty Action.

"No bill of this importance," Mr. Ward said, "should be considered on second reading until it has been given the benefit of dissection in committee. It fixes a premium on nonpayment of taxes. Those persons who have not engaged in any of the tax strike movements would be out in the cold, while the strikers would have an opportunity to have their bills cut."

Mr. Ward is chairman of the judiciary committee, where the bill will be heard.

CENTRAL POWER.

Company, a unit in the Middle West Utilities system, reports net income of $131,891 for 1932, subject, however, to adequacy of provision for depreciation and without provision for federal income tax.

What Marinello
Training Means

We regard our graduates as personal representatives of the Marinello System. Therefore every girl is trained to the highest degree of efficiency before receiving her certificate. Each girl is graduated with the equivalent of at least a year's practical experience and ready to earn big money at once.

The most money is made in shops where particular women gladly pay good prices for the kind of service that Marinello Beauticians render. Why not train for positions that pay the most? That's good economy, good sense.

Day or evening classes now forming. Easy tuition payments. Free international Employment Service—or we will help you establish your own business.
